DOAK NAMED BY HOOVER

Labor Portfolio for Trainman

Leader of Rail Brotherhood Selected as Successor to James J. Davis

Envoy Serves Notice He Will Not Bow to Green on Union Federation

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) — President Hoover today named William M. Doak, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and one of the outstanding union labor leaders of the country, as Secretary of Labor to succeed James J. Davis, who resigned to enter the Senate. The nomination will go to the Senate early next week and confirmation is believed assured despite the objections of President Green of the American Federation of Labor, who has insisted that a leader of his organization be given a post. The trainmen are not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

In announcing the selection of Doak, the President served notice that neither the American Federation of Labor nor any other organization may expect to dictate appointments under his administration. He said that he has appointed a thoroughgoing union labor man, as with a lifetime of experience as a union man in his field, who may be trusted to administer his office as a representative of all labor and on who has the indorsement of many unions in Mr. Green's own organization.

STAND MADE PLAIN

In his move to the point Mr. Hoover showed flatly that he will not allow himself to be forced into a position of accepting dictation that would destroy the principle of equal opportunity and freedom in the filling of public offices. "I do not feel," he said, "that I can consent to the principle of dismissal of the railway employees or other labor unions and associations, or any labor man in the United States, from the opportunity and the aspiration to attain any office in this land. I have the highest respect for Mr. Green and the American Federation of Labor, but Mr. Green's enunciation that appointment must come from one organization to fast imposes upon me the duty to maintain the principle of open and equal opportunity and freedom in appointments to public office."

CAREER OF SERVICE

The President pointed out that Mr. Doak has been identified with organized labor all his adult life and that for sixteen years he has been a general officer of the trainmen, taking part in a great number of union labor negotiations.

"I have," said Mr. Hoover, "received endorsements of Mr. Doak from several score of labor unions, some of whom are members of the American Federation of Labor. I

NATION COLD TIP TO TOE

Only Far West Not Shivering

Two Score Deaths Result as All Sections Endure Freezing Weather

Motor Accidents Numerous; More Snow Expected for Great Lakes

By the Associated Press

From her snow-laden head in the chilly Northwest to the tips of her usually warm toes in Florida the nation shivered yesterday. Temperatures, save in the far West, were generally subfreezing. In parts of the Northwest they went below zero.

Two score deaths were attributed to the cold and half of them were in the Middle West. New England reported eleven deaths, Ohio had seven and there was one each in New York State and Maryland.

The New England cold with a low reading of 8 deg. above zero at Northfield, Vt., swung down out of Canada, laying a slick coat of ice and snow on highways. This resulted in many collisions and motor-car accidents, which were in turn responsible for most of New England's deaths. Even colder weather was predicted for today.

The promise of warmer weather tomorrow was held out for Middle America. The moderation, however, is expected to be accompanied in parts of the Great Lakes territory by more snow to add to the transportation hazards which already have made themselves felt.

ANOTHER BLIZZARD APPROACHING MIDWEST

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—The entire Middle West region is still in the clutch of severely cold and in some localities record-breaking early winter weather. With some slight relief late today the forecast gave hopes of abatement of zero temperatures which have prevailed for three days, but tonight another wild blizzard is reported raging in North Dakota and Western Minnesota. The outlook is for heavy snow and continuing zero or near zero weather throughout the central western area.

Today's below-zero area included parts of Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, while it was 20 deg. or below in nearly all of the remaining Central States.

Duluth, Minn., with a minimum of 12 deg. below, was the coldest spot in the country reporting to the government Weather Bureau. Other stations where the mercury dropped below zero were La Crosse, Wis., 8 below; Charles City, Iowa, Moorhead, Minn., and St. Paul, Minn., 6 below; Devil's Lake, N. D.; Madison, Wis.; Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Wausau, Wis., 4 below.

A record of seventy-five years was tied in Peoria, Ill., when the temperature reached 1 below. The official low in Chicago was 1 above,

FEARS HELD FOR MISSING LAKE CRAFT

Grain Carrier Maple Bay Believed Lost by Coast Guard After Search

MARQUETTE (Mich.) Nov. 28. (AP)—Capt. T. E. Deegan, commander of the United States Coast Guard station here, said tonight he believed the grain carrier Maple Bay of Montreal had sunk in Lake Superior.

Capt. Deegan said the Maple Bay has been unreported since it left Bete Gris Bay Tuesday and it should have been located before tonight if it remained afloat. The steamer was to have put in at Marquette to refuel before continuing its journey down the lakes.

The Maple Bay had a crew of twenty-one men and was commanded by Capt. Richard Graham.

LAKE ERIE STEAMER REPORTS DISTRESS

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Nov. 28. (AP)—The steamer Lake Simcoe of the Canadian Steamship Line, light and bound for Cleveland, was reported in distress in Lake Erie, twenty-five miles northwest of Fairport, O., today. The Lake Simcoe carries a crew of twenty-two.

The steamer Venus is reported standing by.

COAST GUARDS ORDERED TO SHIP'S ASSISTANCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Sebago today was ordered from Norfolk to assist the British steamer Wearbridge which was reported unmanageable and drifting in a gale 150 miles off Cape May, New Jersey.

GUARD BOATS LEAVE FOR TROUBLE SCENE

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—Coast Guard boats tonight were going to the aid of the steamer Upshur, on the Jacksonville, West Palm Beach and Miami route, in trouble off the Atlantic Coast for the third time since the 6th inst.

Quake Victims' Taxes Remitted

TOKIO, Nov. 28. (AP)—The Cabinet today approved a tax remission to sufferers in the earthquake this week on Izu peninsula. Various measures for facilitating reconstruction also were adopted.

Recovery is well under way in the earthquake zone. The rebuilding of homes was begun while the funeral incense still was burning for the more than 250 dead. Minor aftershocks continued.

Lake Searched for Lost Pilot

BUFFALO, Nov. 28. (AP)—From Buffalo to Cleveland United States Coast Guards this afternoon walked the shore of Lake Erie, searching for some clew to the whereabouts of William S. Griffin, Cleveland airplane pilot, reported missing today.

Griffin flew here from Hamilton, Ont., on Monday, refueled and left for Cleveland at 2:30 p.m., flying alone in a small cabin monoplane.

Own Epitaph Read at Rites for Publisher

BRIDGEPORT (Ct.) Nov. 28. (AP) An epitaph written by himself shortly before his death was read today at the funeral of Richard Howell, editor of the Bridgeport Herald for forty years.

Howell's epitaph, read by Rev. E. J. Craft of Christ Episcopal Church, follows:

I want no crape to hang upon the door when I die;
I want no bell to toll the way to where I lie;
I want no sorrowful prayers upraised to Him on High;
I want no heart to sob nor any heart to cry.
I want the flowers, the bees, the birds, to be around the day I go;
I want a bird to sing his song of evening soft and low;
I want a bee to buzz around the place I rest;
I want a flower to bloom upon the mound atop my breast.

Newspaper and State officials attended the services.

STORK FOR SAN QUENTIN ONCE MORE

Santa Ana Woman Due to Receive Traditional Bird Early in Year

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—For the third time within a year the stork is scheduled for a flight to San Quentin prison. Mrs. Frances Carothers, convicted recently of embezzling funds of a Santa Ana building and loan association and sentenced for grand theft, is to become a mother in March, according to prison officials.

At the time of her trial Mrs. Carothers is said to have asked for probation because of her condition but the plea was refused.

That the baby will be born outside prison walls, probably in a San Rafael hospital, was the declaration of Warden Holohan, who, in two previous cases where women prisoners became mothers, refused to let them come into the world with the stigma of "born in prison" upon them.

STRIBLING DOUSED IN AIR 'SPILL'

Boxer Flies Glider Over Lake Alright but Fails to Make Three-Point Landing

ORLANDO (Fla.) Nov. 28. (AP)—W. L. Stribling, the boxer, was doused with cold water here today, but not by his seconds.

Stribling in his airplane from Miami with his father and his wife saw a glider on the surface of a lake near the airport. He asked permission to fly it, admitting he had never flown one.

Airport officials agreed and the glider was pulled into the air by a highpowered motorboat.

Stribling made a beautiful landing, airport officials said, but at the moment the pontoons struck the water a wave upset the glider and W.L. went into the middle of the lake, clothes, parachute and all. Weighed down by the 'chute, he disappeared under the water.

A motor boat's pilot rescued him.

FOG CAUSES TWO FERRY SMASH-UPS

Vessels in San Francisco Bay Collide Resulting in Damage to One Craft

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Dense fog hung over the San Francisco Bay today, practically paralyzing traffic and causing two collisions between ferryboats and steamers. Little damage resulted and there were no injuries. Reports said several women fainted from excitement.

The more serious of the two crashes was that in which the American-Hawaiian liner Pennsylvania hit the Southern Pacific ferry Oakland off Goat Island. Quick maneuvering of the ferry was hampered by the slow speed at which it was moving, with foghorn bellowing, but the captain managed to decrease the shock by turning his boat.

The Pennsylvanian hit the ferry's stern and stove in a part of the superstructure, splintered some windows and demolished about fifteen feet of guard rail. Most of the passengers were on the forward part of the ship.

All damage was above the waterline, and the ferry proceeded to its slip, and the liner to its dock.

In an earlier collision, the British freighter Irisbank appeared suddenly in the fog, headed for the ferry Santa Clara, and the two craft bumped in spite of efforts of the crews. No serious damage resulted as momentum of both ships was negligible. Both continued to their destinations, and the Santa Clara remained on its run.

MEMBER OF BANK BOARD DROPS DEAD

E. H. Cunningham, Iowan of Federal Reserve Body, Expires at His Desk

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Edward H. Cunningham of Iowa, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, died at his desk this afternoon in the Treasury Department, a victim of a heart attack.

Mr. Cunningham was the farmer member of the board. He received an interim appointment from President Harding January 25, 1923, and was confirmed January 22, 1924. His term would have expired January 24, 1933.

His home was in Cresco, Iowa. He was 61 years of age.

Dead Man's Car Causes Wreck

DRYS TREAT WITH FOES

Discuss Joining Referendum

Leaders Debate Compliance in Proposal to Submit Repeal Amendment

Condition Made That Losers Cease Agitation if Poll Upholds Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—A carefully worded proposal that the drys lend their support in the coming Congress to a resolution for a national referendum on prohibition was under consideration today by a group of nationally prominent drys and will be further thrashed out at temperance meetings here and in New York.

Nothing definite has been done and the leaders were obviously divided today over the proposal, involving, as it would, an alliance with the wets to get the measure through Congress.

BACK SUBMISSION

The plan was first unfolded before a selected handful of drys, gathered privately in a hotel room here. As one of the conferees described it today, prohibition forces would stand behind submission to the States of a constitutional amendment, formulated by the wets, calling for repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The temperance forces would seek assurance first, however, that the resolution would be considered by separate constitutional conventions elected in each of the forty-eight States, and that the wets would consider the decision of these groups final.

One antiprohibitionist, Representative Andrew, Republican, Massachusetts, has advanced an almost identical proposal. He said on Wednesday he will introduce such a resolution in the approaching session.

It is disclosed that among those who met in private to listen to the plan were Patrick H. Callahan of Louisville, Ky., secretary of the Association of Catholics Favoring Prohibition; Representative Fort, Republican, New Jersey; Oliver Stewart of Indianapolis, head of the Flying Squadron of America, and Dr. Arthur J. Barton of Wilmington, N. C., head of the temperance committee of the southern Baptist convention.

DRY LEADERS ABSENT

F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, were not in the capital and sent associates to represent them.

McBride was outspoken today in opposition to any such plan, saying:

"It will be regarded as a betrayal of prohibition by the dry leaders.

"The drys will gain nothing by it. No one can speak for the wets, giving a promise that if the referendum showed the country overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition—as it surely would—they would stop their attacks upon the law and allow its better enforcement. Further, it would be a waste of money and would put us on the defensive rather than the offensive."

WILSON FOR IT

Dr. Wilson, however, said he was not opposed to a straight referendum on the prohibition law. He said he doubted the wets ever would allow such a vote if they could prevent it.

"We are ready to sit down with the wets at any time," he said, "and formulate a question to be placed before the American people, asking them to say yes or no as to whether the liquor traffic should be resumed.

"There can be no compromise between the wets and drys over a question of beer or wine, nor can there ever be a compromise on a definition of what is intoxicating liquor or over State control. But we could meet on a referendum to determine whether or not the country wants the Eighteenth Amendment."

Some wets, however, already have taken a stand in opposition to such a move. Among others, Representative Beck, Republican, Pennsylvania, holds a move at this time to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment would be disastrous to the antiprohibitionists.

Will Rogers Remarks:

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Best speech made on Thanksgiving Day was the Prince of Wales before the Americans in London. He said: "While the world is having trouble finding a reason for thanksgiving, we English have one. We are thankful that Bobby Jones quit competitive golf." I call that pretty good. The other outstanding event was in Chicago. Al Capone at his free restaurant was to give a turkey dinner to 5000. Some rival gangster held up the truck and stole 1000 of the dressed turkeys. That was the lowest trick they have pulled yet.

WILL ROGERS.

MISSING AVIATRIX HUNTED OVER WINDSWEPT GULF

Mrs. Keith-Miller, Hours Overdue, Feared Dead in Flight From Havana to Miami

HAVANA, Nov. 29. (Saturday) (AP)—After two planes had searched the wind-tossed sea for a radius of fifty miles on each side of the course announced by Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller and returned here tonight, William B. Pawley, president of the Cuban Curtiss Company, and officials of the Pan-American Airways said they believe definitely that Mrs. Keith-Miller is lost.

MIAMI (Fla.) Nov. 28. (AP)—Airplanes searched windswept coral keys and the waters of the Gulf of Mexico today for the airplane of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, hours overdue on a flight from Havana to Miami.

Six airplanes participated in the hunt for the Australian aviatrix when she did not land here within a few hours after 11 a.m. (E.S.T.) when she was supposed to arrive.

BAD WEATHER FACED

She took off from Havana, en route to Washington, despite adverse weather conditions. Several days ago she made a Pittsburgh-to-Havana flight. She left Havana, messages received here said, at 9:11 a.m. (E.S.T.) and expected to arrive in about two hours.

A Pan-American plane returned here this afternoon after scouring the land south of here to Key West without result.

Later officials of Pan-American Airways learned Mrs. Keith-Miller had set a course from Havana without allowing for strong east winds which they said would have blown her far to the west over the Gulf of Mexico.

PLANES SENT OUT

Curtiss-Wright marine base here sent a seaplane from Miami to Dry Tortugas with instructions to base at Key West tonight. A land plane was sent as far as Key West by the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service.

Pan-American officials tonight believe Mrs. Keith-Miller, with gasoline for nine hours' flight, may be in the vicinity of St. Petersburg, after being blown westward off her charted course.

The naval station at Key West reported no word of the flyer or her plane.

Mrs. Keith-Miller recently flew from Los Angeles to New York in less than twenty-two hours to lower the best time for the distance by a woman.

FEAR FOR SAFETY CAUSED BY ROUGH SEA

HAVANA, Nov. 28. (AP)—Reports of a high wind and a rough sea tonight caused Pan-American Airways and Curtiss Airport officials to fear for the safety of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian flyer who left this morning for Miami and was hours overdue late this afternoon.

Two planes, one a trimotored transport ship and the other a single engined amphibian, left this afternoon for a search of the waterways, equipped with liferafts and emergency kits, but the receipness of the seas caused doubts Mrs. Keith-Miller's plane could survive long had it landed in the gulf.

She carried a raft when she left this morning, but expressed doubt she would be able to use it in case of a landing on the water, since it was rubber affair and would have to be pumped up. Her little two-place cabin machine was not equipped either with radio or with instruments for flying blind.

Mrs. Keith-Miller took off this morning in the face of unfavorable weather despite warnings by veteran flyers, but she had already waited in Havana three days and was eager to return to Pittsburgh. She was advised to go yesterday and follow in the wake of a Pan-American passenger plane flying the regular course, but refused because she preferred to start early of a morning and thus avoid an overnight stop in Miami.

Another thing that caused concern was the fact that before the take-off Mrs. Keith-Miller admitted she was worried, and it was feared this might have constituted a "mental hazard" in case she were forced down at sea. Her worry was because she had no instruments for blind flying, radio or bank dials.

COURT ISSUE RENEWED

Hoover to Ask Ratification

Will Leave Determination of Consideration Date to Senate Leaders

Bitter Battle Indicated and Special Session May Be Consequence

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—President Hoover today announced that he will send the protocol for American adherence to the World Court to the approaching session of the Senate for ratification.

Mr. Hoover urged, however, that the Senate leaders reach some agreement for consideration of this controversial issue lest it add to the probabilities of an extra session of the new Congress in the spring.

But such an agreement is not in sight tonight. Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who is personally opposed to American entry into the court, announced he will put it before the committee promptly. This would bring the issue before the short session. The committee may sidetrack it, but a demand to discharge the committee would be in order.

QUARREL INDICATED

Senator Swanson of Virginia, ranking Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, an advocate of the court, indorsed the President's move and suggested an agreement to take it up in the session of the Senate which meets a year hence. But Senator Walsh of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, urged it be taken up now or in a special session of the Senate.

Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, who strongly advised against injecting the World Court issue into this session, at a conference earlier in the day with the President was fearful the controversy will lead to an extra session.

There are indications that Mr. Hoover and his party chieftain in the Senate had quarreled sharply over the President's determination.

In making his announcement President Hoover said:

HOOVER STATEMENT

"I am submitting the protocols of the World Court to the Senate at the forthcoming session. I, of course, have hoped it would be dealt with at this time. It is for the leaders of the Senate, however, to determine if it should be brought up in the press of other business during the short session. Certainly it should not be made an instrument of obstruction in attempts to force an extra session. Both its friends and foes should agree upon this."

As for the agreement, Senator Watson said the jurisdiction is now up to the Foreign Relations Committee, which will have charge of the protocol.

Chairman Borah said:

"I feel the World Court protocol

FLEET TO BE REORGANIZED

New Assignment Provides Four "Forces" and Will Become Effective April 1, 1931

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—A board reorganization of the United States Fleet was announced today by Secretary Adams to take effect April 1, 1931, following fleet concentration at Panama. The new organization divides the fleet into a battle force, scouting force, submarine force and base force, provides for a second and third in command of the fleet and makes various other administration changes.

The major unit of the fleet will remain in command of the present commander-in-chief, Admiral Jehu V. Chase, whose flagship will be the battleship Texas. The cruiser Chicago, on completion in the spring, will replace the Texas.

The newly created battle force on the Pacific will be composed of battleships, cruisers, destroyers, aircraft and mine craft, which includes the aircraft at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Admiral Frank H. Schofield, commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, will retain his rank, but will have his title changed to commander of the battle force, becoming second in command of the fleet. His flagship will be the battleship California.

The scouting force on the Atlantic will be composed of cruisers, destroyers, aircraft and the training squadron.

Vice-Admiral Arthur L. Willard, commander of the scouting fleet, also will retain his rank, but have his title changed to commander of the scouting force, becoming third in command of the fleet. His flagship will be the battleship Arkansas until the new cruiser Augusta is completed.

The submarine force will comprise all submarines of the fleet and of the submarine bases at New London, Coco Solo and Pearl Harbor. Rear-Admiral T. C. Hart, commander of the control force, will have his title changed to commander of the submarine force, retaining the submarine tender Bushnell as his flagship.

The base force will be composed of auxiliary vessels not assigned to other forces, together with combatant vessels, aircraft and land forces assigned for service with the fleet of base defense.

Rear-Admiral William D. MacDougall, senior commander of the fleet base force, will have his title changed to commander of the base force with the submarine tender Argonne as his flagship.

NOW DECLARED TIME TO BUILD

Statisticians Tell of Great Construction Period

Many Private Corporations Giving Contracts

"It's Buyers' Market," Says New York Leader

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—F. W. Dodge Corporation, building statisticians, reported today confidence in the advisability of building now is being exhibited daily in a substantial way.

"In a market characterized by considerable hesitancy and indecision," the corporation says, "numbers of private corporations are definitely anticipating future requirements, and convinced they have little to gain by waiting, are letting contracts and authorizing construction work to proceed."

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS

L. Seth Schnitman, chief statistician of the corporation, says further improvement in residential building evidenced in the October record tends to narrow the relative decline from 1929 to a small degree. While residential building during the first ten months of 1930 was 44 per cent less than 1929, the slump in the first nine months was 45½ per cent.

The nonresidential building situation is just the reverse, Mr. Schnitman said. The total of contracts for this type of construction for October was the smallest for any month since 1921 and the total for ten months was 21 per cent less than the comparable period of 1929.

IN BUYERS' MARKET

Since the 1st inst., however, contracts for several large projects have been let. Prominent among those listed by the corporation are: $7,000,000 department store, for the Cleveland Union Terminals Company at Cleveland; $6,000,000 Industrial Research Building for the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research at Pittsburgh, and $5,500,000 Fidelity National Bank and Trust Company Building at Kansas City.

"We are undoubtedly in a 'buyers' market' in the building business," says Col. John C. Hegeman, president of Hegeman Harris Company, Inc. Discussing the matter of construction costs in the current issue of the General Building Contractor, Col. Hegeman says that costs have shown a definite downward trend for more than a year and in the opinion of many builders have reached a point where stabilization at existing levels is at hand.

HOOVER TO ASK VOTE ON COURT

should be reported to the Senate as soon as the committee has had time to reasonably consider it. I assume it would not be sent up if it was not the desire to have it disposed of as soon as practicable. I shall proceed upon that theory."

FRIENDS CONFIDENT

Friends of the court are confident of the two-thirds majority necessary for ratification, but they concede there are about twenty members in prospect in opposition. Such an opposition group would not be expected to yield during the short session.

The controversy, however, will include not only the merits of the court, but the question of procedure. The President's determination threatens another and perhaps wider breach between Mr. Hoover and Senate Republicans.

While withholding final judgment on the modified proposal of American adherence, Senator Watson, who has guided the administration's program in the Senate for two years, indicated considerable disappointment over the decision to bring up the issue at this time.

"As the present," said Senator Watson, "I am withholding final opinion on the World Court. As a general proposition I have always been against it."

Senator Walsh, an advocate of American adherence, said he had heard of no attempt to force an extra session, but it is his view that such a session is unavoidable and he believes the World Court should be disposed of either in the short session or in a special session.

SWANSON RESERVATION

The Senate four years ago voted to enter the World Court, but with six reservations. One of these reservations, sponsored by Senator Swanson, was never accepted by the other nations and consequently the United States has never been a member of the court, although it is represented there.

The Swanson reservation provided the court should not render any advisory opinions on questions in which the United States has, or claims to have, an interest. Two years ago, Elihu Root with a committee of international jurists revised the World Court rules to meet the obstacles put up by this reservation. On the basis of this new Root formula, which has been approved by the League of Nations and by President Hoover, the protocol of adherence to the court is now again before the United States.

The revised protocol was signed a year ago by the President and has lain in the State Department since.

Fight Referee Charges Slander

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Twelve members of the San Francisco grand jury were named defendants in a suit for $50,000 damages for asserted slander filed here today by Toby Irwin, suspended fight referee.

The suits are the outgrowth of a report by the grand jury in which Irwin was censured for his part in the fatal Max Baer-Frankie Campbell fight in Recreation Park last August.

and was uncertain of her ability to use the rubber raft.

A possibility that Mrs. Keith-Miller may not have attempted to go to Miami was seen tonight in the statement of a reporter for Diario de la Marina of Havana.

Mrs. Keith-Miller told the reporter she would land at Miami if she found weather conditions favorable, but otherwise would continue north as far as possible. Others understood, however, she intended stopping at Miami.

Since she had fuel for about nine hours of flight, and the distance across the gulf is not far, it is felt by some she might have reached some point in the United States where communication is difficult.

MARIE TO SOJOURN IN PARIS

Dowager Queen Reported at Greater Odds Than Ever With King Carol

VIENNA, Nov. 28. (AP)—News from Bucharest that Dowager Queen Marie has suddenly made up her mind to leave Rumania and go to Paris for some time, revived reports that she and her son, King Carol, are at greater odds than ever.

Well-informed reports here indicate the general atmosphere in Bucharest since Carol's spectacular return to assume the throne has had a bad effect on the Queen's health.

Rumors are constantly being spread about Carol's intentions, and whether true or not they are not calculated to make Marie's life tranquil.

The latest rumor, for instance, was that Carol is planning an edict whereby his mother and Queen Mother Helen would be forbidden to attend or organize public functions and would be even compelled to take up abodes assigned to them by Carol.

There have been rumors that Mme. Lupescu, with whom Carol lived in France, has been installed in the palace at Bucharest.

Saloon Closing as Jobless Aid

MOOSEJAW (Sask.) Nov. 28. (AP)—The liquor board plans to close twenty-five beer stores in Saskatchewan before the end of the year.

Atty.-Gen. McPherson announced the decision last night to the Saskatchewan Prohibition League, which passed a resolution urging government control be suspended during the economic depression by closing all liquor and beer stores.

GILA RIVER PROJECT SITE RECOMMENDED

SANTA FE (N. M.) Nov. 28. (AP)—The Cliff reservoir site in Arizona is the most practicable for flood control, irrigation storage and power development, according to an investigation to ascertain the best means of utilizing the waters of the Gila River above the San Carlos Dam, State Engineer Yeo said today. Mr. Yeo has just received the final report on the investigation which was made by the Reclamation Bureau with the co-operation of the State Engineer's office.

SNOW HALTS AIRPLANES IN ARIZONA

Most of State Reports Heavy Precipitation With Storm Continuing

PHOENIX, Nov. 28. (AP)—Rain and snow fell throughout most of Arizona today.

The heaviest precipitation was reported in the Globe-Miami district, where 1.23 inches of rain had fallen in the twelve-hour period ended at 7 o'clock last night.

Flagstaff reported approximately half an inch of snow.

Air travel was at a standstill in Northern Arizona. The eastbound mail plane which left Los Angeles Thanksgiving Day remained grounded at Winslow, where it landed Thursday night. Other planes, both mail and passenger, of the line are grounded at Albuquerque and Los Angeles. Rain continues in Winslow tonight.

Rain fell intermittently during most of the day and night in Phoenix, Prescott and Tucson.

Ruth Nichols Lands in Texas

AMARILLO (Tex.) Nov. 28. (AP)—Ruth Nichols, seeking a women's transcontinental record, landed her plane, New Cincinnati, here at 12:08 p.m. today, flying from Wichita, Kan., in two hours and eight minutes.

Her elapsed time from New York to Amarillo was eleven hours and one minute, she reported, four hours ahead of the record set by Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller. Miss Nichols said she will resume her flight to Los Angeles tomorrow.

Flyers Confirm Peru Disorders

GUAYAQUIL, Nov. 28. (AP)—Air travelers arriving here today aboard a Pan-American plane confirmed recent reports of disorders in Lima.

The passengers, who left the Peruvian capital at 7:10 o'clock this morning, said the authorities had suppressed all disturbances, however, and the Sanchez Cerro government is in no danger.

FILM WORLD PIONEER WILL BE GIVEN HONOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—A memorial tablet to Louis Le Prince, motion-picture inventor, who showed animated pictures on a screen forty-four years ago, will be unveiled at Leeds, Eng., December 9. His daughter, Miss Marie Le Prince, sailed from New York today for the ceremony. The inventor's first motion pictures were shown at the New York institution for the deaf and dumb in 1886. Four years later while on a trip to Europe he mysteriously disappeared. His fate never was known.

COLLECTIONS BARRED FOR SALVATION ARMY

BERLIN, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—More than 2000 Berlin families have been robbed of all hopes of Christmas cheer by a decree of the Chief of Police forbidding the Salvation Army to take up street collections for Christmas funds.

DOAK SELECTED FOR DAVIS POST

Rail Union Leader Named for Labor Portfolio

Hoover States He Will Not Bow to Federation

Nominee's Career Started in Humble Position

know that Mr. Doak will represent all labor in his public duties and that he will reinforce the sympathetic attitude of the administration to the great problems of the wage earner."

The President's statement added that while President Green has stated that he will oppose Doak because of his nonaffiliation with the American Federation of Labor "he (Green) informs me that he holds Mr. Doak in the highest personal esteem."

COURAGEOUS STEP

When the political implications are understood it is evident that President Hoover's action in appointing Doak is one of the strongest, most courageous steps he has yet taken as President. It means in all likelihood that Green and his followers in the American Federation of Labor will attempt with every means to prevent Doak's confirmation and will declare war generally on the administration. This, however, will be no further than they went in fighting the confirmation of Judge Parker in North Carolina as a Supreme Court justice. And, as the President stated, not all of the federation is behind President Green in this instance, many of the affiliated unions having indorsed Doak.

Mr. Green issued a statement tonight expressing "disappointment" over the appointment and declaring that it is "difficult to understand" why Mr. Hoover should have found it necessary to go outside the American Federation of Labor. He acknowledged the "right" of the President to select his own Cabinet but pointed out that Presidents Wilson, Harding and Coolidge had filled the Labor post from within the ranks of the American Federation of Labor and asserted "officers and members of the federation always have believed that the Secretary of Labor should come from the American Federation of Labor."

FINAL CONTENTION

He contended that no one but a federation man can properly represent the organized labor movement.

"The American Federation of Labor is regarded as the American labor movement, speaking for American labor, representing American labor," Green said. "The officers and members of this organization believe that the Secretary of Labor sitting in the President's Cabinet should be a man who understands the American labor movement, its problems and the thought and mind of American labor.

"We always have held the Department of Labor should be the instrumentality through which labor could express its mind and judgment on economic and industrial problems affecting the well-being of working men and women through a Secretary of Labor to the President of the United States and his Cabinet.

"It is a strong reason why he earnestly urged the President to select a Secretary of Labor from the membership of the American Federation of Labor. There are many men connected with the American Federation of Labor who meet all the political and economic requirements necessary to serve as Secretary of Labor.

"Why someone outside the American Federation of Labor has been selected is a question that cannot be answered by labor and one which it is difficult to understand."

BELIEVED ORIGINAL CHOICE

Mr. Doak is believed to have been President Hoover's choice for the Labor portfolio when he started making up his original Cabinet slate two years ago but the appointment was held up by the objections of the American Federation of Labor, and as Mr. Hoover and that organization could not agree on a compromise candidate Secretary Davis was asked to continue in office. Davis's recent election to the Senate from Pennsylvania again brought the matter to the fore and this time the President has met it firmly with the appointment of the man he feels is best fitted for the job.

Mr. Doak is a Republican, which may be one reason why he is opposed by Green, a Democrat. In the Hoover campaign Doak was active in labor union circles lining up support for the Republican ticket. In addition to being the legislative agent for the trainmen, he is editor of the Railway Trainmen, one of the most influential of union labor newspapers.

APPOINTEE'S RISE LIKE TALE FROM ALGER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—The son of a Confederate soldier, who began his journey toward success by swinging on the ice-coated steps of box-cars, is the new Secretary of Labor.

William N. Doak, national legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for the last fourteen years and an authority of labor economics, came through the ranks to win high place in the nation's councils.

At the beginning of the twentieth century he came as a slender farm youth of 18 from Rural Retreat, Va., to begin switching box cars in the Norfolk and Western yards at Bluefield, W. Va.

At 21 he joined the brotherhood and served as local chairman and legislative representative as well as president of his lodge for several years. He was elected vice-president of the brotherhood in 1916. In 1927 he was elected assistant president and a year later the offices of editor and manager of the Railroad Trainmen were combined with those of legislative representative.

Doak has been connected with all the recent wage movements for trainmen. He has acted as mediator in several railway labor disputes, and was sole arbitrator in some cases. His friends boast that during his entire labor union career he has never had a strike.

Politically a conservative Republican, he has been the nominee of his party for Representative from the Sixth District of Virginia and for United States Senator.

Doak enters President Hoover's Cabinet at 47, the same age as Secretary Hurley, who has been the youngest member.

the season's lowest. Six deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the weather.

UP-STATE NEW YORK UNDER SNOW BLANKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) Bitter cold weather prevailed throughout the East today causing several deaths and accompanied in some sections by snows.

Up-State New York is under a heavy blanket of snow, while reports from all other eastern States told of rapidly falling temperatures over a widespread area.

From 16 deg. above zero at 8 a.m. in New York City there was a gradual rise in the mercury until early in the afternoon when it started downward again.

The coldest weather of the season was reported all along the Atlantic seaboard today. Freezing and below freezing temperatures prevailed as far south as Florida.

Owls Head, N. Y., in the Northern Adirondacks, had zero weather early this morning. Baltimore and other points registered only a few deg. higher. Philadelphia recorded 18 deg above; Newark, 16; Rochester, 12, and Binghamton, 12.

At Harrisburg, Pa., the Susquehanna River was frozen over from bank to bank. It was the first time

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28. (AP)—With seven deaths and much suffering charged against it, Ohio's worst November blizzard in many years continued today.

Yesterday was Ohio's coldest Thanksgiving Day in the history of the Weather Bureau. The coldest in the State, according to unofficial records, was at Lima, where the mercury dropped to 6 deg. below zero.

There is snow on the ground everywhere in the State.

WARMER WEATHER IN SIGHT FOR SOUTH

ATLANTA, Nov. 28. (AP)—Winter's first cold wave continued to hold its grasp on the South today, but Weather Bureau forecasts indicated relief is in sight tomorrow.

At Louisville, Ky., a low thermometer reading of 12 deg. above zero was recorded last night. Asheville, N. C., reported 20 deg.; Nashville, Tenn., 22; Memphis, 28; Birmingham, Ala., Little Rock, Ark., and Meridian, Miss., 30 deg.

Heavy frost was reported as far south as the Gulf Coast.

Continued cold was forecast for Virginia and North Carolina tonight.

Imperial Valley Stock Rates Rise

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Revised freight rates on feeder cattle and sheep from Imperial Valley points to Los Angeles were filed today by the Southern Pacific Railroad with the State Railroad Commission in compliance with a commission order.

Accompanying the schedule the railroad informed the commission the new tariffs are in conformity to demands, but protested them on grounds they are too low. The tariffs range from $71 to $90.50 a carload.

The new rates are higher than existing tariffs.

Rolph Approves Inaugural Fete

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—The Sacramento citizens' inaugural committee conferred here today with Governor-elect Rolph, in relation to the capital city's plans for an inaugural festival to last three days. The committee won Rolph's agreement to the plans, which include an inaugural parade and ceremony and an inaugural ball.

The committee assured Mr. Rolph no taxpayers' money will be spent. The funds will be raised by subscription.

BROKEN DIKES BRING COMMUNIST PROTEST

BRUSSELS, Nov. 28. (AP)—Communists have launched a pamphlet campaign in an effort to arouse victims of the recent floods to agitation against the government. Posters plastered up in the inundated area charge negligence in the provision of adequate dikes while "millions are spent arming forts and machine guns."

EXPOSE CAUSES POLICE SHAKEUP

Vice Inquiry in New York Brings Demotions

Lawyers and Magistrates Under Suspicion

Many Important Persons Reported Implicated

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) The first jolt of a wholesale police shake-up was felt today by twenty-seven policemen as the inquiry into vice graft in the women's courts went on behind closed doors with two accused lawyers pouring out a tale said to be far more startling and to involve more important names than those brought out at any previous hearing. They will repeat their confessions when the public hearings are resumed next Tuesday and the implication is that a lot of magistrates will find themselves in a hot spot.

Seven detectives mentioned as having accepted bribes in vice cases were ordered back to patrol duty by Police Commissioner Mulrooney, who said that twenty other policemen were slated for demotion as soon as he could finish wading through a transcript of the testimony in the appellate division's inquiry into Magistrates' courts.

RESIGNATIONS HINTED

Civil Service regulations complicate more severe punishment until all the evidence is in. Nevertheless, the accused policemen are pooling their funds to hire lawyers and several of them have called for resignation blanks.

The full confessions of the two lawyers who practised corruption in the women's court are in the possession of Isador J. Kresel, special prosecutor, but details and the lawyers' names are being withheld until next week. The two attorneys, who were named along with four others as bribe-givers, made a clean breast of the vice racket in the hope that they might obtain leniency.

PREY ON WOMEN

When they retell their story in open session, the details of the five-way split which, it has been testified, was made of money wrung from indiscreet women lured into court, will be explained. The police, the prosecutor, the lawyer and the bondsman are already named as sharing in the graft money. If the fifth portion went to any magistrate or magistrates, this will come out in the lawyers' testimony.

Meanwhile subpoenas were issued for more than 100 witnesses to be questioned next week. The fifteen other vice stool pigeons named by "Chile" Acuna, the South American informer, all have vanished from their accustomed haunts and it is not likely that any of them will be on hand to bolster "Chile's" sordid testimony. Some of the subpoenas issued this afternoon are said to be for girls subjected to illegal arrest and prosecution.

INQUIRY DEMANDED

Word from Warm Springs, Ga., where Gov. Roosevelt is resting, intimated the Governor will take no action on repeated demands for a legislative inquiry into Tammany's administration of the New York City government until he returns to Albany.

In all probability former Magistrate George F. Ewald and his wife, Bertha Ewald, will go on trial before Martin J. Healy, the Tammany district leader, and his aid, Thomas T. Tommaney, get their case set for retrial.

The Ewalds are charged with purchasing from Healy and Tommaney for $10,000 Ewald's appointment to be a city magistrate. The first trial of the Healy case resulted in a disagreement Sunday morning.

Stepmother's Trial Begun for Child Murder

DENVER, Nov. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin today went on trial in District Court on a charge of slaying her 10-year-old stepdaughter, Leona.

Weeks ago the child's body was found floating in a city park lake. A few days later Mrs. O'Loughlin was arrested.

An examination disclosed Leona apparently had been fed ground glass and police said Leona also had been slugged on the head.

The jury was completed today and taking of testimony is expected to start tomorrow.

Four Victims of Murder Found

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) Nov. 28. (AP)—The bodies of four members of a family stabbed by an unknown slayer were found in their Duchess county farmhouse at Stanfordville near here today.

Police found their investigation blocked by the lack of a motive and clews. The victims were James Husted Germond, member of the grange and of the Stanfordville village church; his wife, daughter and son. They apparently were killed in the early evening Wednesday.

TWO HOLIDAY MEALS PRECEDE EXECUTION

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (AP) — Two Thanksgiving dinners were eaten by Leon Brown, Negro, before he was placed in the electric chair at the County Jail and executed early today for his part in the murder of Martin French, bank guard slain in an attempted bank robbery in 1928. A goose dinner on the holiday noon was followed by a turkey dinner just before midnight.

REFUND RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—A $950,721 tax refund to the Illinois Central Railroad Company of Chicago was recommended today to the joint committee on internal revenue taxation. The refund covers over-assessments for 1928, 1920 and 1921.

TARDIEU VICTOR IN SHOWDOWN

Two Votes of Confidence Won by Premier

Majority Being Whittled on Financial Issue

Intention to Resign With Cabinet Denied

PARIS, Nov. 28. (AP)—The government of Premier Tardieu today won two votes of confidence, although its majority is gradually being whittled on the issue of the failure of the Ostric Bank and other financial institutions recently.

The Chamber of Deputies was put in a critical mood yesterday, when Tardieu won another vote of confidence. In this balloting nothing was said directly about the bank ...ost, but a question was poised on ...e purely internal matter that nevertheless involved the expenditure of about $600,000,000 for public improvements. The government emerged with a majority of 78.

UNDERSECRETARY QUITS

As the Chamber reconvened today it became known Eugene Lautier, undersecretary of the Ministry of Public Works, had resigned. It was an outgrowth of the Ostric Bank failure, as was the ...ional resignation of Raoul Peret, Minister of Justice, and rumors ...ound the Premier himself would ...

Thus, facing wide criticism of his ...olicy in dealing with sunken financial institutions, Tardieu put a ...otion of confidence squarely up ...o the Chamber, invoking what has ...ecome known as characteristic Tardieu courage. He won by only 14 ...otes, or 293 to 279, the smallest majority his government has ever received.

Not satisfied, the young Premier again sprang before the Chamber and said it must immediately express confidence or lack of confidence in his government's ability to investigate the financial failures. On this ballot he won by 303 to 14, all constituents except the Communists abstaining.

COUNTER-ATTACK MADE

Tardieu has been fighting for his parliamentary life since the Chamber reconvened the 4th inst. Today, with two undersecretaries following Peret into retirement, he anticipated a battle and decided to launch a counter-offensive.

Rumors were widespread tonight Tardieu intended to present the collective resignation of his Cabinet to President Doumergue, but the Premier indicated otherwise.

"You may take my word of honor that nothing will happen tonight," he told newspaper men.

Albert Oustric, the banker whose name has rung through the Chamber lobbies for three weeks as having had dealings with thirty-two members of Parliament, including Ministers and undersecretaries, was arrested on a warrant charging a swindling operation in 1926.

BABY GRINS MERE BIDS FOR NOTICE

Research Workers Find Ulterior Purpose Behind Infants' Merriment

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—When baby laughs he's merely trying to attract attention and it's no proof he's smart like his parents.

So, research workers at teachers' college, Columbia University, announce after stalking the merriment of seventy youngsters from the cradle to the kindergarten and taking 2525 tests.

They found infants left alone are predominantly serious-minded and that only 7 per cent give way to gurgles. Moreover, the quality of their amusement is so rarified it would have no humorous significance for the average adult.

From twenty-two cases studied with reference to the correlation between laughter and intelligence, the theory was deduced that smiling Mary is not a whit brighter than glum John. Laughter seems to be more a matter of temperament, it was decided.

BOULDER DAM HASTE UNWISE

Reclamation Bureau Against Half-Time Completion

Commission to Pass on Work Specifications Monday

Construction Start Set for Next June or July

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Reports that a certain engineering firm plans to bid for the Boulder Dam contract with a guarantee to finish the project within three and a half years as an aid to unemployment were received by officials at the Reclamation Bureau today with the informal comment that probably such a proposal would not be acceptable.

The attitude at the bureau is that the only speeding up that can be safely done is in connection with getting the development under way and that once work is actually started on the major phases it will not be advisable to undertake to rush it through in much if any less than the seven-year period on which government engineers have been counting.

FEW CAN QUALIFY

Reclamation officials indicated they expected four or five bids, there probably not being more than that number of engineering syndicates in the country in position to put up the heavy bonds that will be required, or able to comply with the strict specifications.

The specifications are being drawn in such a way as to give the government wide discretion in awarding the contract and it was indicated today that experience on past projects will be an important factor.

The Sibert Engineering Commission is to meet at Denver on Monday to pass upon the specifications drawn by R. F. Walter, chief construction engineer at Boulder Canyon.

SPECIFICATIONS SOON

When the board completes its task probably within a week's time Walter will come to Washington, where the staff of the Reclamation Service will whip them into shape for the printer. The next steps will be distribution of the specifications and the setting of a date for advertising.

Opening of bids probably will come some time in March, it was stated at the bureau today, with actual work commencing in June or July.

Jew Near Death Balks at Gentile Blood in Veins

LONDON, Nov. 28. (Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—The question of wether a Jew on the point of death should refuse any infusion of gentile blood if he knows that such an operation can save him is arousing much discussion here. In the London Hospital lies a Jew whose name the press does not mention, who refuses to allow steps to be taken that may save his life.

A member of the London blood-transfusion service was asked today to go to this hospital so the transfusion might be made. The patient, on learning that the donor is not a Jew, refused to submit to the transfusion, saying he will not allow gentile blood to flow in his veins.

BALM BATTLE UKASE ISSUED

Coca Cola Playboy Magnate Told to Name His Six "Rivals" or Change Line of Defense

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Joseph B. Whitehead, Atlanta playboy, sharer in the Coca Cola multimillions, today was ordered by the appellate division of the New York Supreme Court in effect to "tell all or prepare to pay." He will be required by the ruling of the high court to name fully six of the prominent men he mentioned only by initials in his defense of the $500,000 breach-of-promise action brought by the smart Park-avenue widow, Mrs. Annette Shelby Bracy, or abandon that line of defense.

Whitehead's answer to her suit listed the six as fellow-intimates of Mrs. Bracy and cited her supposed relations with those rivals for her favors as justifiable for his having failed to marry her after they pastimed in Florida and elsewhere together.

The sextet, the soft-drink millionaire listed as "S.S., a fashionable New Yorw restaurateur;" "Capt. H.," who since has been identified as Capt. Bur Hitchcock, a yachtsman; "M. F." "McD." "J. McV.," and "F. F."

It was agreed by counsel for Whitehead and Mrs. Bracy at today's hearing that a seventh man of prominence, named by the Atlantian as "Judge M. of Detroit," should be stricken from the list of those other than Whitehead who were attentive to the attractive widow. Whether this move was one of judicial courtesy or otherwise actuated was not brought out at the hearing.

Meanwhile, it is reported the six others accused by Whitehead have retained counsel and warned the Georgian through his lawyers that if he proceeds to name them fully, they will retaliate by filing suit against him for $1,000,000 each for damages to their reputations.

NOBEL PRIZE AWARD IRKS PROFESSOR

Lewis's Choice "Insult" to Country, Says Author Henry Van Dyke

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—The award of the 1930 Nobel Prize in literature to Sinclair Lewis was characterized as an "insult" to this country by Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Princeton professor and former Minister to The Netherlands, here today.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Business Men's Association of Germantown, Dr. Van Dyke asserted that the Swedish Academy "gave America a very back-handed compliment" in choosing the author of "Main Street" and "Elmer Gantry" for this year's highest award in literature. The Lewis novels, he held, do not "honestly represent the best in American literature."

Mr. Van Dyke criticised generally the "present-day school of scoffing writers" and said: "Choice of the author of 'Main Street' and the rest of these novels that scoff at America and its traditions for the Nobel prize is an insult to America. "It shows the Swedish Academy knows nothing of the English language. They handed Lewis a bouquet but they gave America a very back-handed compliment."

The speaker asserted that in "Main Street" there "isn't a girl with whom you would fall in love."

Danish Envoy Ends Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Minister Brun of Denmark presented to President Hoover today his letters of recall terminating thirty-one years of service as Danish representative to the United States.

The Minister's service began in 1895 and was broken only from 1908 to 1912, when he was in another post.

In accepting the letters of recall the President paid tribute to the Minister's service. His career was terminated upon reaching the age limit provided for Danish diplomats.

Air Line Seeks to Block State on Gasoline Tax

Sunnyvale Site Favored by Chairman Britten, but Congress Unlikely to Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Chairman Britten announced today that he will call the House Naval Affairs Committee together shortly after Congress reconvenes Monday for a vote on the long-controverted question of whether the $5,000,000 west coast dirigible base shall be located at Camp Kearny, near San Diego, or at Sunnyvale in Northern Santa Clara county, California.

At the same time it was reported that an overwhelming majority of the committee is prepared to vote for Sunnyvale. A poll is said to have indicated that of twenty-one members only three favor the Southern California site.

Britten said that in his opinion no hearings are necessary beyond perhaps getting a statement from Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations. Admiral Pratt is a supporter of Sunnyvale. Several weeks of hearings were conducted during the last session of Congress and voluminous testimony taken. The General Board of the Navy urged selection of Camp Kearny for "strategic reasons" while most of the flying officers of the Navy were for Sunnyvale.

Whatever action is taken by the House committee, it is doubted that Congress will pass finally upon the matter in the forthcoming short session. A speedy decision is desirable, however, as the first of the giant dirigibles being constructed for the Navy by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation at Akron is due for delivery next summer. It will have to be housed at Lakehurst, N. J., until the California base is ready.

BOY WITHOUT MONEY GETS BANDIT'S BULLET

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 28. (AP)—Halted by a robber's bullet in his plan to go West to seek his fortune, Forrest L. Allbritton, 15-year-old Kansas City high-school boy, lies critically wounded tonight at General Hospital. Allbritton revived long enough to tell detectives he had been shot as he was riding his bicycle near Wellsville, Kan., early today. He said an automobile drew up beside him and one of the men in it asked if he had any money. Replying he had not, Allbritton said, he was shot.

New Ambassador Presents Credentials in Mexico

Alcoholic Beverages Can't Be Served at Embassy

Ortiz Rubio Replies in Kind to Good-Will Pledge

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28. (AP)—J. Reuben Clark, new Ambassador to Mexico, after presenting his credentials to President Ortiz Rubio today, announced he will not serve liquor at the embassy during his term.

"Whether alcoholic beverages shall be served in American embassies and legations," he said, "is a question regularly determined by the various chiefs of missions concerned. I have decided not to serve alcoholic beverages in the embassy in Mexico City during my term at this post."

He did not discuss the matter further, but it is understood his action reflects no criticism on any other mission where liquor is served, inasmuch as he feels it is a matter for the mission head to determine.

GOOD WILL VOICED

Mr. Clark, a member of the Mormon Church, is a nondrinker.

It is understood here the Mexico City Embassy will be the second representing the United States at which no liquor is served, Ambassador Dawes having announced a similar policy in London some time ago.

Mutual expressions of good will on the part of their respective governments were exchanged by President Ortiz Rubio and Mr. Clark when the latter presented his credentials.

"I come with a message of friendship and good will from the people of the United States to the people of Mexico," said Ambassador Clark. "The President of the United States has particularly charged me to convey to Your Excellency the best wishes of the government of the United States for the continued welfare and prosperity of the Mexican people and the personal happiness and well-being of Your Excellency."

PRESIDENT REPLIES

The President, replying, said Mexico desires nothing more in her dealing with other nations than to be able to solve mutual problems in a spirit of harmony, justice and equity.

With his credentials, Mr. Clark presented the letters of recall of former Ambassador Dwight Morrow and said Mr. Morrow was, and remains, a true friend of Mexico and her people.

The President said he shares the opinion Mr. Morrow is a sincere friend.

He thanked Mr. Clark for his message of good will from President Hoover and the American people, saying the Mexican government and the Mexican people desire a similar message on their part to be conveyed to the American people and government. The President concluded by saying Ambassador Clark's friendship and respect for Mexico assure him a cordial welcome and positive co-operation in perfecting an understanding between the two nations and governments.

FIGHT OVER AIRSHIP BASE NEAR FINALE

FOUR DIE AS TRAIN SMASHES TWO AUTOS

HOBART (Ind.) Nov. 28. (AP)—Four persons were killed today when a fast Nickel Plate freight train hit two automobiles at a crossing. T. H. Grabowski, Gary lawyer and former president of the American State Bank of Gary, Mrs. Grabowski, Norman Gabel, the caretaker of the Grabowski suburban home, and Rudolph Nikach of Hobart, were the victims.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID LATE RAILROAD HEAD

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Chiefs of commerce and industry paused today to pay tribute to Charles H. Markham, late chairman of the board of the Illinois Central system, at brief funeral services in Holy Name Cathedral. Private burial followed. Mr. Markham died at Altadena, Cal., Monday.

LADY ASTOR LOYAL TO TIES

Speaker Declares in House of Common's Debate She's Still "Passionate Virginian"

LONDON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Viscountess Astor, the former Nancy Langhorne, told the House of Commons today she still is a "passionate Virginian" for all her British citizenship.

Nationality, said she, during a debate on a bill to permit women marrying foreigners, to choose whether they shall retain British citizenship or take that of their husbands, is an individual matter which women should be permitted to decide for themselves.

"Men will never be free until women are free," she said. "To my mind, being very fond of men, I am so interested in their moral and social progress that I want to free women."

MEASURE PASSES

The nationality bill passed on the second reading.

"I'm still a passionate Virginian," Lady Astor said. "If I lived away from my country for a hundred years I would still be a Virginian, but that does not prevent my being a good British citizen. I'm trying to bring up my children so that they will be good citizens in any country."

PRESENT LAW RULE

Under the present law a woman of British citizenship who marries an alien loses her nationality, and a woman of foreign citizenship marrying a British citizen automatically becomes a citizen of Great Britain.

Miss Ellen Wilkinson, a Labor member, commenting on the fact the imperial conference had recommended there be no change in the present law except after consultation and agreement among members of the commonwealth, said:

"If it is argued the dominions are against the measure, then it is time we stood up against the dictation of the dominions."

No Warning Signals before 40...
Why you should begin at 20 to guard against the after 40 ailment

OFTEN unknown to themselves, over half of men and women past 40 are afflicted with kidney breakdown. Because of the prevalence of this ailment—and because it is the forerunner of many serious ills—medical science has investigated the cause. Its findings are these:

Kidneys excrete 75% of all waste matter from the system, much in too concentrated form. Wear and tear on delicate kidney cells begins to tell at 40. Breakdown occurs, and poisons which should be eliminated are turned back into the system. And thus kidney breakdown becomes a serious menace to health.

The years to combat this ailment are between 20 and 40, say doctors. They advise drinking 6 glasses daily of Puritas mineral-free water as the most effective preventive. Puritas keeps kidneys flushed, diluting and carrying off poisonous waste. Thus easing the burden of kidneys. And, mineral-free, Puritas leaves no mineral deposits to add further to congestion. (Sufficient minerals are obtained from fruits and vegetables.)

Puritas through scientific distillation, is both mineral-free and impurity-free—drinking water in its purest form. Though its taste seems different at first, each drink you increasingly enjoy.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The fact-telling series of articles just completed in the Los Angeles Times, showing that crops in the five counties of Los Angeles, Ventura, Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside have brought the largest cash returns in the history of the community, have been reprinted in the form of single-page newspaper sheets.

Coming at a time when agriculture elsewhere throughout the world is at a low ebb, this achievement by local orchardists, farmers and dairymen demonstrates in a most impressive manner the stability back of Southern California's growth. By reason of diversified industries this favored section can ride through a business depression with its basic and greatest single source of income unimpaired.

Believing that such facts should get the widest possible circulation, The Times will supply these reprints for mailing purposes at a little less than the cost of production, or at the rate of $1 per hundred. Single copies mailed postpaid for 3 cents. Address, Promotion Department, Los Angeles Times.

CHURCHMAN'S LABORS ENDED

Rt. Rev. Sheldon Griswold of Episcopal Church Dies

Lingering Illness Follows Elevation in February

First Missionary Bishop in Western Kansas

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Rt. Rev. Sheldon Munso Griswold, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, died tonight.

The prelate would have been 70 years of age in January. His death ended a lingering illness during which his tenacity to life had amazed his physicians and friends.

Seven weeks ago today he was taken to the Evanston Hospital in a critical condition with a general nervous and organic breakdown. His recovery was despaired of from the start, yet he rallied remarkably at times and in these periods of consciousness resumed spiritual devotions as though he stood before his congregation.

COADJUTOR SUCCEEDS

Bishop Griswold's death leaves Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart of Evanston head of the diocese. As coadjutor bishop he automatically succeeds to the bishopric.

Bishop Griswold had presided over the Chicago diocese less than a year, having been chosen last February to succeed the late Rt. Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, who at the time of his death in January, was presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States.

MISSIONARY BISHOP

Bishop Griswold was fundamentally a missionary. He began his ministry as a missionary at Ilion, Mohawk and Frankfort, N. Y., immediately after his ordination in 1885. Three years later he became rector of Emmanuel Church, Little Falls, N. Y., and in 1890 was made rector of Christ Church at Hudson, N. Y.

His organization work among rural churches as archdeacon of the diocese of Albany brought him to the attention of the House of Bishops and he was sent to Western Kansas to be the first missionary bishop of Salina in 1903.

ROLPH TO BE HERE TODAY FOR PARLEY

Question of Appointments Will Receive Attention in Political Talks

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Southern California Republican leaders will have an opportunity to confer with Governor-elect Rolph on matters relative to the new State administration tomorrow and Sunday. The Governor-elect left tonight for Los Angeles.

One of the appointments to receive attention in the south will be the selection of a director of finance. Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan and others have been aiding in the canvass of the possibilities for that highly important place and names will be presented for Rolph's consideration.

Another position which probably will go to a Southern California man is the corporation commissionership. Mrs. Harry Michaels has been given a boost for the directorship of Southern California welfare to replace Mrs. Anna L. Saylor. The real estate commissionership is another which appears to be headed southward.

Among Rolph's visitors today was Senator Lyon of Los Angeles, legislative veteran, who was defeated for the long-term Los Angeles county senatorship nomination by Senator McKinley at the August primaries. It would not be a surprise if some place is found for Lyon in the incoming administration.

State Treasurer Johnson was elected with the Governor-elect for the time. Johnson is campaigning for the appointment of J. J. Smith as warden of Folsom Prison.

Fraternity Men Better Scholars

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—The scholarship fraternity man was found superior to the general scholastic average of college men in a report to the annual meeting of the interfraternity conference today.

Alvan E. Duerr, chairman of the scholarship committee which for five years has compared the grades of fraternity and nonfraternity undergraduates of 128 colleges and universities, declared "the fraternity men's average is somewhat more than 1 per cent higher than the average of all men undergraduates and almost 2 per cent higher than the average of nonfraternity men."

LOS ANGELES GIRL SUES OIL BROKER

TULSA (Okla.) Nov. 28. (AP)—George Myers, oil royalty broker, was charged with breach of promise and sued for $50,000 in District Court today by Miss Edith Holloway of Los Angeles. She asserts he bought her an engagement ring, promised to marry her, and then told her he could not afford a marriage.

Noted Jockey's Vocal Chords Figured Best Bet When Riding Days Pass

ALEXANDRIA (Va.) Nov. 28. (AP) — Earle Sande, who realizes he cannot keep his weight down enough to permit him to stay in the saddle indefinitely, is taking vocal lessons and has ambitions to go on the stage. His horses have heard his tenor at times.

He has made his concert debut, singing "Mother Machree" and "Bird Songs at Eventide" before the Kiwanis Club.

MORE 'KICK' URGED FOR LITERATURE

English Teachers' Council Head Decries Picayunish Type of School Reading

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28. (AP)—There should be joy in the high school literature classes today. For the teachers have just about decided literature ought to have more "kick" in it.

"If the youngsters are looking for a thrill, it is our place to give it to them, Ruth Mary Weeks of Kansas City told 1000 members of the National Council of Teachers of English here today. Miss Weeks is president of the council.

She explained, however, it would not be necessary to use cheap fiction to get the "kick" or the "thrill." There is plenty of good literature that also fills the bill.

The picayunish, detailed forms of literary instruction also were derided by Howard Mumford Jones of the University of Michigan. The study of literature should give at least as much attention to ideas as it gives to facts, he said.

British Cabinet Acts to Avert New Coal War

LONDON, Nov. 28. (AP)—The government tonight made a dramatic intervention in the dispute between miners and coal owners which threatened a great coal strike Monday when the new mines act comes into force.

Representatives of the miners and owners saw the president of the Board of Trade and the Secretary for Mines tonight and as a result telegrams were dispatched by the government to all owners and to workmen urging them to get together and conclude temporary arrangements to continue work pending another conference of the Miners' Federation next week.

Prison Women Mourn Indian

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Through fourteen years of imprisonment here, Chona Andrade, only full-blooded Indian woman ever to serve time in this prison, lived a life of stoic silence, interrupted only by brief and rare conversations with other women prisoners and her yearly effort for ten years to be paroled. But when she died last Wednesday she left more friends than perhaps any other woman prisoner had.

The extent of their friendship was demonstrated when every woman prisoner donated to a fund to pay for her burial outside the walls.

The officiating clergymen will be Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick of Riverside Church, New York, assisted by Dr. William S. Abernathy of Calvary Baptist Church, Washington.

SANDSTORM GIVES PARISIANS SURPRISE

PARIS, Nov. 28. (AP)—A sandstorm, unheard of in France, struck Paris today. Pedestrians, automobiles and roof tops were powdered with sand. Meteorological experts say the sand was carried all the way across the Mediterranean from Africa by a southwesterly wind.

ROCKEFELLERS SELL HOLDINGS

Family Withdraws From Five Oil Companies

Centers Interests in Coast Standard and Others

Definite Report of Action Just Made Public

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) All the Rockefeller holdings in five of the original Standard Oil companies have been disposed of and the interests of the Rockefeller family and philanthropies are being concentrated in a few companies of the old Standard Oil group, it was learned today.

The companies from which the Rockefeller interests are said to have withdrawn entirely are the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, the Standard Oil Company of Kansas, the Atlantic Refining Company, the Prairie Oil and Gas Company and the Prairie Pipe Line Company. The enterprises in which they have largely centered their interest are the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Standard Oil Company of New York, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the Standard Oil Company of California and the Vacuum Oil Company. The Rockefellers are retaining their holdings in the Standard of Ohio, the Ohio Oil Company and a few smaller companies.

The fact that the Rockefellers had withdrawn altogether from at least five of the companies was learned definitely today for the first time, although it had been generally understood in Wall street that they had given up their active interest in Atlantic Refining and Prairie Oil and Gas. They have gone so far, it is understood, as to form a complete realignment of their Standard Oil interests.

To Wall street this fact suggests that the Rockefellers have recognized the trend toward the larger, fully integrated companies. Also, it is believed, they prefer to have their oil investments confined to a smaller group of companies.

The Rockefeller stockholding interest is largest in the Standard of New Jersey, which is the keystone to the Standard Oil group. Their original holdings in this company, amounting to nearly 25 per cent, are largely intact today.

PLANE SAFE AFTER CALL FOR HELP

Naval Flyers Searching for Lost Ship in Alaska Overcome Trouble

KETCHIKAN (Alaska) Nov. 28. (AP)—Distress signals from Pilot Claude Alexander and two other naval flyers in one of the planes sent here from San Diego, Cal., to search for a missing party of aviators, were followed tonight by a message saying they were out of trouble.

Lieut. C. F. Greber, piloting the other naval plane, started to Alexander's assistance when the latter radioed his controls had jammed three times in the vicinity of Prince of Wales Island.

Alexander's last message said he was proceeding to Moira Sound with his plane operating smoothly and Lieut. Greber's command continued their search in another section.

They are the only flyers remaining in the hunt for Pilot Robin Renahan, Sam Clerf and Frank Hatcher, who disappeared in this region a month ago in a seaplane.

Beaver College Wins Bequest Made in 1880

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28. (AP)—A $1,000,000 fund left as a "foundation for the education of females in or adjacent to Philadelphia," by Dr. William Curran, who died fifty years ago, has been awarded to Beaver College, in Jenkintown, near here.

The award was disclosed in a report to the court, made public today.

The money represents accumulation of principal and income on $50,000 which Dr. Curran left in trust when he died in 1880. The will stipulated that the fund should be used to establish a foundation for a college such as the will described, when the annual income should amount to $35,000.

PITTSBURGH EDUCATOR DIES

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28. (AP)—Dr. Grover H. Alderman, 44 years of age, dean of the school of education at the University of Pittsburgh, died today.

PEER CHALLENGED TO DUEL

Lord Winterton Makes Revelation Following Row in Commons Over Censure Issue

LONDON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Lord Winterton, Conservative, revealed in an address at a party meeting tonight that he had been challenged to a duel by "an enthusiastic supporter of Mr. Snowden." The challenge was a result of last night's division in the House of Commons on a vote of censure.

The vote was taken at the end of a heated session in which Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and others participated. It ended in a triumph for the MacDonald government by a vote of 299 to 234.

As members of the House of Commons filed toward the division lobbies before the balloting was conducted Lord Winterton was struck on the face with an order paper by a Laborite, C. J. Simmons.

"He struck me lightly," Lord Winterton said tonight. "It was not until he walked away and I heard indignant remonstrances that I realized I had been what lawyers term technically assaulted.

"Mr. Simmons had raised a point of order that I used the words 'insulting dog.' There was a good deal of shouting at the time and it was not until I read the papers this morning that I knew of what I was accused.

"I never recollect using such a term in relation to humans. I keep dogs and am very fond of them. Mr. Simmons may have heard some one else use the remark and thought it me."

Although saying he had been challenged to a duel, Lord Winterton refused to disclose the identity of the challenger.

Lady Shackleton

LONDON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Desiring to see the region where her husband, Sir Ernest Shackleton, the polar explorer, died and is buried, Lady Shackleton will be aboard the yatch Stella Polaris when it leaves Southampton, Eng., December 10, for a tourist cruise of the Bay of Whales and the Ross Sea. Sir Ernest's body lies beneath a great stone cross at Srytvicken, South Georgia, a gateway to the Antarctic. The tour will include a stop at Rear-Admiral Byrd's base in Little America.

WAR-PLAN PUBLICITY STRADDLED

League Committee Votes Down Dutch Proposal for French Substitute

GENEVA, Nov. 28. (AP) — The League of Nations preparatory commission today again dodged the question of full publicity on disarmament on land war materials and adopted a French resolution which provides only for an annual report of expenditures upon such equipment.

Last Saturday the Dutch delegation offered a proposal which would have guaranteed complete publicity for war preparations and materials, but after a spirited session with such opposition from France and Japan the matter was referred to a subcommittee.

Today the question again was brought up, with the United States representative, Hugh S. Gibson, voting for full publicity on materials both in service and in stock as last Saturday. Italy, Sweden, Holland, Spain, Turkey and Russia joined with him.

The opposition, led by France and Japan again, protested that a full exchange of information on war stocks would be giving away defense secrets and thereby prejudicing national security.

France's formula provides merely for the amount of money expended, not for itemization of equipment. With the French voted their Central European allies, plus Japan, Peru, Persia and Norway.

Drafting of a convention by the commission, to serve as a basis for a general disarmament treaty, is expected to be completed next week.

Chicago Scheme Held Lottery

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Mayor Thompson's business-boosting scheme, involving giving of chances in a $1,000,000 prize drawing, is a lottery within the meaning of postal regulations, and news stories printed concerning this scheme, when it is put into operation, are not mailable.

This was the ruling of the solicitor of the Postoffice Department, as communicated to Postmaster Lueder at Chicago and relayed to newspapers today.

Congressman in Auto Crash

WARREN (O.) Nov. 28. (AP)—State Senator Cass J. Jankowski, and Representative in Congress Clarence J. McLeod, both of Detroit, were seriously injured in an automobile accident at Lake Milton, west of here, late today. The Senator's condition was critical, while it was said McLeod will recover.

Their automobile collided with a lumber truck.

ASSERTED DESERTER FROM NAVY IN JAIL

TULARE, Nov. 28.—Frank Lopez, 22 years of age, charged with deserting from the United States ship Mississippi, is a prisoner in the City Jail, awaiting arrival of Federal officers. Lopez is said to be a third-class fireman on the Mississippi. He was arrested near Farmersville by Constable C. C. Castle of Tulare.

SOVIET SCENTS FOREIGN PLOTS

Prosecutor of Engineers Demands Investigation

Prof. Ramsin Questioned on Charge of Treason

Admits Effort to Defeat Government Regime

MOSCOW, Nov. 28. (AP)—Thorough investigation into the activities of "French and other government agents in Moscow" was demanded by Prosecutor Krilenko tonight, when the trial of eight engineers on charges of high treason was resumed.

He asked the court for a closed session to permit him to inquire as to the identities of the asserted French agents "A" and "R" with whom the defendants have testified they dealt in connection with a plot for foreign intervention.

The request was granted by the court, but the prosecutor started his cross-examination of the defendants.

RAMSIN QUESTIONED

Prof. L. K. Ramsin, indicted as leader of the conspiracy, was the first to take the stand. Krilenko announced his cross-examination would be on the basis of biography, past activities, concrete explanation of the defendants' sabotage, more complete details of their connections abroad and more definite facts relating to Poincare and Briand on intervention and activities of the French General Staff.

He first questioned Ramsin about his past history.

It was after 1926, Ramsin said, that higher engineers drew him into antisoviet plots with them.

"Did you sincerely believe the country should be ruled by engineers and technical men?" Krilenko asked.

MONEY NO TEMPTATION

"Yes," Ramsin replied, "economically."

"But how about politically?" questioned Krilenko.

"Well," said Ramsin, "this was only only a form of propaganda to draw more engineers into the industrial party, which then was in the process of formation."

Ramsin contended his antipathy toward the soviet government was not occasioned by material reasons but was purely ideological.

Ramsin said he had an automobile and lived well as a scientific worker. Money didn't tempt him to plot against the soviet, he asserted.

"I plotted against the government," he said, "for the simple reason that I was against the soviet policy and was sure the government would come to an end sooner or later and I decided to do my share to bring about this finish."

LONDON REGARDS TRIAL AS MERE FARCE

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times)

LONDON, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—The general opinion in London is that the Russian trial of eight technicians is a sorry farce. The British capital bases its opinion not on the issue of whether certain Russians think the Stalin dictatorship is a mistake, but rather on the Russian allegations that Frenchmen or Englishmen of prominence planned a war against Russia. It is a certainty that this is untrue, and so the disposition is to regard the while proceedings as more or less a frame-up.

The British seem to believe the Kremlin felt the need of doing two things. First, to keep the populace believing that wicked capitalistic nations planned a war on Russia, thus necessitating a big Russian army, and secondly, to explain to the populace that certain failures of the industrial revolution plan were due, not to the fault of the government, but to low traitors.

That it should become necessary to feed two or twenty or 100 victims to the lions is regarded as of little significance.

Enthusiasm for the army is kept up by the Kremlin through preaching the imminence of a capitalistic war against soviet Russia. The Russian is rather nationalistic, and naturally when, through the government press, which is the only press he reads, he is brought to believe a strong army is necessary to protect his country, his attitude toward the army is different from what it might be if he did not fear war.

FRANCE URGED TO RECALL ENVOY

PARIS, Nov. 28. (AP)—Le Matin, influential Paris newspaper, today demanded the French government break off diplomatic relations with soviet Russia in answer to accusations at the trial of eight Russian engineers that this government has plotted armed intervention to destroy the Moscow regime.

The paper stated the government at Moscow indicated the Communist government's desire to force a French break and added: "Let Moscow have the courage to recall her own Ambassador at Paris before an indignant France finds it necessary to dismiss him."

CLEWS MAY REVEAL FATE OF TEACHER

Suit Case Belonging to Missing Colorado Woman Found on Irrigation Ditch

FORT MORGAN (Colo.) Nov. 28. (AP)—If Enid Marriott, 28 years of age, was murdered, her slayer fell far short of committing a perfect crime. Telltale evidences—a nail file, suitcase, pencil, a button and a string of beads—of what might have been the fate of the Wiggins (Colo.) school-teacher, were uncovered on the bed of an ice-incrusted irrigation ditch a few miles east of here today.

The file, identified as that of Miss Marriott by one of her pupils, was found on a ledge beneath the bridge crossing the ditch on the Fort Morgan-Greeley highway.

The suitcase, which was a combination affair that served also as a hat box, was battered.

Some of the examination papers of her pupils, papers she carried to Denver for grading during a weekend at the home of a friend, were found farther down stream.

Miss Marriott has been missing since the 16th inst. Today hundreds of persons prodded the ice-covered stream for evidence of her fate and overhead an airplane carrying a deputy sheriff winged its way over reservoirs and irrigation ditches in efforts to discover her body.

League Closes Economic Meet

GENEVA, Nov. 28. (AP)—The second conference of the League of Nations for concerted economic action of member nations closed today with its delegates frank in their admission its results were not remarkable.

Chairman H. Colijn of Holland, summarizing the work in which representatives of twenty-six states participated, declared the one ray of hope surviving the conference is in the promise of the governments to seek tariff reduction by means of bilateral negotiations. He said the conference abandoned hope for tariff reduction through a multilateral convention.

Old Canal Land Claim Settled

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Years of litigation and negotiation ended here today with payment by the United States of $160,000 for a portion of the land used in Coast defense of the Panama Canal.

The Treasury Department checks were turned over to Alfredo Aleman of Panama City, an heir of the Bermudez family of Panama, who acted for the other heirs.

The property was confiscated by the United States for building the canal.

MUSICIANS' UNION AND THEATERS NEGOTIATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Negotiations between downtown theaters, represented by the Fox West Coast, Publix and Radio-Keith-Orpheum chains, and the musicians' union, looking toward a new contract to clarify the orchestra problem which has led to many lawsuits and injunctions, are under way.

In the new agreement, the theater managers will ask to reserve the right to discontinue or cut down their orchestras upon giving notice to the union.

ROBBER SUSPECT HELD

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Theft of a second automobile from the same man resulted in the arrest tonight of a man whom police believe is Graham Morton, wanted in Los Angeles for bank robbery.

"MIRACLE" MEN GO TO JAIL

Little Town Near Naples, Hard Hit by Earthquake, Audaciously Swindled With Virgin Hoax

(Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune)

ROME, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Not until the courts sentenced six young men to jail terms for an audacious swindle was the village of Villa Nova Del Battista, near Naples, convinced the Virgin had not appeared to help them.

It has been a hard pill to swallow after what Villa Nova had gone through from the earthquake of July with more than half of its houses crushed to earth, and when more than 100 of its villagers died. So that when the six young men announced that the Virgin had appeared to them on the banks of a near-by stream the townsfolk were willing and anxious to believe that at last their luck had turned.

Crowds flocked to the spot and although they failed to see the Virgin they did find a marble slab with an ancient but almost illegible inscription, which the six young men described as having dropped miraculously from the heavens when the Madonna faded from sight.

Processions were organized, candles were lighted and hymns were sung. Then when one of the six young men dashed in breathlessly one night and declared the Virgin had appeared again, the pious started a subscription to erect a shrine at the spot.

The favored six to whom the Madonna deigned to show herself were made custodians of the fund. The local clergy, alarmed at the almost hysterical behavior of their flock and the frantic generosity that had come upon them, at once started a quiet investigation which unearthed the stone cutter from whom the six had bought the ancient slab with a marble top.

The police stepped in, the six confessed they had used the money for parties in Naples, and yesterday the judge handed out a sentence of from three to six months each.

SHORTRIDGE HAS OIL-TARIFF BILL

Senator Will Demand Ban on Importations

Filipino Exclusion Measure to Be Advocated

Californian Will Call on President Today

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Senator Shortridge of California arrived today for the short session of Congress and has an appointment with President Hoover tomorrow to discuss legislative affairs. He said he will advise the President that he is opposed to a special session of the new Congress coming in March 4, next, and will do what he can to prevent such a session.

Another arrival was Representative Evans of Glendale.

Senator Shortridge said he had several measures which he will introduce and press, one of which will be for imposition of a tariff duty of $1 per barrel on crude oil. While American producers are endeavoring to curtail domestic production to protect the future of the oil industry, he declared, thousands of barrels of oil are coming in monthly from Venezuela and other sources.

The Senator also plans to seek an amendment to the law governing purchases by the Army and Navy so these branches will be required to favor American production. Both services now buy large quantities of Australian beef, helpless to do otherwise because the law says they must accept the lowest bid.

"What is the use of having a protective tariff if the United States government itself buys its supplies from foreign countries?" Shortridge asked.

He said he would push vigorously his bill for Filipino exclusion and declared enactment of the measure would not affect the situation in Hawaii where it is contended Filipino labor is essential on the sugar and pineapple plantations.

He also intends introducing an amendment reducing by one-half the requirements for Federal buildings so that smaller cities can have their own postoffices.

GARNER OPPOSES EXTRA SESSION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Representative Garner of Texas, the House minority leader, said tonight he is opposed to an extra session of Congress unless absolutely necessary. He predicted there will be no continuation of the 1 per cent income tax reduction.

Immediate action on unemployment legislation was demanded by Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, who concurred with the party leaders in voicing opposition to any movement to force an extra session.

GERMANY CAN'T BACK SEA FLIGHT

DO-X Inventor Doomed to Disappointment, Says Transport Minister

BERLIN, Nov. 28. (AP) — If the seaplane DO-X flies across the Atlantic it will not be with the financial backing of the German government, Ernst Bradenburg of the Transportation Ministry said today.

Commenting on reports from Lisbon that Dr. Claude Dornier, designer, is on his way here to seek government financial backing, the official said the German budget is accounted for to the last pfennig and there is no possibility of a DO-X appropriation.

The Berlin representative of the Dornier works said today Dr. Dornier had definitely abandoned his plan to fly to New York across the Atlantic. Instead, he said, the plane will fly to South America first and move up to New York along the Atlantic coast.

This change, he explained, probably will make it impossible for the American pilot, Clarence Schildhauer, to guide the ship on her first trans-Atlantic voyage, Schildhauer's leave of absence from his place of employment in America has lasted five months and his employers have notified the Dornier works that he cannot be spared longer.

EX-SENATOR LOSES SEMINOLES' SUIT

MUSKOGEE (Okla.) Nov. 28. (AP) The suit filed by Robert L. Owens, former United States Senator, and other attorneys on behalf of 3119 Seminole Indians, seeking to have all Seminole county oil royalties pooled for the tribe, was thrown out of Federal Court here today by Judge Williams, who held that Owen and his colleagues were without capacity to sue for the Seminoles.

YOUNG'S SECRETARY TO ACCEPT NEW POST

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Vincent D. Kennedy, Gov. Young's executive secretary, said today he will accept a position as examiner with the State Railroad Commission after Governor-elect Rolph takes office in January.

CADETS OPPOSE ROCKNE ELEVEN

Unbeaten Rivals Clash in Chicago Gigantic

Army Depending on Line to Halt Weary Rockmen

Soaring at Trojan Clash May Hamper Notre Dame

BY GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Army and Notre Dame, both unbeaten to the hour of their meeting, are ready. And from 110,000 to 120,000 football fans will see Knute Rockne and his South Bend cyclone go out after a ninth straight victory before starting for Los Angeles and Southern California on Monday.

Just a year ago the Army startled the football world by outplaying an unbeaten Notre Dame team the greater part of the game, only to lose on a 97-yard run by Jack Elder, after the nimble interception of an Army forward pass. The Army today, generally speaking, will ask a minor chance, again to startle one of the greatest football crowds of all time by giving Rockne's dashing raiders an even battle, leaving the final results to the fortunes of war or the breaks of the game.

CLASSY LINE

Major Ralph Sasse and his coaching staff believe that a fighting, hard-charging Army line will be matched somewhat wearily Notre Dame attack just as it did a year ago and give such high-class backs as Bowman, Kilday, Stecker, Fields and Herb a chance to run or pass their way to a winning touchdown.

Notre Dame has been traveling in a hurry since October 4, and even the stretch it lost Joe Savoldi, its most destructive pounding back, with Martin Brill, its best all-around back, has been somewhat badly battered up. Notre Dame reached its peak against Pennsylvania and I doubt that it can come close to the same peak again. The Brill affair keyed Notre Dame up that afternoon and there had to be a subsequent drop, plus the loss of Savoldi. So if the Army can put an alert, deceptive attack into action in this game, it won't be far from an even affair under the conditions mentioned. Certainly no long odds on Notre Dame are justified now.

Football fans have been pouring into Chicago for two days. The crowd will not only break

GRID RANKS OF TROJANS DIMINISHED

Pinckert and Wilcox May Not Be Able to Take Part in Notre Dame Game

The gathering of Troy's grid representatives at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon resembled Napoleon's famous retreat from Moscow but in this case the Trojans were victorious. That 32-to-0 triumph over Washington on Turkey Day depleted Southern California's ranks to such an extent that nine players were unable to take part in the brief workout called by Howard Jones.

Dr. W. H. Fieseler's casualty list included Jess Shaw, Al Plachn, Erny Pinckert, Orv Mohler, Ray Sparling, Bob Hall, Byron Gentry and Rupert Black, plus Dutch Wilcox who was put on the shelf in the Hawaii game. In addition to this group most of the other players were so battered and bruised that S.C. officials uttered a few words of thanks for the two extra days in which to prepare for Notre Dame.

As stated yesterday in these columns, Sparling is out of the Irish contest with a badly twisted knee, while the possibility of either Pinckert or Wilcox being ready is still rather remote. Contrary to other reports Pinckert is still confined to the Good Samaritan Hospital, or was last night, suffering from a bruised pelvic bone. Heat, supplied by electric lamps, is being applied to the injured zone and Pinckert's playing in the Notre Dame game depends on how quickly this treatment can bring relief. Dr. Fieseler said last night Pinckert might leave the hospital today.

Wilcox, Sparling and Gentry were also still at the hospital yesterday, Mohler and Hall being able to leave for their homes. Wilcox was allowed to get up a little while yesterday for the first time since his confinement. Gentry had a cleat

DARTMOUTH AND STANFORD MEET

Pop Favors Green Eleven in Palo Alto Game Today

Intersectional Tilt First This Year on Coast

Eastern Eleven Boasts Fine Record for Season

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 28. (AP)—Dartmouth's Green Indians will face Stanford's Red Indians here tomorrow in the first big intersectional football contest to be played on the Pacific Coast this season.

One of the leading teams in the East, Dartmouth comes west with a record of no defeats and one scoreless tie—with Yale. Stanford's record, not so impressive, includes a scoreless tie with Minnesota and an overwhelming defeat by Southern California.

Records notwithstanding, the slow-starting Stanford eleven is strongly favored in this section to take the measure of the squad from the hills of Hanover.

Dartmouth, with plenty of followers, has among its boosters none other than Coach Glenn (Pop) Warner of Stanford. Old "Pop" was quoted recently as of the opinion the eastern team would win, largely through the advantage of a heavier line.

Coach Jack Cannell of Dartmouth has done no talking and makes no predictions as to the outcome, but from the barred gates of the stadium where the Green Indians worked out this week have come reports of rigorous practice of defense against Stanford's fake reverses and three-man lateral passes.

Concededly stronger on the line, Dartmouth, however, probably cannot match the backfield combination of Stanford.

Part of the proceeds will be turned over to help relieve the unemployment situation in this section. With an advance sale of more than 25,000 tickets those in charge look for an attendance reaching over 50,000 persons.

Comparative records of the teams: Dartmouth 79, Norwich 0; Bates, 20-0; Boston U., 74-0; Columbia, 52-0; Harvard, 7-2; Yale, 0-0; Allegheny, 43-14; Cornell, 19-13.

Stanford 32, West Coast Army 0; Olympic Club, 18-0; Santa Clara, 20-0; Minnesota, 0-0; Oregon State, 13-7; Southern California, 12-41; U.C.L.A., 20-0; Washington, 25-7; California Tech, 57-7; California, 41-0.

Probable line-ups:

Dartmouth.		Stanford.
Sullivan	L.E.	Colvin
Barker	L.T.	Orr
Bromberg	L.G.	Hulen
Andres	C.	Taylor
Hoffman	R.G.	Hardin

HERE'S LIST OF COUNTRY'S GRID CHAMPIONS FOR 1930

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—The college football season now drawing to a close has been a tough one for champions. The 1930 title races in the country's six major conferences have ended with only one champion of 1929 able to repeat outright, the University of Utah in the Rocky Mountain group, although another, Tulane, obtained a tie with Alabama in the Southern Conference.

Here are the champions of the various groups for both years:

Western Conference:
Northwestern and Michigan (tie)	Purdue
Southern Conference:
Alabama and Tulane (tie)	Tulane
Big Six Conference:
Kansas	Nebraska
Southwest Conference:
Texas	Texas Christian
Rocky Mountain Conference:
Utah	Utah
Pacific Coast Conference:
Washington State	Four tied

LA BARBA BEATS TAYLOR

Disappointed Crowd of 8000 Fans Lustily Boos Verdict to Angeleno in Listless Go

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—Some of the ring glory that has come to bristling Fidel La Barba, uncrowned king of the featherweights, in the past few months, turned a bit green tonight under the two-fisted pressure of blond Bud Taylor, Terre Haute veteran, though Fidel managed to gain the decision after ten rounds of casual and uninteresting dueling before a disappointed crowd of 8000.

Most of the gathering thought Taylor, once the nemesis of all the good bantamweights, had earned a draw at least in a battle of left hooks that was fought almost entirely at close quarters. There were no knockdowns and neither at any time was in danger of visiting the floor. Taylor suffered a gash in his left cheek in the second round, and La Barba was cut deeply in the left eyebrow in the fourth.

The boos of the crowd rising steadily throughout the ten rounds, as La Barba rushed constantly to close quarters, and stayed there, reached their height when the decision was announced. The Associated Press score sheet gave Fidel, only recently the conqueror of the flashy Kid Chocolate, a margin in four rounds—the first, second, seventh and tenth. Taylor appeared to have an edge in three—the third, sixth and eighth—with three even.

The blond veteran, without the physical resources he once had, played a waiting game, meeting La Barba's rushes with swinging lefts to the head and body and right uppercuts that dug deep in Fidel's ribs.

Taylor stood up surprisingly well under the husky shots La Barba pumped into his ribs and willingly made the battle one of left hooks. Several times Bud stung the plunging Italian from the Pacific Coast with hooks to the pit of the stomach, but he could not match Fidel's strength and stamina in the lengthy

IDAHO, BRUINS TANGLE TODAY

Westwood Eleven Favored to Win Contest

Vandals and U.C.L.A. Meet for Cellar Title

Spaulding Promises Offense for Coliseum Tilt

BY FRANK BOCHE

Idaho University's Vandals and the U.C.L.A. Bruins of Westwood officially bring the Pacific Coast Conference football season to a close today for local fans when they tangle on the Coliseum turf. The game which gets under way at 2 p.m., really decides the "cellar championship" of the big Coast grid league. Neither the Bruins or the Vandals have won a conference victory this season. One of them should break the ice this afternoon.

For the first time this season the Bruins will enter a conference game the favorites. That is the case today. Leo Calland, former Trojan warrior and now head coach of the Idaho team, has a very small squad and for that reason alone the Bruins figure to win as they will have plenty of reserves to throw at the Vandals. Calland has twenty-four players while the Bruin squad will number forty or more.

The Bruins celebrated their first conference victory last year about this time. They upset the dope by trouncing Montana, 14 to 0. Out at Westwood the boys are confident that their warriors will do something like that this afternoon to Idaho.

The Vandals ran into some hard luck in their last game when they lost Waldemar Pederson, the Galloping Swede. Pederson because of injuries will not be able to face the Bruins today. He was considered one of Calland's best men and his absence will be felt.

Idaho lost to Washington, Washington State, Oregon and Montana. The Bruins have been beaten by Southern California, Stanford, Oregon and Oregon State. In none of their conference games have they scored a point this year.

Bill Spaulding, coach of the Bruins, has uncovered a good defensive team this season but to date they have not displayed anything that looks threatening offensively.

This afternoon the Bruins promise to go on a rampage. The West-

CRIMSON TIDE COMING FOR TILT WITH COUGARS

Southern Conference Champions to Make Third Trip West in Six Years for Classic

BY DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

TUSCALOOSA (Ala.) Nov. 28. (AP)—For the third time in six years Wallace Wade is polishing up an Alabama football machine to represent the South and East in the Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena, Cal.

Formal invitation to participate in the New Year's Day battle between the East and West was received here today and President George H. Denny of the University of Alabama accepted the challenge to meet Washington State, 1930 champions of the Far West.

Twice before a Wade-coached eleven has thrilled thousands who packed the California stadium to see the season's football curtain finale with this intersectional engagement. In 1925 his team won from the University of Washington, 20-19, and the next year tied Stanford, 7-7.

Today's bid came close upon the finish of Wade's eighth and last year at Alabama. Yesterday his team downed Georgia, 13 to 0, completing its schedule unbeaten. He becomes head coach at Duke University at Durham, N. C., next year.

Some observers call the machine Wade has fashioned this year as his best during an eight-year regime at Alabama.

It is virtually a senior team Wade has drilled his main cogs for more than two years and experience has brought them

Meet Villanova Today as Final Test Before Game With Alabama

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28. (AP)—Tall and tough, the Washington State Cougars looked like second cousins of the Notre Dame outfit as they ran through a snappy drill on Franklin Field today in preparation for tomorrow's game with Villanova.

"Just limbering up after the long jump from Pullman, Wash." said Coach Babe Hollingbery as his Pacific Coast champions ran through signals and practiced punts and passes.

"We've had a great season," he remarked, "but that doesn't make us overconfident. Villanova has a habit of winning from favorites, you know. The team is a fine ag-

FIGHT PROMOTERS HIT BY LYNCH'S TESTIMONY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—"Any scandal that has developed in the fight game in San Francisco is due to fly-by-night promoters who present only intermittent cards and skim the cream off the fight profits."

This was the testimony today of Edward Lynch, San Francisco fight promoter and president of the Dreamland Athletic Club, before Governor's boxing investigation board, in session at the Whitcomb Hotel.

Applying his destination specifically to Ancil Hoffman local fight promoter, Lynch said: "Hoffman doesn't belong in San Francisco as a promoter. He's a pretty foxy bird, if you know what I mean."

Hoffman had previously charged that Charles Traung, boxing commissioner, forced him into a 50-50 agreement with Dreamland promoters in the Mickey Walker-Jack

PREP CLASHES ON TAP

Crucial Games Carded This Afternoon; Redondo Faces Covina; Orange Plays Whittier

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Fighting to stay in the running for the Southern California prep football championship, four outstanding Southland elevens will do battle today in the two C.I.F. play-off games scheduled.

Both contests are of equal importance for the winners will advance to the semifinal round, which is carded for next week-end. One of this afternoon's struggles will find Coach Lloyd Waller's Redondo Seahawks and Butter Gorrell's Covina Colts colliding in the new Redondo stadium; while the other will see Stewart "Stew" White's Orange Panthers take on Coach Douglas's Whittier Quakers on Hadley Field at Whittier College.

The Redondo-Covina tussle is a toss-up. Both teams have been defeated this season, the Colts dropping a 12-0 decision to Redondo, while the Pomona Combination held them to a 13-13 tie. Whittier also turned back Gorrell's eleven, 15-6, in a practice game.

Redondo, with Walt Schell on the sidelines, was defeated by Dick Arnett's Inglewood Sentinels, 19-13, and earlier in the year was nosed out by Fremont, 12-7.

TEAMS ON EDGE

Both coaches, Gorrell and Waller, report everything in readiness for the game. Doug Fischer, the Colts' diminutive quarter, has fully recovered from a leg injury, while Schell, who generally bears the brunt of the Seahawk attack, is in perfect condition. Schell has been suffering from a shoulder injury most of the year.

Besides Fischer at quarter, the Colts will present Capt. Glenn Lanphear and John Shields at halves and Wad Timmons at full.

Capt. Seifert will call signals for Redondo, with Schell and Swan Herwer, halves, and Kirk, fullback.

Lloyd Waller, Seahawk coach, seems to be quite a versatile fellow. He and F. R. Shepard, of the Redondo High printing shop, have assembled a football score book, which fills a long felt need for a book of this type.

Prep coaches especially, will welcome this new book, because in the volume can be kept an accurate

WHITTIER POETS WANT CHARITY GAME, CALTECH AND LOYOLA SUGGESTED

The latest college football team to join the ranks of those who want to play for "Sweet Charity" is none other than Coach "Chief" Wallace Newman's Whittier Poets. With the Pasadena Salvation Army acting as go-between negotiations have been opened with Caltech, Southern California Conference champions.

Fox Stanton's Engineers are considering the tussle, which will be played either in the Rose Bowl or, Wrigley Field. Two dates are also being pondered over, Friday, December 5, and Saturday, December 13.

Should Caltech turn down the Poet's overtures, Tom Lieb's Loyola Lions, who are in the market for a post-season struggle, will be approached. Either Whittier and Caltech or the Poets and Loyola would furnish a football dish worthy of any one's cash.

Through no fault of either school, Whittier and Caltech failed to meet this season on the gridiron. The Engineers went through the conference undefeated, while the Poets dropped an early game to Occidental, winning all the rest by large scores. A game between the two elevens would draw very well.

Verne Landreth, head of the physical education department at Whittier, stated last night that Whittier is willing to play a charity game, and would like to see the Poets play Caltech, Loyola or U.C.L.A.

This might be another good chance for the Bruins to get their famed offense working. So far this season it has been rather dormant.

ART SHIRES SOLD DOWN RIVER BY WASHINGTON

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Nov. 28. (AP) Art (The Great) Shires has been purchased by the Milwaukee American Association baseball club for $15,000 cash from the Washington Senators, Lou Nahin, vice-president of the Brewers, announced today.

Nahin said the new first baseman, widely known for his publicity antics, would start spring training with the Brewers.

While Nahin announced no element of trade in the purchase of Shires, local sports writers said there might be some player consideration involved with the St. Louis American League club, which controls the Milwaukee Association club.

FIRST ALL-AMERICAN TEAM TO BE PUBLISHED TOMORROW

The first all-American team of the 1930 season will make its appearance tomorrow, exclusively in The Times. Howard Jones of Southern California, Bob Zuppke of Illinois, Bill Roper of Princeton and Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt have selected this team for the North American Newspaper Alliance. Their stories about the season's games have appeared twice weekly in The Times. They have seen practically every team in the country in action, and their selection is made through their own personal ideas, the opinions of their scouts, and their fellow coaches. This is the authentic all-American. Read it tomorrow in The Times.

CHRISTNER IN REAL DIVE

Small Crowd Sees Walker Win in First When K.O. Hurts Leg After Artistic Pitch Out of Ring

BY EDWARD BURNS

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—K. O. Christner, a heavyweight from Akron, O., injured his right leg tonight in an artistic pitch out of the Coliseum ring in which he had been engaged to fight Mickey Walker, middleweight champion.

Christner, who probably hadn't figured on lighting just the way he did during rehearsals, hit a chair and injured the knee of the right pin.

The successful departure from the fighting premises came fifty-eight seconds after the fighting started and was his second attempt to get through the ropes. It should be said in favor of both artists that there was a little punching before the sad accident to Mr. Christner. The plunge through the ropes was aided somewhat by one of Mickey's lefts.

It may have been that the two gentlemen were not adequately flattered by the turnout of citizenry, fewer than 4000 being on hand.

Walker, the talented but proud performer, is not accustomed to fighting before such small groups, and the outcome was the easiest way, perhaps, to conclude an unhappy evening, not counting on Christner's unfortunate injury of course.

After the dissatisfied fans had been ejected from the hall, taking their cries of "fake" with them, the commission doctor examined Christner's leg and found he had suffered a fractured knee, and a leg hemorrhage. There were no bruises

FIREMEN IN FOOTBALL BATTLE HERE TONIGHT

Bill Blewett's Los Angeles Firemen play their tenth game of the season tonight when they clash with the Arroyo Grande Athletic Club at Wrigley Field. The Firemen have won every game but one, to date. Because of their fine record on the gridiron, the Fire Laddies are heavy favorites to beat the visiting team tonight.

Blewett's outfit is one of the highest scoring teams in the nation. They have trounced college teams like San Jose State and Arizona State in decisive fashion. There isn't a club outfit outside the Olympic Club of San Francisco that stands a chance with the Firemen, E. O. Barnett, athletic director, states.

The Arroyo Grande team is the champion of the Tri-County League. They have beaten every team in their class in San Luis Obispo and Ventura counties. The squad is made up of Oregon State and Santa Clara players.

The line-ups:

Northwestern Places Four Men on Associated Press All-Western Conference Team

BIG TEN STARS GIVEN LAURELS

Michigan, Purdue, Wisconsin Gain Two Positions

Wesley Fessler Represents Buckeyes on Eleven

Harry Newman Selected for Quarterback Berth

BY PAUL NICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (AP)—All five first-division teams in the 1930 championship race placed one or more players on the Associated Press honorary Western Conference football team, but Northwestern topped them all with a quartet of its stars winning berths.

The honorary eleven was selected today for the Associated Press by coaches, active officials and football writers who closely followed conference football fortunes, individually and collectively, throughout the campaign.

Michigan, champion of the conference with Northwestern; Purdue, 1929 title-holder and runner-up this fall, and Wisconsin, who tied Ohio State for fourth and fifth positions in the race, placed two of their players each, while Ohio State landed Wesley Fesler for the third straight year by unanimous choice.

COMPARATIVELY EASY

Framing of the consensus of a large group of football experts was comparatively easy this year, although two or three of the Big Ten's big stars won positions on the first honorary eleven by only two or three votes over their worthy rivals, who were honored by berths in the second team.

Northwestern's honored four were Frank Baker, right end; Wade (Red) Woodworth, left guard; Lee Hanley, right halfback, and Ernest (Pug) Bentner, who beat out his teammate, "Reb" Russell, for the fullback post by a narrow margin. Michigan placed Harry Newman at quarterback and Ray Morrison at center; Wisconsin placed Milo Lubralovich at left tackle and Gregory Kabat at right guard; Purdue placed George Van Bibber at right tackle and Eddie Risk at left halfback, while Ohio State's great Fesler landed at left end with the provision that he would be useful at any football position from fullback to end to coach. Fesler, incidentally, was the only repeater from last year's all-star team as chosen for the Associated Press.

The team, averaging 188 pounds in weight and 5 feet 10 inches in height, stacks up as one of great potential power, especially in the present era of the running attack and the forward pass. It possesses speed, Gibraltic strength in the forward wall, football sense and deception. It lacks some of the pile-driving punch of former all-star teams, but probably possesses greater versatility.

Newman was picked by the majority over John White of Purdue for the quarterback post because he undoubtedly was the one big offensive spark that enabled Michigan's comparatively light scoring machine to win a share of the championship porridge. He was one of the best passers in the conference and won game after game for the Wolverines with his tosses. Newman was hailed during the season as a second Bennie Friedman.

RISK, HANLEY PICKED

Risk and Hanley, picked for the halfback positions, were two of the best running backs in Big Ten football history. Risk, a shifty runner and a hard driver in smashes off tackle, especially, was Purdue's outstanding ground gainer, averaging better than six yards a crack all season. The Purdue star is a junior and his home is Terre Haute Ind. Hanley, brother of Northwestern's coach, was much the same type of player as Risk. His stardom was recognized by the critics as all the greater as he was forced to overcome by sheer football ability the unfair jibes about the "royal family," the "coach's pet" and other remarks aimed at him because he happened to be the head coach's brother. Northwestern fans jeered him as a favorite when he started but he made them cheer for him as a really great football player before he finished.

Rentner, Northwestern's other backfield contribution, was forced out of the Indiana, Wisconsin and Notre Dame games because of an injury, but was voted on the team as fullback. Coach Hanley called him one of the best passers ever to come up to the conference. He was a consistent line bucker and a good kicker.

Baker and Fesler were unanimous choices for the end positions and ranked by most critics as outstanding candidates for the 1930 all-American teams. Fesler enjoyed probably his greatest season at Ohio State. Baker, a great pass-receiving end, was the big cog in Northwestern's scoring machine, tallying 38 points.

MORRISON AT CENTER

Morrison of Michigan beat out Charles Miller of Purdue for the center position in the closest race of ballots in the selections.

The selections follow:

NOTRE DAME RULES STRICT

Joe Savoldi's Withdrawal Reflects Rigid Discipline of South Bend Institution; Democracy Keynote in Association Between Students and Teachers

Bert McGrane has just spent a week with his old friend Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, living at the university and eating with that magic football squad of Rockne's. This is the third of several dispatches by McGrane in which he presents a study and estimate of the famous coach, his methods and football at Notre Dame.

BY BERT M'GRANE

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Nov. 28. (NANA)—When the forlorn figure of jumping Joe Savoldi, one of America's greatest fullbacks, passed beyond the bounds of this picturesque campus, there was gloom in copious quantities where there had been sunshine and anticipation before the departure of the mighty athlete, who foolishly defied Notre Dame law by his secret marriage.

JOE SAVOLDI.

When the blow fell, the gloom enveloped even Knute Rockne.

"He was the big punch; the one they were all afraid of," said Rockne. "Mullins may be just about as good, but he is brittle; he gets hurt too easily. Hanley will be good offensively, but he is green. Howard is fine on defense, but he does not work into our offense so well. But Savoldi's loss hasn't got me licked. It is a costly example, but it proves to the world that we have some rules here at Notre Dame and that we enforce them."

The university refuses to discuss cases of student discipline, but there is no secret to the Savoldi affair. Big Joe is a Catholic. Notre Dame is a Catholic university. The Catholic church does not countenance either secret marriages outside the church or divorce. There is no rule, so far as is known, that prohibits a married man from attending school or playing football at Notre Dame. Savoldi violated a law of the church and the incident proved embarrassing to the university, hence his withdrawal.

The severity of university discipline which lops off the head of one of its most illustrious athletes at the very height of his career, interested me.

AUTOS OUT

Here in a school of 3172 men students, where they have no fraternities and no co-eds, I sought enlightenment on the restrictions and the privileges of the men. I found no great difference in student restrictions from those to be found at other institutions.

Students, except those whose permanent residence is in South Bend, are not permitted to own or operate an automobile. Juniors and seniors may absent themselves from the university up to midnight of any day. Sophomores may absent themselves up to 7:30 p.m. on any day and until midnight twice a month. Freshmen may absent themselves only at the discretion of their rector.

Smoking on the campus, except in the immediate vicinity of the quadrangle, is permissible. Before students are permitted to leave over the week-end they must see to it that a letter to their rector is received direct from parents or guardian. They are not permitted to stay in hotels in cities where they have been allowed to go, unless with their parents.

With more than 3000 students in attendance, 2300 of them are housed on the campus in twelve residence halls. Only the overflow is permitted to live in South Bend homes and even these must be approved by the university.

The student body of 3172 men is 92.7 per cent Catholic, the exact number of non-Catholic students being 241.

Courses are offered in virtually everything except medicine and dentistry. There is the college of liberal arts, education, fine arts, journalism, science, engineering, law and commerce.

More than thirty imposing structures of brick dot the spacious and beautiful campus.

Football, for which Notre dame is famous, has played its part in the growth and development of the University. Football receipts go into the general university fund. The sport, besides paying its own way, foots the bills for Notre Dame's extensive intramural system of athletics. Above all, however, it helps to provide modern buildings and equipment.

Notre Dame boasts that it is one great family. Democracy is the watchword and no better illustration of this democracy is to be found than in the huge new dining hall.

DEMOCRACY REIGNS

Here a vast army of more than 2000 men troops in three times a day. Priests, professors and athletic coaches rub elbows with the students, eat at the same tables. Nearly 7000 meals are served daily in this vast structure. There are no separate tables for the athletes.

Carideo, the all-American quarterback, squeezes into the cafeteria line behind Willie Hamilton, an obscure and underaised little freshman. Father O'Hara may be next and back down the line may be the famous Knute Rockne, talking over his shoulder to Jack Chevigny about football as he takes his salad off the cafeteria rack.

Things of interest are common here, but football, of course, is supreme. This is the capital of the football world, so more about football in succeeding articles.

ARMY FACES NOTRE DAME

a season's record but the general interest over a wide area is sharper than any other game so far has known. Most of the 100,000 or more will be rooting for Notre Dame for two reasons. One is the hip-hip-hurrah over the chance for a record-breaking season. The other is the sympathy of the West against an eastern invader, although the Army team is made up from every sector of the map and is in no sense sectional.

The fact that both teams have remained unbeaten adds further excitement to the contest, although the majority give the Army no chance to win.

Yet the Army has a chance and a fair one. It must first come in outcharging a Notre Dame line, which is no easy matter. But the Army has a fine line, one of the best, and it will be a fresh line thrown against somewhat weary troops. This can make a terrific difference. Big Price should be the best tackle on the field and he will have a lot of support. This will be one of the strongest defense teams Notre Dame has faced all year, possibly the strongest. For there is strength and experience, power and speed, from end to end.

BEST BACKFIELD

The Army to win must first impose its will over the Notre Dame line. When this happens you can stop almost any attack. If the Army can't accomplish this it will almost surely lose, for the Notre Dame attack is faster, more diversified and combines better running and blocking. If Brill is in fair shape, there are still no better backfields than Carideo, Brill, Schwartz, Mullins and Hanley. And it might be remembered that the Army attack is no lumbering affair with Bowman, Kilday, Stecker, Fields, Herb and others around.

Bowman is a high-class quarterback, fast, smart and always on top of the job. There will be two star quarterbacks at work in this game, two of the best in the country. And that should mean few tactical mistakes. The Army's best chance is to catch Notre Dame worn down from the pounding Northwestern battle and still looking in the direction of Southern California. To be caught between Northwestern and Southern California is no oasis for any team and only a squad well supplied with reserves would have even the ghost of a show.

Notre Dame has heard reports and rumors from the west coast that many Southern California supporters are looking for an overwhelming western triumph, something approaching the Southern California-Pittsburgh matter of a year ago. When you consider all these turns and twists it is, of course, ridiculous to figure the Army without a chance.

There is always a big thrill in these Army-Notre Dame meetings, especially to those who look back and recall Dorais and Rockne, Eichenlaub, Gipp, Mohardt, the Four Horsement, Flanagan, Cagle, Murrell, French, Wilson and others who have fought out more than one fast, scrappy battle in the past. But out of the lot there was only one Gipp. It will be Warner's wing-back against Rockne's shift so far as rival attacks go, but the main answer will rest in the condition and skill of the material. By nightfall, at least, there will be one less unbeaten team on the season's list.

The Army's weakness is that its running attack is only ordinary. The Cadets won't stand around, it is true, but I can't see how their backs are going to get away this week. They are not as good as Northwestern's backs, and they will all be outclassed by the Irish runners.

The probable line-ups:

Army.		Notre Dame.
Massinger	L.E.	Host
Rogers	L.T.	Culver
Price	L.G.	Rassis
Miller	C.	Yarr
Humber	R.G.	Maniaci
Price	R.T.	Kurth
Kline	R.E.	Conley
Bowman	Q.B.	Jacykwhick
Herb	L.H.	Koken
Sebastian	R.H.	O'Connor
Fields	F.B.	Brill

Officials—Referee, Joe Masidonbn (Michigan); umpire, John Schommer (Chicago); field judge, H. E. Kearns (De Paul); head linesman, J. J. Lipp (Chicago).

BUCCANEERS AND ROVERS TO MEET

With Will Rogers, rope-throwing comedian, as the principal attraction, the Rovers clash with the Buccaneers on the Uplifters' polo field tomorrow afternoon in a return engagement between the teams. Rogers proved the bright individual star of last week's game when he rolled up a total of five goals and displayed a brand of riding and mallet work that could not be denied, enabling the Rovers to win by a 10-to-6 score. Will Rogers, Jr., 18-year-old son of the comedian, will again ride at No. 1 for the Rovers with his famous dad to back him up at No. 2, Lionel Pedley at No. 3 and Clair Brunson at back.

Rovers.		Buccaneers.
Will Rogers, Jr.	No. 1	Chas. Crawford
Will Rogers	No. 2	Snowy Baker
Lionel Pedley	No. 3	Hal Roach
Clair Brunson	Back	Carl Beal

PEGGY HENRY WINS BRILLIANT MATCH

Peggy Henry, the third seeded star in the girls' singles 15 years and under, won a brilliant straight-set victory yesterday afternoon over June Holmes, 6-3, 6-4, in a quarter-final match of the first annual Beverly Hills Tennis Club open junior tennis tournament, which is being held on the three club courts with Fred Alexander, former world's doubles champion in charge. In the only match scheduled for today, Miss Henry will face May Doeg, seeded first, in a semifinal battle at 2 o'clock. Other matches are expected to be played today, but no definite schedule was announced.

CINCINNATI RELEASES SWANSON TO MINORS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 28. (AP)—Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds, today said three players had been released outright to the Columbus American Association Club.

The trio included Evar Swanson, one of the fastest defensive outfielders in the majors; Kenneth Ash and Marvin Gudat, pitchers.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

RATHER EXPECTED

THE selection of Alabama to play Washington State in the New Year's Day game failed to rouse a ripple of surprise.

It was predicted and expected.

Some of the side-line pickers suggested Michigan and Northwestern, particularly the former because of a tie for the Big Ten championship, as possible representatives of the East.

But there never was a chance for either. A conference rule, which was tightened after the Ohio State came out to be licked by California, 28 to 0, ten years ago, forbids it.

You can talk yourself blue in the face, but you can't override that rule unless the games goes on the schedule when it is made up before the start of the season.

And the Tournament of Roses learned its lesson on that score years ago. Once before the fall's campaigning started, the Pasadena gentlemen selected a team that had all the appearances of an eleven likely to come through the season unscathed.

This team not only failed, but it was beaten several times, and also was licked in the New Year's Day classic.

Pre-season selection has never been tried again.

However, with all due respect to Michigan and Northwestern, I will be quite content to watch Alabama do its stuff against Washington State. This year's Crimson Tide team is said to be better than the one that beat Washington after trailing 12 to 0 in the first half five years ago, and that team was plenty good.

CONCERNING ONE ARBELBIDE

THAT hard-fought struggle between Trojan and Husky Turkey Day furnished more thrills and quick thinking than any other this season. One smart bit of playing that has been generally overlooked occurred right at the start of the game.

And Mr. Garrett Arbelbide, who snagged two brilliant forward passes for gains of 22 and 31 yards in the first quarter, was the hero of this incident.

Washington had won the toss and elected to kick off. Coach Jimmy Phelan sent his men on the field with instructions to trick Southern California and gain possession of the ball with an onside kick.

Arbelbide smelled the play and began running forward before the ball was booted. Apparently the Huskies who were engineering the kick didn't see Mr. Arbelbide loping down the sidelines, and they were surprised when he gathered in the ball on the Trojans' 47-yard line and was downed in the middle of the field by the chap for whom the kick was intended.

It was a smart bit of work by Arbelbide and just as praiseworthy as his pass catching and vicious defensive play. For after all, that was the jump of the game, and the Trojans turned it into their first touchdown in nine plays. And Mr. Arbelbide's 22-yard gain on a pass that he took in on his finger tips was one of those nine plays.

Give the little boy a big hand for the jump—a vital factor in any football game—and the first touchdown.

POOR MR. BRAND

HERE'S what you call a tough break:

Mr. Harry Brand, erstwhile sports editor of an afternoon newspaper in our fair city, took a trip to the hospital yesterday for an appendicitis operation.

There's nothing new in such type of anatomy carving, but the incident occurs at a most unpropitious moment for Mr. Brand's peace of mind.

Mr. Brand is one of those individuals known as a football nut, and he would rather lose a leg than miss the Notre Dame-S.C. game next Saturday.

However, miss it he must, and those tickets he had on the 30-yard line may go to some deserving individual.

Friends of this paper's sports editor might pass him up for a change and phone the Methodist Hospital for Mr. Brand's choice ducats. Aside from his depressed mental condition Mr. Brand was reported doing well after the operation.

PREP GRIDMEN BATTLE TODAY

and complete record of all games played during the season.

Whittier will take the field favored to win from Orange in their struggle at Hadley Field. Coach Douglas's Quakers have one of the most impressive records in Southern California and have yet to meet defeat this season.

Their victories have all been clean cut and rather decisive. In nine games, the Quakers have rolled up 251 points, while their opponents have been held to 28.

Whittier has a veteran aggregation, with Johnny Arrambide, fullback, being the big star. After winning three practice games, from Covina, Brea and Alhambra, the Quakers walked right through the Foothill League, defeating Monrovia, Burbank, Hoover, Muir Tech, Pomona and South Pasadena in the order named.

"Stew" White's Orange Panthers went through their Orange County League schedule without a defeat, running up 130 points in six games, while the opposition chalked up 32.

SEMIFINALS NEXT

The winner of the Whittier-Orange tussle will meet Long Beach High next week-end, in the semifinal round, while the winner of the Redondo-Covina affair will take on Santa Barbara. Sites of both games will be announced later by Seth Van Patten, director of athletics for the C.I.F.

In a game that will go far in deciding the Class B, or lightweight championship, of Southern California, Coach Leon Miner's Huntington Beach Oilers will take on the San Diego High babes today on the Hilltoppers' gridiron.

The Orange county champions, Huntington Beach, have had a very successful season and have high hopes of drubbing the southerners. So far Coach Miner's crew has played ten games, four practice and six league encounters, winning nine of them and tying one. Capistrano Class A eleven was held to a scoreless tie by the Oilers, while in the other nine battles, Huntington Beach registered 163 points to the oppositions' 27.

Thirty-three players are making the trip to San Diego today.

LIONS ANXIOUS TO REGAIN BEST FORM

Ted Le Roy's Gilmore Oil Lions, champions of the Southern California amateur hockey league last season, will attempt to get back into the running for this year's title when they meet the Union Oil Pirates at the Winter Garden tonight. The Lions have so far failed to click, but Le Roy feels confident that his men will start pushing forward with a victory tonight. The Los Angeles Millionaires are on the road and tonight will meet the Oakland Checkers in the north, in a professional game.

WALKER WINS OUT IN FIRST

to indicate where Walker's wicked blow, if any, had landed.

Christner made his first effort to get through the ropes in the first fifteen seconds of fighting, but in seeking a spot to land, looked right into the face of Chairman Clinnin, of the boxing commission. Apparently he decided this was no place to get knocked out of the ring so he and Mickey made one circle of the ring and found a spot occupied by telegraph operators.

Defying all possibility of being electrocuted by the telegraph wires, Christner took a good look at the spot below then went through the ropes.

As previously related, the young man had the misfortune to become tangled in a chair that wasn't there in the afternoon, and his injury resulted.

FRESNO STATE ENDS SEASON UNDEFEATED

FRESNO, Nov. 28. (AP)—While a little more than a half-dozen colleges all over the United States were pointing with pride to their football records of no defeats and no ties during the 1930 season, Fresno State College was defeating the University of Nevada here yesterday, 6 to 0, to wind up its season undefeated and untied. Fresno is the champion of the Far Western Conference.

The Bulldogs, after a disastrous season last year, have won eight consecutive games this season and have not been tied.

FULLERTON, SANTA ANA JAYSEES MIX TODAY

SANTA ANA, Nov. 28.—Despite a rain-soaked field, postponements, injuries and ineligibilities, football teams representing Santa Ana and Fullerton Junior colleges will renew their ancient rivalry tomorrow afternoon at Fullerton and at the same time, climax the Jaysee football careers of at least eleven Dons who are completing their second season in the familiar Red and Black Don jersies.

SANTA ANA, FULLERTON TANGLE NEXT FRIDAY

SANTA ANA, Nov. 28.—After a conference today between Coach Gerald Oliver of the Santa Ana High School football team and Coach Ernie Johnson of the Fullerton High School, it was announced that the Saints-Indian game, postponed yesterday on account of rain, would be played here next Friday.

MIDWINTER NET TOURNEY ON TAP

Scholastic Tennis Matches Under Way at Fullerton

With the third round being reached in both the girls' and boys' singles, the eighth annual Southern California midwinter scholastic tennis tournament began yesterday morning on the twelve courts of Fullerton High School, under the direction of T. H. Lodge. A few third-round battles were played yesterday afternoon, but the majority of them were postponed, and will be played at 8:30 this morning.

Sixty-four boys were entered in the singles. The four seeded stars, in their respective order, are Jay Cohn, two time national boys' singles champion, from Santa Monica High; Gene Mako, Glendale High; Frank Parker, national boys' doubles titlist of Black Foxs Military Academy, and Leonard Patterson of Hollywood High.

Thirty-four entered the girls' singles. The two seeded players, Ruby Bishop of Westridge, first, and Jane Sharp of Pasadena Junior College, second, both entered the quarter-finals today. Play will continue throughout the day, with the finals in the events being staged in the afternoon.

CLOSE BATTLES FEATURE MIDWICK NET PLAY

Several close matches yesterday featured the opening rounds of the Midwick Country Club junior tennis tournament for boys 13 years and under, which is being held on the Midwick courts under the direction of Walter Wesbrook, famous professional. First-round matches in the boys' singles were played today, with a few second-round encounters being run off. Play in the doubles will commence today.

Bobby Riggs, seeded second, defeated John Houghton after a hard three-set battle, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2, in a second-round duel which proved to be the closest match of the day. Young 11-year-old Maurice McLaughlin, Jr., son of the famous celebrity of years past, displayed some of the characteristic qualities of his father in his straight set win over Stevenson, 6-1, 6-1. Yesterday's results and today's schedule follow:

Trio of Swim Stars Arrive From Hawaii

A trio of outstanding native Hawaiian swim stars came in from Honolulu on the Lasaro liner Calawaii yesterday to join the Hollywood Athletic Club team of Coach Clyde Swendsen. They are Maiola Kalili, Johnny Woodd and Manuwella Kalili. Maiola Kalili was second only to the great Buster Crabbe in the past summer's matches at Long Beach. He beat Crabbe in the 440; swam a dead heat with him in the 880 and forced Crabbe to a new world's record in the 330-yard medley. He also swam the back stroke under previous world time, forcing Kojac of New York to a new record to win. They may make independent appearances before participating with the Hollywood team in the season opening in April.

Price Names Five Trojans on All-Coast

BERKELEY, Nov. 28.—Nibs Price has picked an all-Coast team, and he announced it over the radio tonight. His selections follow:

Ends — Arbelbide, Southern California, and Ebding of St. Mary's.

Tackles—Edwards of Washington State and Hall of Southern California.

Guards—Beckett of California and Baker of Southern California.

Center — Hein, Washington State.

Quarterback—Duffield, Southern California.

Halfbacks—Pinckert of Southern California and Kitzmiller, Oregon.

Fullback—Rothert, Stanford.

ANAHEIM CEES WHIP EL MONTE BABES, 13-7

EL MONTE, Nov. 28.—Ed Kroutil's Anaheim Midgets, Class C champions of the Orange grid league, finished their 1930 season by scoring a 13-to-7 victory over Coach McNichol's El Monte Littlemen, champions of their division in the San Gabriel circuit.

Anaheim's speedy backfield, operating behind a fast charging line, paved the way for a touchdown in the second period, with Uyeshima going over the goal line to climax a concerted 40-yard drive. He also converted. Uyeshima passed 25 yards to Ruiz, who continued 30 yards to score the second Anaheim goal in the third quarter. El Monte never threatened until the last two minutes of play, when Yamakawa broke through left tackle for a 15-yard jaunt to the Anaheim goal line.

Anaheim (13)		El Monte (7)
Macaray	L.E.R.	Noland
Kidd	L.T.R.	Taylor
Hunt	L.G.R.	Marchman

TWO AMERICANS IN ENGLISH TRACKFEST

CAMBRIDGE (Eng.) Nov. 28. (AP) Two American Rhodes scholars will be running for Oxford in the annual Oxford-Cambridge relay races here tomorrow. They are E. W. Goodwillie, who is entered to run both the 400 yards and the half mile, and P. L. Hovde, half-miler. Goodwillie is a former track star of the Chicago Athletic Club and Cornell University, who came to England with the Cornell-Princeton team that ran against Oxford-Cambridge in 1926. Hovde was quarterback on the University of Minnesota football team. Both competed in the relays last year.

SONS BATTLE SHEIKS IN SOCCER CONTEST

The fast stepping Sons of St. George and the Hollywood Sheiks hold down the spotlight tomorrow afternoon at Loyola Field. This game will feature a double-header which the city league is staging. Hollywood has not been beaten this year and for that reason will rule heavy favorites to beat the Sons. The early game at Loyola Field brings the Richfield Oilers into action against the Magyars. The Red-shirts are the favorites. Two games are on tap at Tournament Park. The L.A.A.C. faces the Victorias and the Scots play the Vikings.

MENLO, BAKERSFIELD VIE FOR TITLE CHANCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Menlo Junior and Bakersfield Junior, sectional title winners, will meet here December 6 for the right to compete in the finals for the State junior college football championship. The winner will meet either Compton or Riverside, Southern California semifinalists. Bakersfield captured the Central California title and Menlo marched to the California Coast Conference crown.

BIG JOKE COPS RACE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Big Joke showed heels to the rest of the field to win today's feature race at Tanforan track. Sole entry of George J. Miller, famed jockey in the days of racing at Emeryville, Big Joke whizzed through the mud to cover the mile and seventy yards in 1:49 2-5 by a two-lengths lead. San Clemente, owned by Ole Hansen and ridden by R. West, was second, and Clarabel A. of the Pasadena stable, with Andy Fischer up, was third.

COOK WINS IN SLOW LEGION GO

Anzac Heavy Beats Elliott a Fans Go Home

In what was perhaps the most uninteresting bout ever staged at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, George Cook, Anzac heavy, won a decision over Chris Elliott of Alhambra last night.

Most of the rounds were even more some of the others were even worse than that. The two boys seemed everything else but boxers as mauled, tugged and jostled each other all over the ring.

The fans, after amusing themselves by throwing programs, peanuts and newspapers into the ring, tired and started leaving and at the end of the affair, just a handful of boxing reporters were left. She had to stay.

The only reason Dubi Kosoff didn't stop the scrap and call it "no contest" was because the boys actually seemed to be giving their best. And their best was none too good.

After losing the first two rounds, Jackie Mandell rallied and took a decision from Benny Pels in the six-round semi-wind-up. Mandell copped the third and fourth, the fifth was even, while the last round went to Mandell.

Pickles Heintz won all the way from Frank Rudinsky in the six-round special event.

BELVEDERE A.C. MEET FIREMEN

What is expected to develop into a titanic football game will be played tomorrow afternoon at Knickerbocker Field when the Belvedere Athletic Club eleven meets with the strong County Firemen's grid team. There is considerable rivalry between the two clubs and is expected to account for a real hard-fought struggle. The B.A.C. will probably take the field a slight favorite due to its more impressive record and large number of former high-school grid heroes in its ranks. On the Belvedere roster are to be found such former greats as Swede Swedo, Ray Swedo, Bruno Bruno, Walt Thomas, Leo Dolan, Ace Theriot, Bill Dolan and Bud Hedricks.

RACE PILOTS CAVORT AT SAN JOSE TODAY

Race drivers, some thirty in number, will journey to San Jose today to compete in the program to be held on the five-eighths of a mile track there tomorrow. The ten-lap sprints and a thirty-lap feature are included on the Northern card. Herman Schaus, Billy Cummings, Billy Winn and Francis Quinn will head the group of pilots from this section.

Ralph De Palma will not compete in the event. The famous Italian is "pointing" for the 1931 grind at the local Legion Stadium speedway one week from tomorrow and has his car torn down to make several changes.

TIGER PUCKS WIN OVER MILLIONAIRES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—A former Millionaire player was a Tiger and rough ice-hockey game last night for the San Francisco team by breaking a tie with the Los Angeles Millionaires in an overtime period. The score was 2 to 1.

The former Millionaire, Bobby Headley, carried the puck half way down the ice in the extra period to score single-handed and win the game for the San Francisco team. Tigers drew first blood when Johnson Scott banged the puck in in the opening session. Don Gibson evened the score for the Millionaires in the second frame.

HAWKINS WHIPS JOHNSON

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Tom Hawkins, San Diego heavyweight, won the decision over Bad News Johnson, Bakersfield, in a ten-round bout here tonight. It was the first appearance of Hawkins here in about a year, the boy having recently returning from the east.

GORILLA JONES LOSES

ERIE (Pa.) Nov. 28. (AP)—Jack Jones, Akron Negro, was the decision over Gorilla Jones here tonight, when he won a ten-round decision over Jack Brady

Anzac Heavy Beats Elliott as Fans Go Home

In what was perhaps the most uninteresting bout ever staged at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium, George Cook, Australian heavy, won a decision over Dutch Elliott of Alhambra last night.

Most of the rounds were even and some of the others were even worse than that. The two battlers did everything else but battle, and mauled, tugged and hauled each other all over the ring.

The fans, after amusing themselves by throwing programs, peanuts and newspapers into the ring, tired and started leaving and at the end of the affair, just a handful of boxing reporters were left. They had to stay.

The only reason Duke Kenworthy didn't stop the scrap and call it "no contest" was because the two actually seemed to be giving their best. And their best was none too good.

After losing the first two rounds, Jackie Mandell rallied and took the decision from Benny Peis in the six-round semi-wind-up. Mandell copped the third and fourth, the fifth was even, while the last round went to Mandell.

Pickles Heintz won all the way from Frank Rudinsky in the six-round special event.

TIGER PUCKS WIN OVER MILLIONAIRES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—A former Millionaire player won a fast and rough ice-hockey game here tonight for the San Francisco Tigers by breaking a tie with the Los Angeles Millionaires in an overtime period. The score was 2 to 1.

The former Millionaire, Bowser Headley, carried the puck half way down the ice in the extra period to score single-handed and win the game for the San Franciscans. The Tigers drew first blood when Jackson Scott bagged the rubber in the opening session. Dan Carrigan evened the score for the Millionaires in the second frame.

HAWKINS WHIPS JOHNSON

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Long Tom Hawkins, San Diego Negro heavyweight, won the decision over Bad News Johnson, Bakersfield, in a ten-round bout here tonight. It was the first appearance of Hawkins here in about a year, the Negro having recently returning from the Middle West.

GORILLA JONES LOSES

ERIE, (Pa.) Nov. 28. (AP)—Gorilla Jones, Akron Negro, met his Waterloo here tonight, when he dropped a ten-round decision to Jackie Brady, Syracuse (N. Y.) welter, in a fast bout. Brady conceded his opponent weight, reach and height, but cleverly outboxed him to win five rounds against three for Jones, with two even.

BASEBALL NOTES

The return of Marty Callaghan to the Pacific Coast League next season recalls to memory the remarkable batting record he compiled while playing with Seattle in 1927. From the opening day of the season, March 30, to 153 games inclusive, he took part in 624 times at bat with no fielding errors. Callaghan batted 304 putouts and 16 assists in the field. George (Rip) Van Haltren, veteran Coast League player to collect 3000 hits in a single season, made his record of 204 one-base hits in 1904. Batting with Seattle in 1904, Van Haltren's similar record during the last eight seasons of Coast League baseball. Harold Lee Angeles of Los Angeles, announcing the services of Ira Thomas next season the local team will have another one of the greatest backstops in the game. Bonetti has compiled a batting mark of .396 during his two years in the Coast League with Seattle and Los Angeles, and the Missions. He batted .400 in home runs. Bonetti's batting record for the Coast League:

	G	AB	H	R	Pct.
1928	83	310	123	71	.397
1929	198	784	310	177	.395
1930	103	384	152	84	.396
Totals	447	1688	677	379	.401

Lil E. Stoner of the Fort Worth club of the Texas League buried a man under seven base hits in one game last season, when only four pitchers were used by San Antonio batsmen during contest. The complete nine-inning contest from start to finish was only one batsman to reach first base on a pass. This lone player to reach initial sack was counted dashing around the circuit with the run that gave the Fort Worth team a 1 to 0 victory. Stoner is the only player in baseball history to perform the feat of winning both halves of a split season game by the same score. Stoner won the first half and gave Fort Worth the championship of the second half triumphant in the playoff series. Five years later, in 1930, he was traded to the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League and in the first game of the season defeated Los Angeles in the 1930 season by defeating Los Angeles 1 to 0. Although Hollywood was awarded the Pacific Coast League championship in 1930 by defeating Los Angeles in the final game of series, it is interesting to note that the Angels defeated the Stars in the only three of the thirty-four games played between the two teams during the season and exhibition games.

YORK, Nov. 28.—The leading team in the East this Saturday will be the State-Villanova, game for the unemployment fund at Philadelphia. Villanova has the lion's share of the pro-ing charity.

Penn State is champion of the East. It is a big, powerful team and outweighs Villanova's only chance is power. Usually a west-team has had more success in the game than an eastern team in these games. I favor Washington State.

Washington is on the Pacific coast to play Stanford. In my opinion the change of climate for a long trip will be too much of a handicap for Dartmouth. Stanford is not quite as good as usual, but I figure it to come with the odds in favor of the westerners.

Georgetown has a better record than Boston College, and should win by a few scores. Georgetown is a fast team, and while I expect Fordham to win, I doubt if Georgetown will be strong enough to win.

Other games: Holy Cross vs. Detroit; Notre Dame vs. Carnegie Tech; Washington State; Washington vs. Southern Maryland; Western Reserve vs. Stanford; Texas Christian; Centre vs. Vanderbilt.

ROCKEFELD HIS SUPPKE

By BOB SUPPKE
Football Coach

YORK, Nov. 28.—The super-men of Notre Dame backs, in action will win for the Irish over Army Saturday, just as Northwestern. The best I think the Cadets is an outside

I give my impressions of strength and weakness as to the Army-Illinois game. Illinois' great strength is defense. Cadets have a whale of a good line from tackle to tackle and also strong defensive backs. The line and ends are not as defensively than North-western, I think. Price, left tackle, is the best tackle I have seen this year. He is a strapping 234-pounder who gets around beautifully and you will find him stub-born.

Army linemen are faster than any others I have seen this year. The Cadets can charge and tackle hard. They will be the Irish backs have to watch. The Cadets appear to have great vitality and seem able to stand up under punishment. They are well-coached and fashioned with good legs—a rare thing—a spindle-legged player gets anywhere.

The thing that is that the Irish and Army will be about a standoff. Edwards and the other Notre Dame backs will break up many plays.

Prediction: Notre Dame, 14; Army, 7. The game should decide it. The weather is at ouside chance. Others: Detroit, Likely to be upsets of New Orleans: Anything may happen. Duke, Duke.

Edwards, known on the gridiron as "Turkey the Great" and the Notre Dame backs, Mel Hein and Turk Edwards, 238-pounders, are rated as four of the leading players on a team which seems to have everything a football coach requires.

Villanova's only chance to beat Notre Dame or hold them even lies in a fast game, in the opinion of experts. The Wildcats will be fast and less experienced and will have to be able to pierce the Notre Dame line.

Pacific Coast champions, Washington State will play Alabama in the post-season New Year's Day game at Pasadena.

Brentwood, California Meet Today

Brentwood and California muster their forces today with the memberships of both clubs meeting in a team match event over the Culver City course. Approximately 150 golfers from each club are expected to enter. Play is in foursomes and games will be made up as players make their appearance at the first tee. In a feature foursome, Fay Coleman and Tom Stevens of California face Chuck Ward and Olin Dutra of Brentwood.

ability and power. A sophomore fullback, "Hurry" Cain, is about the only newcomer on the first eleven, although the second team—which plays about as well as the first—has several sophomores and juniors.

This boy Cain was given a tough assignment—that of replacing an all-American fullback, Tony Holm—but he has come through in great style, calling signals and kicking and passing like a veteran.

The Crimson Tide has rolled up 247 points to 13 for its opponents. It played eight conference games in a row, including four of the strongest in the South—Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Kentucky and Florida—on successive week-ends.

As Alabama takes the field on New Year's Day, Wade, a guard on the Brown University eleven which lost to Washington State in the first Rose Bowl game in 1916, will have opportunity to avenge the lacing his team-mates took fourteen years ago.

Indications are special trains will run from Alabama points to the Pacific Coast and Gov. Bibb Graves has already announced his intention to head the State's delegation.

BAILEY SAYS ALABAMA VERSATILE GRID TEAM

ATLANTA, Nov. 28. (AP) — Buck Bailey, line coach of Washington State, told the Atlanta Journal today in a dispatch from Birmingham that "the West is going to see one of the most versatile teams in the country."

Bailey scouted the Alabama-Georgia game yesterday which the Crimson Tide took, 13-0.

He said the highlight of the game "was Alabama's fine tackling and blocking." He praised the work of Caln and Suther of Alabama in running with the ball, and termed the work of Campbell in his returning a punt behind interference "the best of the game."

"For pure unadulterated power I haven't seen a team in three years with as much power as Alabama showed against Georgia," he said. "And imagine how tough Alabama can be when they the throwing forward passes."

GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA COMING FOR CLASSIC

MONTGOMERY (Ala.) Nov. 28. (AP)—Gov. Bibb Graves promised today that he would head a delegation accompanying the University of Alabama football team to Pasadena for its game with Washington State, January 1, next.

"The invitation to Alabama shows that the Tournament of Roses officials know a football team when they hear about it, even if they don't see it in action," said the Governor.

"The Tide has the punch and power to repeat its past performances. You might add that the Governor of Alabama will head this State's delegation to Pasadena for the game."

GOV. YOUNG PLEASED AT PROSPECT OF MEETING GRAVES

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Gov. C. C. Young expressed pleasure when informed today Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama planned attending the Alabama-Washington State football game at Pasadena, January 1. He said the pressure of work in connection with the Legislature opening on January 5 and change of administration would prevent him personally representing California at the game.

"We will be exceedingly glad to welcome Gov. Graves here," Gov. Young said. "I'll find out if the Tournament of Roses officials want me represented there and if so I'll arrange to have Lieutenant-Governor Carnahan or some one else do it. I regret the pressure of business will prevent my attending in person.

"We hope if Gov. Graves can come north during his stay in California he will visit the Capitol."

HOLLINGBERY SAYS IT IS GOOD NEWS TO HIM

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28. (AP) "That is good news to us," said O. E. Hollingbery, head coach of the Washington State College football team, when told today Alabama had accepted an invitation to play the Cougars in the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena New Year's Day.

The Washington team, which is here to play Villanova College, heard the news while working out on Franklin Field of the University of Pennsylvania where the game will be played tomorrow.

"Alabama has a splendid record in the Southern Conference and in the country in general," said Hollingbery. "We realize Alabama has a powerful and well-trained team. It will be a great pleasure to meet Alabama in the Tournament of Roses."

J. H. Bohler, director of athletics at Washington State, said "It will be a real opportunity for Washington State to play Alabama at Pasadena. The tournament is not new to them, as they defeated University of Washington and tied with Stanford on previous trips. For this reason it will be quite a feather in the cap of the Cougars should they defeat the southerners in the post-season game."

COMMERCIAL CLUB AND ROYAL GIANTS TO MIX

With their line-up strengthened by the addition of Jack Rothrock, Boston Red Sox star; Charlie Dorman, slugging outfielder of the Indianapolis Indians, and "Scoop" Wright, Montreal shortstop, the Commercial Club Winter League team is confident that it will knock over the league-leading Philadelphia Royal Giants in their double-header at Wrigley Field tomorrow.

The colored club, which bowled over the Shell Oilers and Kelley Kars in their last four starts, is away out in front in the Winter League's first half race but the Commercials believe they can pull the Giants down.

Jim Turner, sensational young Hollywood right-hander who has twice beaten the Giants, will be on the mound for the Commercials in the opener, while Hollis Thurston, Brooklyn veteran, is expected to hurl in the nightcap. Charleston and either Foster or Brett will pitch for the Giants.

With George Suttles, colored home-run king, and Johnny Moore, Fuzzy Hufft and Dorman in the rival line-ups a lot of heavy hitting is expected. Ladies will be admitted free. The opener begins at 1:30 o'clock.

wooders claim they will open up and trample the Vandals underfoot. At that, it is a pretty tight spot for Bill Spaulding. If his team doesn't beat Idaho there is bound to be a lot of wisecracking about his coaching, and if he does win the same lads will chirp—"Well, they figured to cop that one."

The Vandals arrived here yesterday afternoon, and immediately hiked to the Coliseum where they ran through some plays. Davis, Hanford, Berg and Wilkie, the starting backfield of Idaho, are a shifty looking quartet.

June Hanford is a Los Angeles boy. He graduated from Manual Arts High School. He is likely to be one of Calland's real threats this afternoon. Fred Wilkie, veteran fullback, is another the fans should watch today.

The Idaho team that starts against the Bruins may outweigh the Westwooders by a few pounds but, taking it all in all, the teams seem evenly matched on paper with the U.C.L.A. boys having a slight edge because of their reserves.

Five Bruins will be playing their last game for the Westwood institution today. Buddy Forster, Ruben Thoe, Maury Goodstein, Ed Milum and Capt. Eddie Solomon will be in there for the last time for the old alma mater.

Spaulding has announced that he will start Bob Decker, a sophomore, at right half, but late dope from the training quarters indicates that Forster will get the call.

Leo Calland when coach of the Whittier Poets, slapped the Bruins several times when U.C.L.A. was known as the Branch, and played in the Southern California Conference. Times have changed since that time, however, and the Bruins are now out in new quarters at Westwood and playing in "big league" competition. Perhaps Big Bill will get even with Leo today.

Last year the Bruin students ripped up the goal posts when their team beat Montana. In addition, they had a merry time with John Law when the coppers tried to hold them back. Just what they would do with all that extra lumber in the Coliseum today if they win is hard to figure out.

At any rate, it looks as though the boys are going to turn in an interesting football game this afternoon. Let's go.

The line-ups:

Bruins.		Vandals.
30 Wellendorf	R.E.	Norby 12
42 McMillan	R.T.	Paul 31
6 J. Duncan	R.G.	Lopes 2
23 Goodstein	C.	Stanley 19
5 Jones	L.G.R.	Crokery 23
44 Norfleet	L.T.R.	Bessler 5

INDUSTRIAL GOLFERS IN TOURNEY TODAY

Despite inclement weather, over 200 mashie wielders will tee off at the Montebello Park Golf Club this afternoon in the fourth annual golf tournament of the Recreation and Athletic Association of Southern California.

Last year the permanent trophy was won by the team representing the Southern California Telephone Company, while in 1928 the Goodyear Rubber Company annexed first honors. The supremacy of these two teams will be challenged this afternoon by the strong City Engineer's team. Entries from the Union Pacific Railroad, Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, Adams-Goodman Company, and General Petroleum Corporation will afford keen competition.

GUERRERO AND McCOY IN MAIN-STREET GO

Joe Guerrero, Mexican lightweight champion, and Stafford McCoy will clash in the six-round wind-up on the Main Street Athletic Club card tonight. Guerrero will be the favorite but the youngster has an impressive record, having won eighteen starts, nearly half of them by knockouts. Joe Pimenthal and Louis Ramos, a pair of slugging 126-pounders, will clash in a second six-rounder on the card. Three four-rounders completing the card are: Vincent Martinez vs. Damaso Anchustegin, 130 pounds; Pete Saavedra vs. Henry Garbell, 126 pounds, and Eddie Bagio vs. Pete Pina, 120 pounds.

GOLFERS TO USE BIG BALL IN TOURNAMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Outstanding amateurs and professionals entered in the $7500 open golf tournament here December 4-7, next, agreed today to use the big ball exclusively during the event. Play will be over the Olympic Club course. A preliminary qualifying round will be held here next Monday to trim down the large field of contestants.

Hanley, Kerr to Organize East Eleven

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Officials of the annual East-West Shrine football game, to be played here December 27, next, announced today Andy Kerr of Colgate and Dick Hanley of Northwestern, who will coach the eastern team, will meet in New York tomorrow to organize their squad.

Two University of Wisconsin players, Milton Gantenbein, end, and Milo Lubratovich, tackle, already have agreed to play, while invitations have been extended the following:

Hank Bruder, halfback; Lee Hanley, halfback; Wade Woodworth, guard, and Frank Baker, end, all of Northwestern; Wesley Fesler, end; Sam Selby, guard, and Bob Horn, halfback, all of Ohio State; Leo Draveling, tackle, and Jim Sumrall, quarterback, both of Michigan, and George Ross, fullback of Indiana.

FREEMAN, JACKSON BOUT SCHEDULED IN JANUARY

Tommy Freeman, welterweight champion, will go through with his postponed Sammy Jackson bout here in January. The title-holder's plans for this year were blasted by sickness shortly after he won the crown from Young Jack Thompson at Cleveland.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams received a letter from Freeman yesterday stating he was not trying to run out of the match as had been intimated. He said he hoped to be a "fighting champion" in 1931.

Jackson goes to the post Tuesday night at the Olympic against Paulie Walker, New York Italian, in what promises to be one of the best welterweight battles since Ace Hudkins and Sergt. Sammy Baker fought their historic struggle at Wrigley Field in 1927.

Walker and Jackson are wrangling over the weight, but it doesn't mean anything. They are to make 147 pounds—give or take a pound.

The two fighters are so evenly matched that a pound or two either way makes little difference. Both are talking of a knockout.

Judged by the way Walker finished Sammy Aguirre in forty-nine seconds he is a quick starter. Jackson was unable to stop Bucky Lawless until the last minute of the final round when they fought.

The great showing of Walker in the gymnasium makes him an even bet, although he has only been seen in one bout here. His two-handed attack is more spectacular than the methodical Jackson.

When Walker takes his workouts at the Main-street gymnasium the critics gather about his ring because he lets loose with his best shots. The negro, on the other hand, takes his time.

Louie Avery is in better shape for his second start in the semifinal next week. He meets Rita Punay, Filipino slugger. The Oklahoma lightweight was a bit wild when he beat Teddy Palacios.

Willis fight. Traung took the witness stand to refute Hoffman's assertions. He expressed "surprise" at the testimony.

"Hoffman either forgot the real facts or there is an intent to injure my reputation," said Traung.

The commissioner said he referred the contracts which Hoffman and the Dreamland interests had signed with the fighters with the attorney's office and had been advised in each case by Deputy Attorney-General Wetmore they were O.K.

It was on the strength of this opinion that he tried to get both sides together in a joint card, the witness said, and not because he favored Dreamland interests as against Hoffman's.

Questioned by John Sinclair, member of the investigating board, Traung denied he knew that the "Monarch Club, Inc.," Hoffman's organization, was not actually incorporated, when the boxing permit for the February fight was issued. "I didn't know that," Traung said.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Nov. 28. (AP) At the close of an undefeated football season for Marquette University announcement was made today that Melvin Brosseau, star halfback, was married to Virginia Larsen, Chicago, several months ago, in the presence of relatives who were pledged to secrecy. Brosseau is eligible for one more season of football.

SONNENBERG TURNS DOWN TWO LOCAL MAT OFFERS

"Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, is not anxious to meet any one of the three top-notcher grapplers Promoter Lou Daro has here in line for a title bout unless he receives a very attractive offer for such a match.

The mat king wired the local promoter to that effect yesterday in turning down two offers made him to wrestle at the Olympic, December 10, in defense of his title.

Sonnenberg stated in his wire that he would be forced to either cancel or postpone at least two scheduled matches in order to come to Los Angeles for such a match, and as Don George, local sensation, Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former champion, and Henri De Glane, Greco-Roman mat king, were about the three most dangerous contenders for the title in the field today, he could not risk his title unless he was given a guarantee that would warrant the risk.

The second offer wired Sonnenberg late yesterday was said to have been as large as the biggest the mat king ever received for a title match at the Olympic. The only bigger one he ever received on the Coast was for the title match with Everett Marshall at Wrigley Field.

Daro stated yesterday that he expects to select the grappler who faces Sonnenberg in the proposed bout here in December, sometime today. He will choose from George, Lewis and De Glane.

WASHINGTON DEFERS ELECTING CAPTAIN

With the vote tied between Bill Marsh, halfback, and Paul Schwegler, tackle, election of a captain for the University of Washington football team today was deferred until next fall.

Bud Walton, student manager, said that so far as he knew, Coach Jimmy Phelan had made no plans to do away with a seasonal captain and instead name a leader before each contest. Coach Phelan could not be reached immediately for a statement.

(Above) Cincinnati Test in action at Fountain Square. Here you see "Rip" passing out the 4 masked cigarettes and asking smokers to give him their taste-verdict.

Cincinnati Smokers give it victory in 7 out of 8 "precincts" in city-wide taste-test of 4 Leading Cigarettes

"Well, I got my wish! I've been hoping for something more exciting than the usual OLD GOLD walk-away victory.

"And . . . believe it or not . . . in my latest, OLD GOLD almost lost!

"It happened in Cincinnati. For three days, I tested smokers in every walk of life. They sampled the four leading brands with names concealed . . . picked the one each liked best.

"One small group of 14 smokers turned in a verdict against OLD GOLD. But at Shipley's Restaurant, the Cincinnati Enquirer, the Times Star, Cincinnati Post, Crosley Radio Co., Advertisers Club and Cincinnati Club, OLD GOLD maintained its winning streak.

"Which only goes to show that, while OLD GOLD may lose in small tests, you can't defeat it in groups large enough to be truly representative of the American taste in cigarettes."

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Again the gorilla-man harshly voiced his demands. Cringing, the blacks moved sullenly toward the hiding places of their women and children. Presently they returned, dragging them behind; by the arms sometimes, but usually by the hair. The gorilla-man proceeded to examine the captives, pinching their flesh and pounding upon their backs and chests as one examining cattle. Soon he halted before a young woman. "This one will do," he said and seized her savagely with one great hand. Then there arose from the silent foliage above them the fierce and terrible scream of the challenging bull-ape!

In new terror the simple blacks looked upward. The gorilla-man raised his hideous face in snarling anger toward the author of the challenging cry. Swaying upon a leafy bough they beheld such a creature as none of them had ever looked upon before, a white man, a Tarmangani, with hide as hairless as Histah, the snake. Then the spear in the hand of the stranger drove forward. The shaft sped downward with the swiftness of light, and buried itself in the heart of the Bolgani. With a scream the gorilla-man crumpled, struggled a moment on the ground, and then lay still in death.

The blacks stood in stupefied wonderment when the white man dropped from the tree among them. In terror they raised their spears menacingly against him. "I am your friend," the man said, "I am Tarzan of the Apes. Lower your spears." He turned and withdrew his own weapon from the carcass of the Bolgani. "Who was this creature that came into your village," he asked, "to steal your shes? Who was he that you dared not drive your spears through him?" "One of the great Bolgani," replied a warrior. "One of the chosen people of Numa, the Emperor."

Thereupon arose loud lamentation. "When Numa learns he has been killed in our village," continued the man, "we shall all die for what you have done." "Who is Numa?" demanded the ape-man, to whom "Numa," in the language of the great apes, meant only "lion." "Numa is the king of kings who lives in the king's hut of glittering stones," the man replied in awed tones. The other warriors during this speech were talking together in excited groups a few paces away. As Tarzan turned again toward them they spread into a semi-circle before him and he saw they meant to bar the way to him.

AVIATRIX CLEARED IN COURT

Mrs. Juanita Eloise Burns Exonerated of Charges of Giving Bad Check

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 28.—The "short" check charges brought against Mrs. Juanita Eloise Burns, 24-year-old nationally known aviatrix, by R. S. Epperson, San Gabriel cleaning shop proprietor, were dismissed in Alhambra justice court today by Judge William H. Northrup when it was proved that there were sufficient funds to cover the check at the time it was written.

Under cross-examination by Defense Attorney William J. Clark, Epperson admitted that he bought the asserted short check for its face value, $5, from a Montcrey Park restaurant man. Mrs. Burns stated that Epperson brought it to her home at 280 South Union avenue, Los Angeles, with an $11 cleaning bill and threatened to have her arrested if she did not pay both. She denied owing him the cleaning bill, stating it was acquired by her brother who lost his life in an automobile accident last May. The aviatrix also testified that she had never given Epperson a check and he agreed that she did not.

Five Hurt and One Car Burns in Two Crashes

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 28.—In two accidents which occurred at almost the same spot two hours apart, five persons were sent to the San Clemente Hospital and Clinic, and one machine burned, the occupants barely escaping with their lives. Two other cars were turned into tangled masses.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Jumonville, 3878 Thirty-fifth street, San Diego, were riding north with their son, P. Jumonville, Jr. In attempting to stop to pick up a person on the Coast highway, their car skidded on the wet pavement and turned over. Mr. and Mrs. Jumonville sustained serious cuts and abrasions all over the head and body, and were taken to the hospital.

Two hours later, when the machine driven by H. Donogh of 2254 Fourth street, San Diego, reached the same spot, the driver attempted to pass a truck and ran head-on into a machine driven by F. H. Alviso, Coalinga.

The Alviso car burst into flames and Officer Harry Comber, who happened to be near, rescued its passengers. Miss Eunice Allen, Coalinga, and Miss Ellen McKenzie, Visalia, passengers in the car, were cut and bruised severely. Miss Bernice Small, occupant of the Donogh machine, had her teeth knocked out in the impact. Dr. Garnet B. Grant treated all of the injured who are confined to the hospital. C. L. Burns was also a passenger in the Donogh car. None of the men suffered serious cuts.

WOMAN IN COURT ON COT GETS JUDGMENT

ONTARIO, Nov. 28.—Trundled into court on a cot, Mrs. C. H. Crawford heard a verdict given by Superior Court some time ago, upheld by the Fourth District Court of Appeal, by which she and her husband are awarded $6000 damages from Maj. G. Foster, local automobile dealer, and Frank M. Martens, employed by him as a salesman and demonstrator. Mrs. Crawford was injured September 28, 1929, when Martens, driving an automobile in which she was receiving a demonstration of its ability, struck a dip and Mrs. Crawford was thrown to the top of the car and then to the floor, injuring her back so she has been confined to her bed since. The damage case was heard before a jury in Superior Judge F. A. Leonard's court, and a verdict given in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford. Foster and Martens appealed the case, but the appeal was lost. Mrs. Crawford was brought into court on a cot. She informed the court she is unable to arise, due to the injuries received.

IDEA WILL PROVIDE JOBS

President W. R. Osborn of Huntington Beach Chamber Initiates Novel Improvement Plan

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 28.—The Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign to find work and give work to the unemployed here. This morning the chamber opened up registration headquarters in its offices on Coast Highway and Fifth streets and all residents out of work may register there with Mrs. May Jackson, secretary.

W. R. Osborn, president of the local chamber, conceived an idea for giving the home men work. For many years there has been a high, rugged bank along the Pacific Electric tracks and residents have wished that the bank could be removed and the grounds beautified. Osborn took the matter up with the City Council, suggesting that the bank be cut down and leveled off even with the tracks, giving local men, day labor. Mayor S. R. Bowen, always ready to promote the welfare of the city and the citizens, fell into line, and it was agreed by the Council to appropriate funds for the work.

The next step was to get permission from the property owners to cut away the bank. President Osborn got into communication with the owners, the Pacific Electric Company and the Huntington Beach Company.

Engineers from the Pacific Electric Company visited the site and an agreement was reached with them to have the work done. James S. Lawshe, Los Angeles, manager of the Huntington Beach Company, accompanied by company engineers, came here on Wednesday and visited the site. President Osborn, Councilmen C. H. King, E. G. Conrad, E. B. Stevens, B. Butcher and City Engineer Merwin Rossen joined them and inspected the grounds. Final agreement was reached to grant the permit.

Work will start as soon as Engineer Rossen gets the drawings ready for the work. Earth will be removed from four blocks of bluff and oil fissures will be filled in. All will be done by day labor, no machinery being used on the job.

Ninety-six thousand dollars is to be expended in improvements on the streets on the east side of the city and Osborn expects to go before the City Council next Monday evening asking them to have the work done under the city's management, using local labor. He will ask them to not give the work out on contract.

Rites Conducted for Mrs. Maclay

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 8.—Funeral services were conducted today from the Noble Undertaking Company chapel, with interment in Forest Lawn, for Mrs. J. C. Maclay, wife of Mayor J. C. Maclay, who died at her home following a stroke of paralysis. She was 58 years of age. For years she had been prominently identified socially and in Woman's Club circles in Southern California. At the time of her death she was chairman of the history and landmarks section of the Los Angeles district of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Maclay was Isabel Rice Granger. Nearly fifty years ago she came to San Fernando with her parents and for a time lived at the old San Fernando Mission. She was a charter member of the San Fernando Valley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and was Regent from 1923 to 1925. She also was president for two years of the San Fernando Ebell Club, which organization later was succeeded by the Cosmos Club.

Mayor Maclay is the only immediate member of the family surviving.

SITES CONSIDERED FOR NEW THEATER

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 28.—A number of sites, suitable for the location of a new theater, are under consideration here by the United Artists' Studio Corporation, in the announcement received from Harry Brand, publicity manager of the corporation. He states that Huntington Park is being given consideration in the corporation's expansion program, and that definite announcement will be made within the next thirty days. It has been recently announced that the United Artists are planning twenty-five new theaters in the State.

JUDGE DEHY TO SIT FOR B.F. WARMER

Jurist From Independence on San Bernardino Court Bench Until End of Year

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 28.—Selection of Superior Judge William D. Dehy of Independence, son-in-law of Byron Waters, pioneer San Bernardino attorney, has been selected to sit in the San Bernardino County Superior Court from today to December 31.

The assignment was made at the request of Presiding Superior Judge Charles L. Allison, to fill the vacancy in the department of Judge Benjamin F. Warmer, now sitting as a pro tem justice in the Fourth District Court of Appeal. Announcement of the appointment was made in a letter received by Judge Allison from Presiding Justice William H. Waste of the State Supreme Court.

With Judge Warmer absent, the Superior Court calendar has become clogged with the two remaining departments unable to handle the court proceedings. The calendar for December averages five cases per day and there are sixty on the waiting list.

While the assignment of Judge Dehy ends December 31, he was instructed to remain until all submitted cases have been decided, or to hear any motions on cases heard in his court during the assignment.

DR. SIMON NORD TO GIVE TALK ON HEALTH

LA CRESCENTA, Nov. 28.—Health and how to attain and retain it will be the subject of a lecture to be delivered Tuesday night at the home of Dr. Albin Peterson of 2712 Foothill Boulevard, by the well-known nerve specialist, Dr. Simon Nord. The recent address on the nervous system by Dr. Nord was of such interest that he has been invited to speak on the "Digestive System." the lecture is entirely free.

He declares that the American people are living so fast that they haven't time to pause for anything. He will endeavor to show his hearers that there is time for everything and that it is possible to keep fit in spite of the pace that they say is likely to kill.

YOUTHS HELD FOR SHERIFF

Francis Benedict and William Hunt Believed Linked With Bank Robbery in Middle West

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 28.—Believed definitely linked with a bold bank robbery at a small town near Lincoln, through fingerprints from the local Sheriff's office, Francis Benedict and William Hunt, 22-year-old vagrants, now in the County Jail, were said by Sheriff Clem Sweeters to have admitted today that they are wanted for a crime in Nebraska.

Although the pair did not confess to the bank robbery, their admission was construed by officers as a virtual confession. Benedict was born in Nebraska, while Montana is Hunt's native State.

Deputy sheriffs from Lincoln are en route here to take the two suspects into custody. They will be returned to the capitol city of the middle western State for questioning in connection with the hold-up. Details of the crime were lacking yesterday but it was said by Sweeters the two received only $600 of the looting of the bank. It is not known whether they were the only ones involved in the robbery which was staged at Nemaha on October 15, last.

Benedict and Hunt were arrested about two weeks ago at Blythe and committed to the county road camp for two-month terms on vagrancy charges. Fingerprints and photographs of the pair, taken shortly after being lodged in jail, were, in the ordinary course of the identification routine, furnished to the National Bureau of Criminal Identification at Washington. It was there that the fingerprints were compared with others obtained at the looted bank, and found to match exactly.

Nebraska authorities were notified and through a long-distance telephone message later confirmed by a telegram, the Nebraska Sheriff asked that the two be held on suspicion of having participated in the hold-up.

CHARGES MADE IN WILKE CASE

Pasadena Police Chief Avers Failure to Co-operate

Judge Riccardi and Joslyn, Prosecutor, Scored

Loss of Drunk-Driving Trial Declared Their Fault

PASADENA, Nov. 28.—Charges made by Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley that Police Judge Leonard Riccardi and Prosecutor John W. Joslyn had failed to co-operate with the police in prosecuting Royal G. Wilke, Los Angeles deputy City Attorney, who was exonerated on liquor and reckless-driving complaints, split the new Hall of Justice personnel into rival camps today.

Blaming an "unfriendly judge and city prosecutor" for loss of the liquor and intoxication cases against Wilke, Chief Kelley scored Judge Riccardi in no uncertain terms for dismissing the charges against the Los Angeles deputy City Attorney before the case came to trial.

HARD ON POLICE

"I have never known of similar charges being dismissed against a defendant in this city," asserted Kelley, "without first communicating with me or the arresting officers, and it is impossible for the police to maintain their morale in the face of such unusual procedure."

Mrs. Wilke, who faced intoxication and reckless-driving charges, was found not guilty by a jury on the driving charge and exonerated on the other charge which was dismissed when the jury announced it was deadlocked, ten to two, for acquittal. Her case was tried last Friday and Wilke's case, which had been set for December 5, was dismissed on motion of his attorney on the ground that the evidence in the husband's and wife's cases was similar.

Chief Kelley was bitter against Prosecutor Joslyn who reported himself ill and failed to appear when Mrs. Wilke's case was called. Joslyn's place as prosecutor was taken by George Friend, local attorney, whose usual role is defending instead of prosecuting liquor-case defendants. Kelley intimated that he did not believe Joslyn was so sick that he could not have prosecuted Mrs. Wilke. The police chief asserted he did not believe Friend had any time to prepare to argue the case when he was requested to "pinch hit" for Joslyn.

"HEAVY BLOW AT JUSTICE"

"The dismissal of the complaints against Wilke," said Kelley, "makes it appear that the five police witnesses deliberately perjured themselves, and certainly represents a heavy blow at justice in Pasadena."

Judge Riccardi declared he had no apologies of any sort to make concerning the handling of the Wilke cases. "If anyone has any objections, he should produce them in open court instead of carrying the fight to the newspapers," he asserted.

Prosecutor Joslyn reaffirmed his contention that he was too ill to appear in court and asserted that the result of the case against Mrs. Wilke indicated it would not be worth an extra expense of $300 to prepare the transcripts needed to bring her husband to trial.

Man Partially Blinded Kills Self With Gun

GLENDALE, Nov. 28.—As the aftermath of a Fourth of July explosion, in which he lost the sight of one eye and sustained other injuries, John Edward Larson, 25 years of age, of 761 West California avenue, today shot and killed himself, sending a revolver bullet through his head.

Larson's lifeless body was discovered by his mother, Mrs. George G. Larson, when she returned home after an absence of several hours.

Larson and several others were injured when a batch of explosives, which they were mixing to make into torpedoes, blew up, severely injuring two of the party and inflicting minor injuries on others.

MRS. DAIC ELECTED

OWENSMOUTH, Nov. 28.—Mrs. J. W. Daic of Calabasas was elected Worthy Matron of the Owensmouth chapter of the Order of Eastern Star at the annual meeting of the members. Other new officers are Miss Elsie Mathews, Mrs. C. E. Turner, Mrs. W. B. Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Hume and Mrs. T. H. Fowles. They will be installed December 16, next.

BANDIT ROBS GIRL CASHIER

He Covers Miss Hazel Dahl, Niece of Glendale Cafe Man, With Gun, Rifles Cash Register

GLENDALE, Nov. 28.—Covering the girl cashier with a heavy revolver, a soft-voiced bandit last night looted the cash register of the Bliss Cafe, 1913 North San Fernando Road, of $12, walked calmly out past an entering customer and drove off in a small car that was standing at the curb with the motor running.

Miss Hazel Dahl, niece of E. C. Bliss, the owner, was on duty late last night when the bandit entered. After eating a lunch, the robber tendered a bill and asked for change, and as the girl opened the cash register, he slid the revolver over the edge of the counter, shielding it behind the register and ordered Miss Dahl to lie down on the floor out of sight of any passerby.

After taking the money he ordered the girl to remain on the floor for five minutes.

As he walked out of the cafe he met L. Waldron, 1009 Allen avenue, but the latter did not suspect that the place had been robbed until Miss Dahl arose from the floor and summoned police.

Detective-Sergeant Warwick and Detective Freeman found that the car used by the bandit bore license plates from another State.

Improvements May Be Started to Give Work

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 28.—Something substantial in the way of "turkey" for the unemployed started fattening here on Thanksgiving Day when city officials agreed tentatively with the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce in that organization's proposal to start improvement work by initiative action of the Council on at least one street in the northern district of the city, thereby giving employment to a large force of men.

It was believed property owners along other streets in the high-class residential area would start petitioning for similar improvements if the City Council, more or less arbitrarily, ordered the job on the selected thoroughfare, through application of the Commissioner of Public Works. That official, John Morton, declared himself in favor of the plan. Some objection on the part of property owners was anticipated, and the outcome of the proposition will rest with the number of objectors at the legal protest date, it was stated.

The fact that many of this city's best residential streets are badly in need of resurfacing was held out as an argument in favor of immediate action. Another argument was the comparatively cheap price of materials at the present time. E. R. Parker, chamber president; A. R. Pratt, past president, and others, have indorsed the idea.

Continuance in Statutory Case

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 28.—Each being charged with a statutory offense, Fred Freck and Mrs. Frankie Crane were before Judge Carson Hubbard of City Court today, where they entered pleas of not guilty, and hearing has been continued until next Friday.

Freck was shot in the left side of the neck late Thursday night of last week while at his apartment. Mrs. Emma Marie Freck, his wife, while visiting him at the Mission Hospital Monday morning, was arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon on Freck. Officers state that she has asserted she fired the shot to frighten her husband.

Later Freck and Mrs. Crane were arrested on the statutory charge, being asserted the latter was in the same residence at the time of the shooting and was preparing a cup of coffee for Freck.

The Frecks separated in Toledo in 1927, it is said.

Two Crashes n City Coincident

ONTARIO, Nov. 28.—Two persons were injured in two separate automobiles in different parts of the community at the same time, according to reports made to the police department.

J. A. Pittenger, 524 Plaza Serena, was cut and bruised when his automobile collided at the intersection of A street and Campus avenue with a car driven by C. E. Robinson of Ontario.

According to Pittenger, Robinson was ordered to stop by a traffic officer because of a faulty headlight. Robinson's machine stopped so suddenly Pittenger's car crashed into the rear of the Robinson machine.

Mrs. W. B. Davy suffered injury to her back when thrown from her car in a collision at Archibald avenue on Colton Road. The car driven by her husband was in a crash with a truck driven by Estel B. Schmoe, 1019 East Forty-eighth street, Los Angeles.

CLAREMONT LEGION ANNOUNCES MEETING

CLAREMONT, Nov. 28.—Claremont American Legion will hold an important meeting in their new headquarters building Monday evening to discuss and complete arrangements for the district convention, which will be held here on December 19. Committees on arrangements for the convention will be appointed at that time by Commander Roy Thurman.

ELKS NAME DIRECTOR

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 28.—A. T. Larson, secretary of the local Elks' Lodge, was unanimously elected to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting of that body yesterday. The choice was made to fill the vacancy arising from the recent transfer of M. E. McIntosh, manager of the Associated Telephone Company's interests here, to San Bernardino. Larson is a former newspaper man.

CITRUS MEN IN CAPITAL INCREASE

Olive Heights Association Stockholders Vote for Doubling Present Figure

OLIVE, Nov. 28.—Stockholders in the Olive Heights Citrus Fruit Association have voted almost unanimously to increase capital stock from $75,000 to double that amount, and to expend $75,000 on a precooling plant, Manager Ben Cole reported today.

The project will handle sixty cars of fruit in storage, and will aid materially in handling the coming large crop of orange and lemons from member groves. The association has a membership of 150, representing 2000 acres of fruit.

Record Shows Valley Annex as Taxpayer

VAN NUYS, Nov. 28.—The San Fernando Valley Annex this year approximately will pay one-twenty-eighth of all taxes to be collected for municipal purposes in Los Angeles city, and more than 4 per cent to be collected by the county, according to the figures of Frank M. Keffer of Van Nuys, who each year makes a segregated compilation of the Valley Annex tax lists.

The total amount of regular and special taxes to be collected in the valley this year is $8,332,129. That part of the valley area in Los Angeles, and known as the Valley Annex, will have tax bills of $3,161,967 for city and county purposes, and $738,643 for special tax district requirements, making a total of $3,950,610. This is a total net reduction from last year's taxes of $53,731. The reduction in the Valley Annex for city and county taxes is $124,449, but this is offset by an increase of $70,717 in special district taxes.

The entire valley, including the cities of Burbank and San Fernando, which are separate municipalities and are not in the Valley Annex area, will produce this year city and county taxes aggregating $4,543,485, which is a reduction of $123,840.

Burbank shows an increase of $11,427 in its total tax bill due to increases in the municipal and school rates. The assessed valuation of nonoperative property in Burbank was reduced almost $2,000,000 from last year's figures. Assessed valuations throughout the valley show reductions ranging from 3 to 15 per cent lower than last year.

Native Son of California Dies

VENTURA, Nov. 28.—Frank J. Sifford, native of California, and resident of Ventura county since 1869, died at 11:30 p.m. yesterday at his home here following a long illness. He was 66 years of age.

Born July 17, 1864, in Nevada county, Sifford came to Ventura county with his parents five years later. He received his education in the local schools, and in 1880 married Cora Bonestel.

For years Mr. Sifford was in the transfer business here, and later became a rancher on the old Dixie Thompson ranch east of Ventura.

His father crossed the plain in 1854, and was married in 1859 in Nevada county, where he mined for some years.

Besides his widow, he leaves his mother, Mrs. Surilda A. Sifford; and a sister, Miss Ella Sifford, both of Ventura.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p.m. Saturday, followed by burial in Evy Lawn Cemetery. A full Elks' service will be conducted at both the chapel and at the cemetery.

Magazine Boosts Antelope Valley

LANCASTER, Nov. 28.—The Antelope Valley Ledger-Gazette today mailed out several thousand copies of its new magazine supplement entitled "A Story of Achievement and Transition in Antelope Valley." The supplement is in magazine form, 10 by 16 inches in size, highly colored and containing photos of the finest half-tone quality. The issue is declared a credit to the publishers, Cameron & Hubbard. Almost every column of the fifty-page magazine gives the history and present development of Lancaster, Palmdale and other towns in Antelope Valley.

Several scores of copies of the magazine have been mailed to various public libraries in the Middle West and East to be permanently filed in reference room files. These are the files tourists say they always consult to determine in what part of Southern California they intend to live before they begin to trek westward.

LEE SHIPPEY SPEAKS TO GLENDALE WOMEN

GLENDALE, Nov. 28.—Lee Shippery, Los Angeles Times editorial writer, is scheduled to address the Glendale Business and Professional Women's Club Monday, next at the Tuesday Afternoon Club. Shippey will speak at a banquet to be held at night.

STRANGE MAN SHOOTS GIRLS

Demetrios Zampas Then Dies by Bullet From His Gun

Employees of Western Union Wounded at Counter

Mary Harvey, Hazel Moyer, in San Diego Hospital

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 28.—Stepping up to the counter in the Western Union telegraph office today, a man later identified as Demetrios I. Zampas, a cook of Greek parentage who formerly lived in Seattle shot two girl employees of the telegraph company with an automatic pistol, and then turned the gun on himself. He died soon after without regaining consciousness.

Mary Harvey of 4504 Cherokee street, counter clerk, was shot through the stomach, and although seriously wounded, is expected to recover. Her fellow-employee, Hazel Moyer, who lives at the Y.W.C.A., was shot through the leg by one of the four shots fired by the stranger. Police believe that Zampas was insane.

The only witness to the shooting was R. P. Low, who was in the Western Union office writing a telegram. He told police he did not see Zampas enter and that he paid no attention to him until he moved toward the counter, mumbling to himself, and started firing.

Resumption of Old Schedule on Air Lines Urged

GLENDALE, Nov. 28.—The aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by H. Park Arnold, will prepare a resolution to be submitted to civic groups in Los Angeles and other adjacent territory urging their support in a movement to have the recently curtailed aerial service on the San Francisco run of Western Air-Transcontinental planes restored to its former schedule.

The Grand Central Air Terminal was placed in the category of a flag stop a short time after the consolidation of the two air-passenger companies, the officials basing their action on the presence of power wires and other obstacles that, they contended, constituted a risk for their passengers and pilots.

As part of the wires now have been removed, the chamber committee declares that the service could be restored with advantage, and the resolution will be presented to the officials of the lines with the request that the old service be placed in operation again.

According to Dr. T. C. Young, president of the chamber, a direct appeal must be made to the air-line officials, backed by the united support of those organizations in nearby districts that are best served by the Grand Central Air Terminal, as the air companies are not under the control of any regulatory commissions, as are other carriers.

Lions Club Aids in Providing Dental Work

ONTARIO, Nov. 28.—Through generosity and foresight of Ontario Lions' Club, many needy adults and children of the community have received dental work that has done much to help the general health situation, according to Dr. C. L. Emmons, city health officer.

Last year the club made possible through financial assistance, the establishment of a dental clinic for the city's poor, to be operated in connection with the city health department.

Since the clinic was opened in May, 1929, more than 280 children of indigent parents have been treated for acute dental disorders. Each child is required to pay 35 cents on the first visit for dental work, and 10 cents for each subsequent visit, according to Dr. Emmons.

Four local dentists have donated one hour of their time a month for serving the clinic.

Chicken Served on Dime Dinner

BELL, Nov. 28.—A chicken dinner at 10 cents per plate was a feast which was greatly enjoyed by 400 boys and girls of the Corona school Wednesday, it being necessary for the principal of the school, Mrs. Georgiana Ritchie, to scour the neighborhood for additional fowls before all were served. Later in the afternoon several dozens of baskets of food were given the needy by the schools in this vicinity, causing many families to enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner yesterday.

SECRETARIES MEET AT TORRANCE TODAY

TORRANCE, Nov. 28.—With Carl Hyde, executive secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, as host, the Commercial Secretaries' Association of Southern California will hold its regular session here on Saturday. Hyde is president of the secretaries' organization, and will have as speaker C. A. Gummere of Long Beach, who will present the fourth of a series of talks and will speak on "Personality and Responsibility of a Secretary."

Burl Martin, secretary of the Whittier Chamber of Commerce, is assisting in the arrangements, which, following a luncheon program here, include a visit to the Redondo Beach plunge and ballroom as guest of the Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce.

SPECIAL VOTED BY UNION BANK

Directors Declare Extra of $2 on Capital

Disbursement Equals Rate Paid Last Year

Earnings for 1930 Estimated at 1929 Levels

Directors of the Union Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles have declared an extra cash dividend of $2 per share, amounting to $100,000, to be paid on December 10, next, to stock of record December 5, according to an announcement yesterday by Ben Meyer, president. This is in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 per share, totaling $87,000, which was also declared payable to stock of record, December 24.

Declaration of the $2 extra dividend in addition to the regular annual disbursement of $7 set the 1930 dividend basis at $9 per share, which was the rate established in 1929.

In commenting on the action of the directors, Mr. Meyer said that the earnings of the bank for 1930 will be as good and possibly slightly better than 1929.

"This result to some extent, at least, was achieved by conservative methods of management and close application to the affairs of the bank by both officers and employees," said Mr. Meyer.

"The business of the Union Bank was only slightly influenced by the bull market and expansion of 1928 and 1929, and, consequently, suffered little reaction in the depression of 1930. I look for improved general conditions in 1931, and continuing stability with gradual improvement of earnings for this bank."

Sunset Pacific Oil to Await Sale Proposal

Stockholders of the Sunset Pacific Oil Company will be called into a special meeting some time in December to elect directors for the coming year and possibly to consider a proposition for the sale of the company, H. L. Carnahan, president, states in letters going forward to stockholders today.

Presumably referring to the reported offer from the Tide Water Associated Oil Company, Mr. Carnahan explains in the letter that a proposition has not yet been submitted that the directors would recommend to stockholders, although it has been hoped that such an offer would be ready in time for the annual meeting on December 8. In the event that such an offer is made, the proposition will be submitted at the special meeting.

Because of this circumstance, the regular annual meeting will be called to order and adjourned without the transaction of major business, according to the letter.

Canada Has New Wheat Pool Head

WINNIPEG, Nov. 28. (AP)—John L. McFarland of Calgary was appointed general manager of the Canadian wheat pool's central selling agency today and began his work at once.

Announcement of his appointment stimulated a recovery of wheat prices on the Winnipeg exchange after a slump had carried them at midday to 2 cents a bushel under the opening figures. The market closed half a cent lower to one-quarter of a cent higher. Cash wheat closed at 61 1-8 cents a bushel.

The new general manager said he would accept no salary for his services in disposing of the pool's present holdings of wheat. He accepted the position, he said, with a sense of responsibility in what he considered a national emergency.

Two Industries Declare Extra

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. — Extra dividends were declared today by Tobacco Products Corporation and Westmoreland, Inc., holding corporations of Westmoreland Coal Company.

The tobacco extra was 15 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly of 20 cents a share, payable on Class A stock February 16, next, to holders of record, January 22. The coal special was 80 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly of 30 cents, payable January 2, next, to stockholders of record December 18. Westmoreland paid a similar extra last year.

INDIAN MOTOCYCLE OPERATES AT LOSS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) Indian Motocycle Company and subsidiaries today reported for the nine months ended September 30, last, loss from operations of $479,434 and total loss, including loss on sales of securities of $492,599. In the 1929 period the loss from operations was $405,957 and net loss after $211,997 profit from the sale of securities was $193,960.

LIBBEY-OWENS-FORD GLASS NET LOWER

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company earned 61 cents a share on 2,325,952 common shares for the year ended September 30, last, according to a report issued today. In the 1929 year the company earned $1.83 a share on 1,854,352 common shares.

OCTOBER BUSINESS SLACKENS

Federal Reserve Bank Survey Reveals Duller Industrial Activity

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Isaac B. Newton, chairman of the board of the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank, said today October brought further recession to business in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District. Trade and agriculture held about even, he said, but industry was less active and many commodity prices moved downward.

The agricultural output of the eleven far-western States will be greater than last year, the monthly survey forecast. Wheat stocks were sharply reduced by large exports from Puget Sound and Columbia River ports, but stocks on hand remain large.

Prices for grapes and apples were depressed by the large shipments from the west slope to eastern markets. Dairy products failed to make the usual seasonal improvement in prices. Rains benefited farms and ranges for live stock.

Industrial activity reflected the need for further readjustment of supplies to demand, especially in production of raw materials. Reductions of labor forces accompanied slowing of output of lumber, crude and refined oil and copper.

Price of Crude Cut by Cosden

BIG SPRING (Tex.) Nov. 28. (AP) The Cosden Oil Company today announced a cut in crude oil prices, effective immediately.

The new prices were announced as 50 cents per barrel flat, the old scale having been 50 cents per barrel below 25 deg. gravity, and a differential of 2 cents per barrel for each degree above 25.

CURB SEAT PRICE SHOWS NEW GAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) Arrangements were made today for the sale of a membership on the New York Curb Exchange for $105,000. This represents an increase of $5000 over the last previous seat sale.

BANK CREDIT VOLUME DOWN

Reserve System Reports $5,000,000 Decline in Week to $1,022,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ending the 26th inst. as reported by the Federal Reserve banks, was $1,022,000,000, a decrease of $5,000,000 compared with the preceding week end of $508,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1929.

The Federal Reserve Board's weekly review added that on the 26th inst. total Reserve Bank credit amounted to $1,028,000,000, an increase of $25,000,000 for the week. This corresponds with an increase of $83,000,000 in money in circulation, offset in part by decreases of $39,000,000 in member bank Reserve Bank balances and $6,000,000 in unexpended capital funds, etc., and increases of $10,000,000 in monetary gold stock and $4,000,000 in Treasury currency.

Holdings of discounted bills increased $29,000,000 during the week, the principal changes being increases of $7,000,000 each at the Federal Reserve banks of New York and Richmond, and $3,000,000 each at Philadelphia and Cleveland.

The system's holdings of bills bought in open market declined $2,000,000 and of Treasury certificates and bills, $8,000,000 while holdings of United States bonds increased $7,000,000 and of Treasury notes $1,000,000.

ESTATE TAX CHANGE URGED

Payment in Bear Market Prices on Bull Market Appraisal of Securities Believed Inequitable

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Assessment of securities for inheritance-tax purposes on bull market prices and payment of the tax on bear market quotations is a pertinent problem worrying large holders of securities. In the last year there have been a good many instances in which estates have been unable to sell securities at prices sufficient to pay the inheritance taxes.

As the result of what appears to be an inequitable basis of appraisal, agitation is arising among wealthy men, who customarily hold large blocks of stocks and bonds, for a change in the method of arriving at the inheritance tax on securities. These men feel that amendments to the State inheritance and the Federal estate laws should be seriously considered in order to remove the apparent penalty on the estate holding securities.

HARDSHIP WORKED

As an illustration, the case is cited of an estate holding a large block of an industrial stock that was one of the speculative favorites in the recent bull market. The stockholder died near the top of the market, and under the law, the value of the stock was fixed as of the date of his death. But by the time the inventory of the estate was filed and appraisal made, the stock had declined to the point where liquidation was unable to satisfy the tax claim.

Having heard of many of these instances, men of considerable wealth have been known recently to revise their wills to provide against such contingencies so far as possible. Charitable bequests are radically scaled down in order to insure the immediate family adequate protection in the event the taxpayer chooses the wrong time to die.

Appraisal as of date of death may also be unfair to the estate if pools are working in a stock. The death may occur when the price has been worked to artificially high levels after which the market price may decline to more normal levels after the pool has completed the liquidation of its stock.

The proposition, of course, works both ways. Securities appraised in a bear market may be sold a few months later on a higher market, the estate thereby benefitting. The problem is to work out a method of tax computation equitable to both parties.

METHOD SUGGESTED

One suggestion is to amend the law to provide a fixation of values as of the date of appraisal without regard for the date of death. As the law now reads the estate has eighteen months to pay the tax before interest is charged. If fixation of value is allowed as of the date of appraisal it would be possible to choose any time within eighteen months to begin the appraisal.

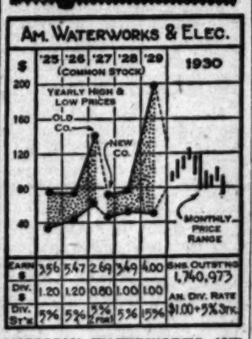
Another possibility that would appear fair to both the estate and the government would involve the computation of average values over the twelve months preceding death. Such a method would smooth out the peaks and valleys in price curves, although more work in the appraisal of real property would be entailed.

In California's case, any change in the Inheritance Tax Act would be ineffective unless a similar change were made in the Federal estate law. Inheritance tax experts point to the amendment incorporated in the California act in 1927, which allows the State to take advantage of the Federal provision allowing an 80 per cent credit of the Federal tax. If the State tax is less than 80 per cent of the Federal tax, the State builds up its tax to absorb the full amount of the credit.

HAT DIVIDEND PASSED

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (Exclusive) Knox Hat Company, Inc., omitted today the quarterly dividend of $1 a share on the common and Class A common stock due at this time.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



AMERICAN WATERWORKS AND ELECTRIC

Organized originally to develop and promote water supply and land projects, this holding company has gradually increased its interests in the electric power and light field until today practically three-quarters of its total revenues are derived from electric sources. Waterworks properties are still very important, however, comprising one of the largest groups operating under private ownership in this field. Electric operating subsidiaries serve areas in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, Ohio and Virginia and comprise a single interconnected system.

Consolidated net income for the twelve months ended August 31, 1930, amounted to $7,560,164, as compared with $7,197,389 in the corresponding preceding year. This was equivalent to $3.65 per share, showing a slight improvement over the $3.62 earned in the 1929 year. This steady earning power in the face of general business curtailment is characteristic of the company's good earnings record in the past few years.

CAPITALIZATION

Total funded debt	$183,860,000
Subsidiary pfd. stocks	20,907,350
$6 cumulative preferred stock (no par)	200,000 shares

Control of Ward Baking Claimed in Proxy Fight

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—The committee of stockholders of the Ward Baking Corporation, which is seeking proxies for a special meeting to elect a new management headed by George K. Morrow, chairman of the Gold Dust Corporation, claims to have received authorization from more than 51 per cent of the stockholders.

The committee is composed of Charles Hayden of Hayden, Stone & Co.; Thomas H. McInerney, president of the National Dairy Products Corporation, and Edgar Palmer, chairman of the New Jersey Zinc Company.

A letter asking for proxies stated the meeting would be asked to elect a new board of directors, including, among others, the committee members, Mr. Morrow, Randolph W. Catlin, president of the Gold Dust Corporation; R. W. Jameson, vice-president of United Cigar Stores Company, and Frederick K. Morrow, president of United Cigar Stores Company. The letter said an investigation by some of the largest stockholders "has convinced them that prompt action is necessary to save the business of the company from further impairment."

Directors of the company urged stockholders to disregard attempts of the Morrow group to obtain proxies to overthrow the present management, saying it "would be a disastrous thing for the company and for the rank and file of our stockholders."

LONG BELL LUMBER IN EARNINGS REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. — Long Bell Lumber Company and subsidiaries reported today net loss for nine months ended September 30, last, of $1,299,610, after depreciation, depletion and interest, against net profits before taxes, of $1,616,386 for the same period last year, which included profits of $2,019,799 realized on sale of capital assets. September quarter net loss was $688,689, against $69 loss in the third quarter last year.

COMMERCIAL TRUST TO REDEEM BONDS

Commercial Investment Trust has called for redemption on March 1, all its outstanding 6 per cent convertible debentures of 1946 at a premium of 4½ per cent and accrued interest. Of the original issue of $15,000,000 sold in February, 1928, by Dillon, Read & Co., there is $12,904,500 outstanding of which $9,747,500 is in the hands of the public.

CHICAGO RATE HOLDS

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The Federal Reserve Bank here made no announcement today regarding its rediscount rate of 3 1-2 per cent.

SANTA FE NET POINTS UPWARD

Earnings of Railroad Group Continue Under 1929

October net railway operating income of the Santa Fe system declined $2,694,677, or 28 per cent from October, 1929, or substantially less than the decrease for the ten months this year which was $30,305,566, or more than 35 per cent. The October net totaled $6,912,981 and the ten months net $37,291,228, according to a statement issued yesterday from the Los Angeles office of the road.

Gross railway revenues of the system declined $5,918,628, or 21 per cent in October to $21,561,511 compared with a year ago. The ten months gross decreased $31,354,787, or 14 per cent from last year to $192,187,772. Net profits after all charges for nine months ended September 30, last, were equivalent to $8.07 a share on 2,416,293 shares.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Net railway operating income of the first fifty-eight roads to report aggregated $93,120,000 in October against $127,390,000 in October, 1929, a decline of 26.9 per cent, and against $138,503,000 in 1928, a decrease of 32.7 per cent. An increase of 7.7 per cent was shown over the September, 1930, figure of $86,465,000.

October gross revenues of the same carriers aggregated $400,539,000 against $504,362,000 in October, 1929, a decline of 20.5 per cent, and, compared with $512,496,000 in 1928, a decrease of 21.9 per cent. Compared with September gross revenues of $387,933,000, October represents an increase of 3.2 per cent.

Comparative statements of net operating income for October and the ten months this year with last year issued here today include the following:

	1930	1929
Pennsylvania	5,742,575	15,002,180
Ten months	51,560,460	135,308,473

HESITANT BUYING ON WOOL MART

Weekly Review Reports Trade Waiting Opening of Foreign Auctions

BOSTON, Nov. 28. (AP) — The Commercial Bulletin of Boston tomorrow will say of the wool market:

It has been a waiting market again this week, all branches of the trade desiring to see how London opened and how the New Zealand season did at the first sale in Auckland. Both openings were somewhat disappointing in the matter of price, but there seemed to be fairly good buying power on the lower basis and a disposition of the holders to let wood go. The markets abroad have been sustained during the week at unchanged rates.

Prices here have been hardly changed with little to test the market to determine what prices really are, although it must be said that it is a buyers' rather than a sellers' market. The manufacturers have continued their waiting policy, averring that they, in turn, are waiting for the man higher up to buy.

Mohair is slow and hardly changed, with some small sales of kid hair sorted at 53-55 cents.

The rail-and-water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930 to November 26, 1930, inclusive, were 120,769,000 pounds, against 161,053,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930 to November 26, 1930, inclusive, were 308,024,512 pounds, against 288,165,700 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Scoured basis: Texas—Fine twelve months (selected), 69@70; fine short twelve months, 67@68; fine eight months, 66@67. California — Northern, 60@62; middle county, 58@60; southern, 58@59. Firestone Plant Still Operating Three Shifts

With operations at approximately 85 per cent of capacity, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of California is producing 6500 tires and 8000 tubes daily, R. J. Cope, vice-president and general manager, stated yesterday. The plant is continuing on the full-week three-shift basis started last spring.

On straight production, the company is employing about the same number of employees as last year, Mr. Cope said.

As the industry anticipates a heavier demand for replacement of tires in 1931, the general outlook is encouraging, according to Mr. Cope, who reported November business running about the same as a year ago.

OLD RAIL PROBLEM REVIVES

Big Four Brotherhoods to Make Plea for Shorter Day and Week Without Pay Reduction

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The railroad problem is again with us. The big four railroad brotherhoods have come out for the six-hour day, and the five-day week, without any lessening of pay, as a means for relieving unemployment.

A general conference of all the interests affected—railroad presidents, bankers, representatives of the public and the railroad unions—are to meet soon to draw up a comprehensive plan of action.

Railroads are the greatest employers of labor in the United States. The Class 1 railroads, in August, 1929, employed 1,759,533 people. A year later, August 1, 1930, they employed 1,514,367 persons.

The monthly compensation for employees in August, 1929, was $259,985,333. One year later, in August, 1930, it was $215,756,280.

Thus in twelve months, there was a reduction of 245,186 persons employed, and $44,229,084 in monthly compensation.

But railroad net earnings have been decreasing sharply, too. The railroads have their own difficulties to face at this time. Shortening the working day and week, without reducing pay, would, of course, only add to their troubles.

Thomas F. Woodlock, one-time member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, says that such a plan can only be carried through "by the railroads employing more men. But it is equally manifest that the railroads cannot afford to spend any more money at this time."

It is a huge problem. Railroad credit itself is involved, for railroad bonds are the foundation of life-insurance portfolios.

No, the problem cannot be met by a gesture. It must be studied carefully and decided upon its merits. For a crisis could very easily be precipitated by hasty legislation or by forcing the wage issue.

The railroads are facing a serious situation. The managers see business slipping away. So a plan to strengthen their place in the business world has been decided upon.

They demand new legislation from Congress putting all forms of transportation under the Interstate Commerce Commission. Their demand includes oil and gasoline pipe lines, motor vehicles and coastal steamship lines, and a removal of certain restrictions on railroad operations, believed to be onerous and unfair.

Thus Congress again is to be the storm center. Prof. Ripley in a storm article recently said that the railroads must be allowed to consolidate if they are going to survive. So far, little or no consolidation has taken place.

But the railroads, according to the Association of Railroad Executives, demand that Congress compel the oil industry to divest itself of $400,000,000 investment in oil pipe lines, because millions of barrels of oil are being transported that way. Here the railroads have lost out. The railroads also demand a chance to operate steamship lines along the coast and on the Great Lakes (now forbidden by the Panama Canal Act,) and ask that the Interstate Commerce Commission be authorized to put passenger and freight motor bus lines under the same regulation as all other transportation.

The next session of Congress is likely to see another big railroad fight.

BORROWINGS OF BROKERS DROP AGAIN

Decline During Week of $63,000,000 Cuts Total to Mark of May, 1925

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending the 26th inst., were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $2,122,000,000, representing a decrease of $63,000,000, compared with the preceding week. The loans for the week ending November 27, 1929, were $3,450,000,000.

The detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt with in the board's report was:

	Latest week. 1930.	Last week. 1930.	Same week, 1929.
For own account:	$1,282,000,000	$1,292,000,000	$ 831,000,000
For account of out-of-town banks:	380,000,000	439,000,000	638,000,000
For account of others:	435,000,000	455,000,000	1,982,000,000

Brokers' loans announced yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board at $2,122,000,000 as of the 26th inst., represents the lowest total since May, 1925. The decrease of $63,000,000 for the week is the ninth successive weekly decline, the total drop for the nine weeks aggregating $1,100,000,000 and reducing the loans of September 24, last, by 34 per cent. The decrease from the record high of $6,804,000,000 marked October 1, 1929, is $4,482,000,000, or 68.8 per cent.

Security loans to members of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as of the 26th inst., were announced by the exchange yesterday at $14,286,731, a new low for the year and a decrease of $626,323, or 4 per cent for the week. The highest level this year was marked on March 5, at $29,419,173.

Sun-Maid Again Boosts Price on Thompson Raisin

FRESNO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Sun-Maid Raisin Growers, Inc., today raised the price of choice bulk Thompson raisins from 4 5-8 cents to 4 3-4 cents a pound. This was the second advance within a week, and was accompanied by reports the California raisin pool was expected to boost prices.

The trend in prices has been on the rise since early October, this being the fifth advance from the 4 1-8 cents rate.

The raisin pool is expected to make its second offering of new crop raisins to packers early in December. The new price is expected to be 1-8 of a 1-4 cent above the 3 1-4 cents a pound originally set.

Sun-Maid officials were encouraged over what they termed the "stronger tone" of the raisin market.

Business Here Declared Good

That Los Angeles appears to be one of the "whitest" spots of the country and seems to have been affected least of any major city by the current severe business depression, is the opinion of E. W. Swackhamer of Potter & Co., member of the New York Stock Exchange, who arrived here yesterday on a business trip.

"I have been particularly impressed with the tremendous amount of securities that are being distributed in the Los Angeles market," he said. Mr. Swackhamer will remain here for several days.

SINCLAIR COMPLETES OKLAHOMA PIPE LINE

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The new Sinclair pipe line from the Oklahoma City pool to serve the company's Coffeeville refinery was completed Thursday. It will be tested at once and immediately thereafter put in operation. The line, which consists of approximately 160 miles of twelve-inch main and sixteen miles of eight-inch pipe, was built by the Sinclair Texas Pipe Line Company, 100 per cent subsidiary of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation.

Otis Steel Board Passes Dividend Due on Common

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—Otis Steel Company today omitted the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on the common stock due at this time, but declared the regular quarterly payment of $1.75 on the preferred, payable January 1 to stock of record December 19.

E. J. Kulas, president, stated that the directors have decided to conserve the cash position of the company pending the return of more normal conditions in the steel trade. During the past year, he said, the company has made much progress in increasing the operating efficiency, but earnings have suffered from the decline in demand and the drastic drop in prices, which are at the lowest levels in fifteen years.

"President indications are that some improvement is at hand for prices and that the demand for steel will expand after the turn of the year," the executive continued. "Through plant improvements already made and the new continuous strip mill, plans for which are progressing, the company will be in a position to benefit from any upturn in trade."

Receivership of Broker Stands

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP) — Receivership for John Monroe & Co., brokerage house with offices here and in France, was made permanent today by Federal Judge Coleman. Liabilities of the company total $5,910,000 against assets of approximately $7,100,000. The Irving Trust Company was recently named temporary receiver.

The receivership was precipitated by a run on the Paris office of the company which was followed on the 8th inst. by a run on the New York office. It was instituted to prevent possible forced liquidation of the assets. John Monroe & Co. has been in business since 1854.

MOTOR COMPANY IN BANKRUPTCY ACTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today in Federal District Court by New Era Motors Company, Inc., automobile manufacturers, and holders of various patent rights to inventions including a system of front-wheel powering. The petition listed liabilities at $358,076 and assets at $317,793.

MORE MEN ASKED FOR ARMY AID

Payne Seeks Increased Personnel to Help in Task of Industrial Mobilization

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—An appeal for additional personnel to assist in the Army's work of industrial mobilization in preparation for a war emergency is contained in the annual report of Assistant Secretary of War Payne.

The progress the Army is making in its plans for the procurement of materials and the mobilization of industry is reviewed by the assistant Secretary.

Discussing the procurement plans of the Army, he says those completed cover 1705 items necessary for the Army in a major emergency out of a total of 3876 such items listed.

He adds the present stocks of military supplies are not properly balanced and annual appropriations are barely sufficient to meet current needs.

"Consequently hand-to-mouth buying in uneconomical quantities is practiced," he said.

To remedy the condition, he proposes Congress authorize a stock fund for supplies in quantities sufficient to obtain price reductions, make seasonal purchases and provide a stock of articles in general use by the Army so as to expedite issues when required.

Scores Involved in Border Graft

DETROIT, Nov. 28. (AP)—Federal authorities tonight indicated that seventy-five present and former United States border customs patrol inspectors in the Detroit area are involved in charges of accepting bribes to allow smuggling of liquor into this country from Canada.

When Funds Are Low

The need for funeral services may sometimes come when the family is not able to afford them. At such times there is extra need for the comforting guidance of a good funeral director.

At Edwards Brothers we know exactly how many families feel in an emergency of this kind—and our beautiful new mortuary is a restful haven in their hour of grief and indecision.

By calling us at the first need, they make it possible for our professional staff to ease the burden at once. Then a little later, they can select a fitting service within their means and arrange payments that will not cause hardship.

Complete services, of the most beautiful kind, for as little as $70.

COUNTYWIDE JOB SURVEY BODY PICKED

Five Civic Leaders Named as Fact Finders in Move to Aid Employment

Selection of members of the fact-finding committee of the county-wide committee on unemployment formed Tuesday was announced yesterday by Supervisor Shaw, chairman of the main body. Those chosen are:

Edward A. Dickson, publisher; Will H. Fischer, assistant to the president of the Southern California Edison Company; E. J. Fleming, president of the Downtown Business Men's Association; Harvey C. Fremming, president of the Long Beach Central Labor Council, and Mrs. J. K. Lytle, president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

"The committee will act as a subbody to investigate all of the ramifications of the unemployment problem of the country and of the municipalities of the county, and to correlate the efforts of all agencies active in coping with the situation," Supervisor Shaw said.

The first meeting probably will be held Tuesday morning at the office of Supervisor Shaw.

Following the suggestion of the county-wide committee many employers have notified the body that they have assured their employees six months or a year of employment either by full time or by the five-day week on five days pay.

"This will help immensely," said Supervisor Shaw, "by taking the fear from the minds of employees of losing their jobs. With such fear and apprehension removed they will spend more money instead of hoarding it up against a lay-off. More money spent will begin making better times for everybody."

A resolution proposing that the city institute a five-day week was introduced in the City Council yesterday by Councilman Williams and was referred to the Public Welfare Committee. Williams proposed the change as a remedy for the unemployment situation. The resolution calls for a survey to determine what steps should be taken for inaugurating the five-day week.

Christmas Seals Sales Urged for Aid of Clinic

Miss Sidney Maguire, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association, now conducting its annual Christmas Seal campaign, urges a generous response on the part of the public, in order that the association may continue its work of preventing the spread of tuberculosis.

Important among projects maintained through the seal sale are tuberculosis clinics. Functions of the clinics are as follows: Diagnostic centers, centers for treatment, including home care; centers for examination and supervision of contacts; supervision of post-sanatorium care; placement of patients requiring institutional care; education and information.

DANCER FILES SUIT FOR AUTO MISHAP

Consuelo Beauchamp

Consuelo Beauchamp, dancer, is no longer able to make $100 a week scampering across the stage, she says in a $50,000 damage suit on file yesterday against S. A. Temple, driver of an automobile which she asserts ran over her October 29, at Hollywood Boulevard and Wilcox avenue.

Miss Beauchamp is confined in bed at her home, 1810 Wilcox avenue, and according to her attorney, Richard A. Dunnigan, she has partially lost the use of her right foot. Her right arm also is injured, according to the complaint.

MERCHANT PIONEER OF CITY DEAD

Walter Scott Maxwell Here Fifty-five Years Was Native of California

One of the pioneer merchants of Los Angeles, Walter Scott Maxwell, died yesterday at his home, 2854 West Ninth street. Mr. Maxwell was born seventy-four years ago near the Mission San Jose.

Both of Mr. Maxwell's parents came to California during the '49 gold rush days and finally settled on a ranch near Mission San Jose. After his youth, spent in the small settlement about the mission, he came to Los Angeles fifty-five years ago as an apprentice printer on the Los Angeles Express and during his employment became one of the charter members of the typographic union.

After five years as a compositor Mr. Maxwell launched his business career and became the first large coal dealer in the city. He first chartered several sailing vessels in Liverpool and brought cargoes of coal from Nanaimo, B. C., to San Pedro. From these ventures he entered the European export field and for many years was a heavy shipper of California wheat, oats and honey to Europe.

Later he purchased several downtown real properties and was credited with a large part of the success of the Civic Center plan.

He was a member of the Ramona Parlor of the N.S.G.W. and of the Jonathan Club. He leaves two sons, Lynford E. and Walter S. Maxwell, Jr., besides a sister, Mrs. Bertha Mosher.

The funeral services will be conducted Monday at 10 a.m. at the Ivy H. Overholtzer chapel.

MORE FEDERAL PORT FACILITIES SOUGHT

The City Council yesterday adopted a resolution submitted by Councilman Henning asking President Hoover and the California Congressional delegation to work for an increase in the Federal facilities at Los Angeles Harbor. Henning's resolution contends that shipping at the harbor has outgrown the Federal organizations there, and it is time they are increased.

SISTER-SLAYING TRIAL TEARFUL

Mrs. Weimer and Jury Weep at Recital of Crime

Woman Declares Mind Blank on Firing of Shots

She Asserts Victim Cried: "I Want to Die"

Telling how her sister stood before her while suffering from hallucinations crying, "I want to die," Mrs. Ruth Weimer, on trial for the murder of her invalid sister, Mrs. Mabel Steele on September 14, last, related from the witness stand in Superior Judge Fricke's court yesterday how her mind wavered under the strain and left her no recollection of the shooting.

The statement came as a dramatic climax to Mrs. Weimer's testimony. Repeatedly throughout the day tears flecked the cheeks of jurors and spectators as the woman sobbed out her story.

"WANTED TO DIE"

This was not the first time that Mrs. Steele had cried out that she wanted to die, the defendant said. And it was not this statement that brought the tears to the eyes of the spectators.

But it was the story of the invalid sister's last hallucination—the belief that she was dead; crucified, with a gash in her side and wounds in her feet from the cruel spikes.

"It happened shortly after lunch," Mrs. Weimer said.

"She had gone upstairs to her room but a moment before. I thought she was feeling better. Then she came back downstairs again and I heard her crying in the hallway. A moment later she went into the adjoining room and started to play the piano.

SENDS SISTER OUT

"I continued with my ironing, for I was working at a place where I could watch her. When the music stopped I looked up and sister asked me to come in and play the piano with her. For several minutes we played duets, after which I returned to my ironing."

At this point Mrs. Weimer's voice broke and she sobbed. Before proceeding she asked that her sister, Mrs. C. S. Purdy of Sparks, Nev., leave the courtroom. Mrs. Purdy left. Then the witness resumed her story.

"The next time I saw my sister she was standing in front of me. Her first words were, 'I want to die.' As she said this she opened her coat. Then she continued:

"DEAD ALREADY"

"'I am dead, already. Can't you see the red blood streaming from my side? Don't you see the flesh falling from my bones?'"

Mrs. Weimer collapsed and was not able to resume her testimony for several minutes. Then she explained that she recalled nothing further that happened on the night of the killing.

According to the woman's story, her sister had been ill for many months and constantly was grieving for her two children who were held by her estranged husband. Frequently, Mrs. Weimer said, Mrs. Steele suffered from these hallucinations of crucifixion.

COMPLAINED OF FEET

It was such a scene that occurred shortly before the slaying, the witness stated.

When the subject of the hallucinations was first mentioned, Mrs. Weimer said that Mrs. Steele complained of pains in her feet, caused, she said, by the spikes used in her crucifixion.

"Did you rub her feet?" Mrs. Weimer's attorney, Nathan O. Freedman, asked.

"Why, of course I did," she replied.

The defendant's entire story was one of sisterly devotion that she said was mutual.

"Poor sister always was ill," she said, "and I did everything I could to comfort her, because I knew she would do the same for me."

TRACED ASSOCIATION

Then Mrs. Weimer traced their association back over the period of her sister's illness. She said Mrs. Steele repeatedly tried to end her own life. Once the woman attempted to take poison. On another occasion she started to leap from an upstairs window of their home at 418 West Thirty-seventh street.

Finally Mrs. Steele was sent to the State Hospital at Norwalk for mental treatment. On August 10, 1929, she was paroled to the care of the defendant.

Mrs. Weimer corroborated the statements of more than a score of close friends, that she had devoted all of her spare time to the

CARUS FUNDS SOUGHT TO KEEP BODY IN CRYPT

Although Emma Carus, vaudeville headliner for more than thirty years, left an estate valued in excess of $165,000 at the time of her death November 18, 1927, there is a possibility that her remains may be taken from their crypt in a mausoleum in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, and placed in one of the ordinary inexpensive graves of the cemetery because of the failure of the administrators of her estate to pay the mausoleum charges.

According to park officials, during the three years since the actress's death there has been no payment made on the $850 due the park association. Communications with the administrator of the New York portion of her estate have brought only refusals to pay unless the price is reduced, until finally, the last word to the administrator indicated that if the payment is not made by December 10, next, the park association will feel impelled to place the remains in an ordinary grave.

Believing that many of Miss Carus's friends of the theatrical world would regret this move, Julien D. Roussel of 220 Pine avenue, Long Beach, a friend of Miss Carus for many years, has started a Carus Memorial Fund to raise the $850 necessary to keep the actress's remains in the mausoleum.

Miss Carus, who died in the Casa del Mar Sanatorium at Palms, had been a patient there more than a year following a Superior Court ruling of her mental incompetency in September, 1926. At the time of her death she was separated from her husband, J. Walter Leopold, by an interlocutory decree, but no final decree had been entered. However, other claimants to the estate came to this country from Germany and ever since that time affairs have been in litigation.

POEM ON APPLE PROVES PIPPIN

Irish Writer Joins Family Here

THERE is more real romance in one American city than in all Ireland, and Patrick MacGill, Irish poet, playwright and novelist, who came to Los Angeles yesterday, is ready to prove it. Yesterday he told of his arrival in New York several weeks ago and his adventures for only half a day.

MacGill landed in the eastern metropolis at the time when groups of unemployed were selling apples on the streets and as he was entering his hotel a World War veteran apple-seller, who apparently recognized him from published photographs, stepped up to him asking him for an autograph.

The poet not only complied, but added a four-stanza poem above his signature. MacGill then watched the man as he pinned the sheet of paper to his coat and saw groups of curious read the scribbled message and buy apples. In half an hour the stock of apples was exhausted, but before they were gone, one of the curious who saw the paper and the signature bought it for $20.

POETRY SELLS APPLES

"Therefore," MacGill declared, "the way to sell apples is to write a poem about them."

Here is the poem:

Eve was not a wanton,
A simple maid was she
Until she saw the apple
Upon the apple tree.
"Pluck the apple, maiden,
And eat it ere I pass."
And she paid heed to Satan
Slinking through the grass.
The upper courts of heaven
Were very much annoyed
And sent out warring legions
And hordes of unemployed.
Now since a mother's failing
Makes many a mortal grieve
A nickel for an apple
Atones for Mother Eve.

IRELAND GOES BABBITY

As for his own homeland, Patrick MacGill, born in a cottage, has this to say: "Old Ireland has gone babbitty. The Ireland that I knew has vanished. Not that it was ever romantic, except in memory. We were all pretty miserable there, but after all, it was home."

The poet was once librarian of Windsor Castle, part-time home of British royalty, and as for romance in a castle, it does not exist today, he said. MacGill described the reading tastes of both King George and the Prince of Wales as being about the same as that of an American business man.

"They are not literary," he added.

Mrs. MacGill, who is the grandniece of the late Cardinal Gibbons, has been in Los Angeles for several weeks with her three children, Patricia, Ursula and Sheila. Like her husband she has a long list of novels which bear her name and the three youngsters have more than a literary atmosphere. They have three of the famous British men-of-letters for godfathers, G. K. Chesterton, St. John Irving and the late T. P. O'Connor.

RAINFALL ENDS; CLEAR SKY DUE

Moderate Temperatures to Continue Today

Rain Soaks in With Very Small Run Off

Mountains' Snowfall Light in Most Places

With the possible exception of a few scattering showers, the rainstorm which has been intermittently wetting the Southland for the past several days is definitely over, according to the local Weather Bureau, which has predicted generally fair weather with a continuance of moderate temperatures for today.

In its final hours on Thursday night and yesterday morning, the storm added .15 of an inch to the previously recorded precipitation for this city, bringing the amount of rain for the storm to .74 of an inch. That brought the total precipitation for the season to date to 1.82 inches, as compared to .32 on the same date last year and a normal fall of 1.97 for this date.

LITTLE RUN OFF

Throughout its duration, the rainfall was generally slow and practically all of it was absorbed in the ground, with a minimum amount of run-off, the county flood-control department reported.

In the high Sierras snowfall was generally light, according to reports from the stations of the Southern California Edison Company. The greatest fall was at Huntington Lake, where yesterday morning the ground was covered with a snow blanket seven and one-half inches deep. The other considerable snowfall reported was at Florence Lake, where yesterday morning there was an inch of snow on the ground.

SKATING ON LAKE

While no snow fell at the county camp at Big Pines, further up on the Blue Ridge a half-inch of snow fell during the early hours yesterday morning and then melted quickly after sunrise. The winter sports program at the camp is under way, however, the county recreation department reported, for good skating can be enjoyed at night on Jackson Lake. No snowfall was reported from the vicinity of Camp Seely, which is conducted by the City's Playground and Recreation Department.

While interior and north coastal points had been favored during the first half of the storm, in its final moments it reallocated its favors a bit and gave the southern coastal region a welcome drenching. In San Diego, which had received only .10 of an inch of rain from the present storm up until Thursday evening, .37 of an inch fell from that time to yesterday morning, bringing the seasonal total to 1.37. Orange added .75 of an inch during those hours, bringing its storm total to 1.04. In Ventura, on the other hand, which had recorded a precipitation of 1.10 from the storm by Thursday evening, only .07 of an inch fell during the same hours.

BEACH CITIES DRENCHED

The near-by beach cities also had their rainfall totals considerably boosted Thursday night and early yesterday morning. Redondo, Hermosa and Manhattan reporting, respectively, .53, .52 and .53 for these hours and similar figures being reported from such adjacent communities as El Segundo, Torrance, Gardena and Inglewood. Venice and Santa Monica, which had already registered a fall of .63 of an inch from the storm, had that total raised by .37 of an inch during those hours, and the seasonal total brought to 1.00.

The greatest beneficiary of the storm in the metropolitan area was Upland, where a fall of .51 of an inch overnight brought the storm total to 1.44 inches and the seasonal total to 4.11. Pomona, with a storm total of 1.35 inches, brought its seasonal precipitation to 2.20. Inglewood, Redondo, Hermosa and Manhattan beaches reported storm totals of, respectively, 1.33, 1.34, 1.24 and 1.29.

FAIR WEATHER ALSO PROMISED IN NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (Exclusive)—Having received a generous measure of rain, the San Francisco Bay district and other Northern California points are promised fair weather tomorrow, except for early morning fogs. The last of the present storm left rainfall today as follows:

	24 hrs.	Season	Last Year
San Jose	.02	.50	T.
Stockton	T.	2.07	.06
Fresno	.04	1.23	.01

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

A FRIGHTFUL punishment is to be meted out to the villainous little gangsters who tried to kill two Los Angeles policemen Thursday night. They are to be tried for "suspicion of robbery."

If I had the courage to be a policeman—which I haven't—any guy who poked a gun in my face and pulled the trigger would cease to be of interest to anybody except the undertaker.

THE OTHER SIDE

In my daily mail comes an argument setting forth the other side of the special assessment business.

This is a growing city. It had been a little one-horse town, equipped for handling small numbers of people. Suddenly bursting into the metropolitan class, it simply has to provide wide streets; facilities for an enormous population. This makes the going hard at the present time, but will benefit all city property in the future.

OTHER SIDE'S OTHER SIDE

That is a logical angle. But I would ask the letter writer what he would think if this city were a big private corporation and the City Council were the board of directors. What would happen to a board of directors who in flush times would pledge a certain share of the stockholders to pay all the expense of improving the physical equipment of the whole corporation and who would pledge these stockholders to make these payments through a no-dividend period?

With such a bone-headed board of directors the selling value of that corporation's stock would sink to the vanishing point.

A SLAM

The girls of Hollywood should rush to their hand mirrors and re-examine their charms. Will Hays looks upon this sea of youth and beauty for ten years, but takes to wife an Indiana widow.

SNOOTY

Por crust I hand the official lemon to a young gentleman who broadcast the Cornell-Pennsylvania game on Thanksgiving Day.

In a pitying voice he announced that "some of the people on the Pacific Coast" would be interested in a coach who had once lived there.

The East may be able to patronize us on some things, but not football. The last time the gallant warriors of West Point played Stanford and were tossed all around the lot one of the New York sport writers wrote with grief that it was no use for eastern teams to attempt to play the West. The boys out here grow too big and strong. U.S.C. could play Harvard, Yale and Princeton all the same afternoon and send them home on stretchers.

SELLING THE GOODS

On the heels of the news that soviet Russia has established a steel mill as big as our Pittsburgh mills comes the word that the Reds have gone into the packing business on a wholesale scale.

This would have come anyhow—Reds or no Reds. With all those boundless physical resources Russia is going to sell her products somewhere. We may as well make up our minds to the fact that our market is in the Orient an' in South America.

Incidentally, with all these wholesale killings and executions going on in Russia, I wouldn't

STOCK SHOW OPENS TODAY

Governor-Elect Rolph to Officiate at Ceremonies; Prize Animals Here From All Over Country

The annual Christmas live-stock show will open today at the Los Angeles Union Stockyards with the largest gathering of pure-bred prize animals ever seen in the West. A heavy attendance from out of town is indicated, together with a host of Los Angeles folk who will be on hand for a sort of preview of the show.

The first activity will commence with the arrival of Governor-elect Rolph, with fitting ceremonies at the City Hall. The show is to be officially opened at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when Supervisor Wright will announce everything set for the crowds. The first rodeo of the show, opening to the accompaniment of blaring bands in the arena, is scheduled for 2:30.

The largest group of pure-bred Hereford cattle ever shown this side of Kansas City will be on dress parade, with a fine showing of Shorthorns and Angus cattle as well. In the swine division, twenty-five herds are to be exhibited, and the hog show will be one of the finest ever seen in the West. Twenty-four sheep herds are in the pens, many of them the "tops" of the largest stock shows elsewhere.

The entries in all classes number more than 3000 head and come from twenty-four States. They are valued at approximately $5,000,000.

Men known internationally in the live-stock world will be present today and during the ensuing week, many of them having crossed the continent to be present. Among those who have not been named already are Jack Lawrence, in charge of animals from the Dupont farm in Delaware; John C. Shaffer, publisher of the Chicago Evening Post, with cattle from Colorado; Henry W. Marshall, publisher of the Lafayette (Ind.) Courier-Journal, and J. W. Van Natta, famous stockman from the Hoosier State.

The rodeo, which is competitive, is expected to be the most spectacular ever held here. The best riding stars have entered the va-

RAINY WINTER PREDICTED

New Theory of Storm Cause Given by Rich San Marino Man Known for Correct Forecasts

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN MARINO, Nov. 28.—The regularity with which Halbert P. Gillette of 1125 Oak Grove avenue has been forecasting weather is attracting more than local attention. His latest success was forecasting two months ago that rain would fall Thanksgiving Day.

Gillette, a wealthy retired engineer, announced today that after four years of research and study he has verified his theory that rainstorms are caused by electrical conditions in the atmosphere instead of by conditions of temperature and atmospheric pressure, as held by orthodox forecasters.

He has found that three times out of four, rainstorms in Alaska are repeated in Southern California 105 days later. This phenomenon he ascribes to the fact that circles of electrical influence which center in Alaska and cause the great precipitation in that section slowly widen until their influence extends to Southern California.

By studying the circles of growth in Sequoia trees, Gillette has found that there are three major rainfall cycles in this section of seven, eight and ten-year periods.

"Due to the fact that these cycles occur closer together this season than usual," he declared, "I feel reasonably certain that the present season will be one of more than average precipitation."

This forecast of a heavy rainfall this year is strengthened, Gillette asserted, by the fact that one of the government forecasters found as the result of considerable research that when the month of March is unusually warm, the following season has seen unusually heavy rains three out of four times in the last fifty-two years, and that last March was warm.

"The time is coming," according to Gillette, "when weather forecasters will concentrate upon the

RUTHLESS TIDE OF CRIME RISES

Elderly Women Beaten and Bound in Home

Both Lie All Night in Daze; One May Not Live

Month's Total of Robberies Reaches 247 Mark

In a continuance of their ruthless activities bandits late Thursday and early yesterday morning perpetrated six hold-ups in one of which two elderly women were so badly beaten in their home that one may lose the sight of an eye if other wounds do not prove fatal.

At midnight this month's record-breaking total of robberies had reached 245. Two more before dawn increased it to 247. Burglaries since the 1st inst. totaled 551 as compared with 424 last month at the same time, and 418 for last year. During the same period last month robberies totaled 119 and the year before 116.

The brutal assault upon Mrs. Catherine Webber, 82 years of age, and Miss Hannah Kelly, 75, in their home at 1226 South Maple avenue, was perpetrated while Chief of Detectives Taylor and scores of policemen throughout the county were making widespread efforts to apprehend the two bandits who attacked Miss Ruth Meserole, 17-year-old high school graduate, after robbing her and her escort in the hills off Mulholland High Way last Tuesday night.

HELPLESS STRUGGLE

Miss Kelly had attended Thanksgiving services at their neighborhood church. Mrs. Webber on a neighborhood visit returned home first. As she stepped inside the house where she had resided unharmed for twenty-eight years, the intruder leaped upon her and shoved her roughly against a wall.

Too terror-stricken to scream, and from fear and a partial paralysis which affected her left side, she struggled helplessly as the man slapped a coarse hand across her mouth.

"I heard yuh sold a piece of property around here," he declared in a harsh, rasping voice, "and I want the money. You have got it hidden around here some place."

Her arms bruised and aching from the rough grasp of the intruder, Mrs. Webber made a desperate effort to keep herself from swooning. She stared back at the black figure of the man in the darkness.

"I have no money; we have no money here," she gasped. "It is the truth. Please let me go. You are hurting me."

BEATEN INSENSIBLE

Enraged at her reply and heedless to her entreaty and her feeble condition, the bandit struck her in the face and then, after she fell, beat her into insensibility as she lay helpless on the floor.

A few moments later Miss Kelly entered the house. Observing the dwelling in darkness she believed Mrs. Webber had not yet returned.

She stepped through the front door and at that moment her arm was roughly seized and twisted behind her back and the bandit's fingers closed about her throat.

As terror stricken and helpless as Mrs. Webber, Miss Kelly fought to retain her senses and her breath as the attacker repeated his demand for money.

She denied having any or knowing of any hiding place in the house. Then she swooned.

Incensed, the bandit threw her inert body on the floor and struck her again and again. Bruises left on her face and body showed he had also kicked her. Then he tied her hands and feet. After tearing up carpets and mattresses and ransacking cupboards the bandit fled.

IN DAZE ALL NIGHT

The assault upon the two women occurred Thursday evening. Throughout the whole night they lay unconscious from their injuries. Once, Mrs. Webber told police, she dimly recalls regaining consciousness for a moment and hearing a distant clock strike eleven.

Shortly after dawn she again regained her senses, and staggering to her knees, loosened the bonds about her companion's hands and feet. Then, exhausted and barely able to walk, she stumbled out of the house and around the corner to the home of her niece, Mrs. Josephine N. Webber at 1218 East Twelfth street. After caring for the immediate needs of her aunt, Mrs. Weber notified police.

Miss Kelly was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital in an ambulance. Surgeons there say she may lose the sight of her left eye, and that the shock may cause her death.

The man-and-wife pair of bandits who have specialized in the robberies of drug stores within the last week, appeared for the fourth time Thursday night at the drug store of L. A. Staples at 1401 West Florence avenue, where they held him up and robbed him of $100. The woman is described as slim, well dressed and a brunette. She enters the victims' establishments with the man and takes actual part in the robberies.

OTHER ROBBERIES

Waiting for a street car at an early morning hour at Avenue 56 and Pasadena avenue, Pat McCarthy of 516 West First street, accepted a ride with a pair of strangers and a few minutes later was shoved out of the automobile minus $61.

M. P. Olney reported being held up and robbed of $7 by two bandits in a service station at 1387 West Adams street.

After consuming a cup of coffee a "customer" produced a pistol and robbed Frank Sumida of $32 in the Tokio Lunch Room at 411 East Fifth street.

No clews to the identity of the bandit who entered Bee's Candy Shop at 364 South Broadway, and robbed Miss Loraine Panick of $15, was reported by the police yesterday.

What police believe to have been the work of ghouls was reported in the burglary of the home of Mrs. Helen McGuire at 1041 South Bonnie Brea street. Mrs. McGuire, according to police report, died the 24th inst. Her son, E. K. Wharton of San Francisco, checking over his mother's effects, reported that $1600 in jewelry and her entire wardrobe are missing.

Using a lock puller, burglars broke into the dress shop of Miss Carlson at 7062 Hollywood Boulevard, and obtained $1000 worth of dresses.

Effecting entrance to the home of James L. Welch, 137 South Woodruff avenue, Bellflower, on the pretext they wanted to use the telephone, two bandits early yesterday morning hit Welch on the head, smashed the telephone and escaped with $115 in cash and several checks in a purse they snatched from beneath a pillow where Mrs. Welch lay in bed. Report of the hold-up was made to the Sheriff's office by Welch, who operates a store adjoining his home. A third bandit waited in an automobile outside during the robbery.

DIDJA EVER SEE TWIN COUSINS?

Well, These Tiny Party Hostesses Are

They Celebrate First Birthday

Mrs. Gordon R. Brooks and daughter Caroline, left, and Mrs. Elizabeth Scoville and daughter Mary Kathleen.

ONE YEAR ago yesterday at approximately the same moment lusty cries emanating from Alhadena Maternity Hospital heralded the advent into this world of Caroline Brooks and Mary Kathleen Scoville. There was nothing so highly unusual about the "blessed event"—or, to be more accurate, events—excepting that the two were first cousins, Mrs. Gordon R. Brooks and Mrs. Elizabeth Scoville, sisters, being the mothers.

Yesterday, Caroline and Mary Kathleen celebrated their first birthday anniversary—not individually, but together, at the home of Mrs. Brooks, 137 West Montecito street, Sierra Madre. And each had a birthday cake of her own—with one tiny candle in it; and a score of other Sierra Madre babies, guests at the party, shared them with the little cousins.

Caroline and Mary Kathleen are grand-daughters of E. C. Polsue, clerk of Department Forty-four, Superior Court.

rious events, which include steer riding and stopping, broncho busting, fancy roping, a wild cow milking contest and similar stunts. Dr. Frank Strickland, world-famous cowboy, has personal charge of the rodeo. There will be two rodeos every day, one in the afternoon and one in the evening—something new in entertainments of this kind.

With an eye to the future of the live-stock business, much of the show will be turned over to the youth of California. Nearly 1000 members of the organization known as Future Farmers of America, all students of high schools, specializing in vocational agriculture, will exhibit their own stock and put on their own program events. California farm boys and girls organized as 4-H clubs, also will be at the show, some 800 strong.

Tomorrow is to be California Day, at which the Governor-elect will be the guest of honor and open the day's events.

There will be amusement features a-plenty, but the object of the Christmas Live Stock Show is not for amusement only. "This show," said J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and manager of the stockyards, "is held primarily to aid Southern California producers to give the people of this part of the country better meat. We believe everyone who visits the exposition will see the answer to that old question, 'Where can I get a good steak?'"

Fitts's Absence Delays Parley on Crime Drive

Absence of Dist.-Atty. Fitts from the city yesterday caused the conference between him and a group of prominent business men to discuss the campaign against gangster activities in Los Angeles to be deferred until an undetermined date next week.

The conference is fostered by the District Attorney as part of the plan to organize an independent antigangster detail to be composed of officers from the police department, Sheriff's office and District Attorney's office. Capt. Clyde Plummer already has been named chief of the detail.

Native Son's Will Probated

The will of George Schumacher, born in Los Angeles sixty-seven years ago, was admitted to probate by Superior Judge Crail yesterday.

Schumacher, who died the 5th inst., left property worth $650,000 to be devided among a sister, Caroline Schumacher, a brother, Percival Schumacher, and a nephew, John Schumacher.

CAR TOURIST TOTAL HIGH IN OCTOBER

Month's Arrivals Boost Number for Ten Months of 1930 Above Last Year

A total of 60,629 tourists from other States arrived in California by automobile during October, it was announced yesterday by Don Thomas, executive secretary of the All-Year Club, Southern California's national tourist advertising organization.

Of the total October motor arrivals, 28,608 arrived directly in Southern California in 11,003 automobiles through the Yuma, Blythe and Daggett gateways. This was 98 per cent of the number who arrived during October, 1929.

During the first ten months of this year, 271,660 motor tourists came directly to Southern California from the East, an increase of seven-tenths of 1 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

The figures represent actual count by the California Department of Agriculture through twenty-five inspection stations at the State borders.

Rosenberg Files Reply to Wife's Suit for Divorce

Jack Rosenberg, Julian Pete defendant, admitted in an answer to his wife's divorce complaint that he criticised her for wearing her skirts too short, for the reason, he asserts, that they were too short.

He admitted also that he did object to her spending the afternoon with men while her children needed attention, but denied that his accusations were "false and humiliating."

Mrs. Rosenberg's complaint charged that Rosenberg stayed away from home late, and took her automobile away from her. She estimated her husband's income as $25,000 a year, and asked for suitable alimony and $500,000 community property.

Rosenberg was indicted for the bribery of former Dist.-Atty. Keyes, but charges against him were dismissed before the trial.

DAMAGE SUIT AIMED AT ACTOR RALPH INCE

Ralph Ince, motion-picture director and actor, yesterday was sued for $35,000 damages by W. M. Patch, who asserts he was seriously injured trying to keep Ince from assaulting another person on the evening of October 25, last. Patch enumerates his injuries as a badly bruised head and damage to his eyesight. He asks $25,000 compensatory, and $10,000 exemplary damages. The suit was filed by Attorneys Minor Moore, C. V. Caldwell and Fred C. Pearce.

GROVES TO PAY CLAIMS

Attorney Kenneth W. Kearney, representing Supervisor Graves, told Deputy Labor Commissioner Redifer yesterday at a hearing in the Labor Bureau's offices in the Subway Terminal Building that the Supervisor will pay all verified claims of campaign workers at the recent general election. About seventy claims for wages involving approximately $1200 were favorably acted on yesterday. About twenty more claims will be considered today.

CITY WORKERS HELD IN THEFT

Two Taken and Third Arrest Expected Today

Employees in Playgrounds Department Accused

Use of Materials to Build Golf Course Charged

Two men were arrested last night and a third is expected to be taken into custody this morning following an expose in which police charge that a miniature golf course was constructed mainly of material belonging to the city, under direction of a city playground construction shop manager, and that other city employees have sold articles made of city materials.

Fred R. Kriwitz, 51 years of age, of 1201 East Garfield avenue, Glendale, and Frank L. Earl, 50, 3442 Maders avenue, both employed at the City Playground and Recreation Department shops at 1417 Blake street, were booked last night at Central Station on petty-theft charges by Detective Lieutenants Bert Jones and W. E. Robertson.

George F. Shrider, 2316 Ewing street, foreman of the city carpenter shop, was held in Mayor Porter's office for questioning and allowed to return to his home last night. It was declared by the officers who arrested the two other men and by one of the Mayor's private investigators that Shrider will be taken in custody this morning.

PROPERTY CONFISCATED

The two officers earlier in the day, on a search warrant issued by Municipal Judge Curtis, raided the Garden Golf Course, 424 West Los Feliz Road, and confiscated wooden an iron benches, hole markers, wooden hazards, a sign and shrubbery stands valued at approximately $175.

The course, the officers reported, was operated by Shriber, and they charge that the material used in much of the construction came from the shops where Shriber was manager.

SHRIBER DENIES QUIZ

Shriber, at his home last night, declared he "had heard nothing about the matter," denied that he was questioned by anyone, and asserted he did not know about the raid on the golf course.

He admitted that "there were some old benches at the shop which were city property, but if they are going to investigate anything like that I can tell them about some things a whole lot worse."

Some of the Mayor's investigators have been checking up on things at the shops, Shriber said. He declared he had nothing to conceal in regard to the golf course, asserting that the course is the property of a friend, whom he would not name.

HIGHER-UPS SOUGHT

It was declared last night at the Mayor's office that the investigation and arrests probably will lead to higher-ups, and indications are that a sweeping investigation of the playground construction shops will be made.

Bert McDonald, chief complaint deputy in the City Prosecutor's office, stated he expects to complete the case and turn reports over to Dist.-Atty. Fitts with the recommendation for conspiracy complaints.

Earl, assistant storeroom manager at the shops, is charged with being involved in the sale of a $30 cabinet made illegally in the shops, while Kriwitz, store clerk, is likewise charged with being involved in the sale of shop-made screens valued at $20.

care of her sister after she was released from the hospital.

WITNESSED SHOOTING

By cross-examination, George Stahlman, deputy District Attorney, sought to obtain an admission from Mrs. Weimer that she recalled the shooting. The witness, however, denied any memory of the affair. She also disclaimed any recollection of having made a statement to police immediately after her arrest in which she is asserted to have stated that she shot Mrs. Steele because of pity for her condition and then attempted to shoot herself.

Earlier in the trial, Evelyn Rains, a niece, testified that from an adjoining room, she witnessed Mrs. Weimer shoot her sister.

ALIENIST TESTIFIES

The last witness called before court adjourned until Monday was Dr. Samuel D. Ingham, alienist. He testified to questions pertaining to emotional amnesia, declaring that it is possible for persons under severe emotional stress to suffer a mental disturbance that will leave no recollection of their actions covering several hours of time. After that, he said, it is possible for them to return to a normal mental condition.

Dr. Ingham is expected to resume his testimony for the defense when the trial is resumed.

AUXILIARY PLANS LUNCHEON

Los Angeles American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 8 will meet Tuesday, December 2, at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. Luncheon will be served at 12:15 p.m. followed by regular meeting at 2 p.m. Plans for Christmas baskets will be discussed and other important business transacted.

DR. PARRISH WARNS OF RAT PERIL

Health Board Told Why Ordinance on Protection of Port Has Been Delayed

Through no fault of the Los Angeles Health Department the city has no protection at the harbor from any plague brought in by rats, Dr. George Parrish, city health officer, informed the Health Commission yesterday. He declared the last siege cost the city $750,000 and the harbor $15,000,000 in loss of shipping and that there is nothing to prevent a repetition of the situation.

His statement followed receipt of a communication from the City Council stating that the request by the department for a rat-proofing ordinance in the harbor district has been filed, due to protests from property owners in the harbor district.

According to Parrish, the failure to put through the rat-proofing ordinance nullifies practically four years of effort to provide for construction which will prevent rats from ships getting into and under buildings, where the department's rat catchers cannot get at them, and where they are enabled to rapidly increase their numbers.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, realizing the importance of keeping the port free of plague from a financial standpoint, as well as for the public health, has co-operated with the health department in every way to put through the desired ordinance, he said, but without avail.

"The whole trouble, the doctor said, is that each property owner is willing that his neighbor's structure should be rat-proofed but is unwilling to spend money to rat-proof his own.

Woman Writer Laid to Rest in Forest Lawn

The body of Mrs. Edna Rowena Field, club woman and writer, yesterday was laid to its last rest in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mrs. Field died Monday at her home, 1284 West Sixth street, after an illness of more than a year. Funeral services were conducted at the Pierce Brothers chapel, 720 West Washington street.

MRS EDNA ROWENA FIELD

Mrs. Field was a descendant of Benjamin Rush, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and her grandmother was a cousin of Robert E. Lee. She had made her residence in Los Angeles since 1908. She was honorary member of the Ebell, Matinee, Musical, Gamut and Cadman Creative clubs.

Before coming to Los Angeles Mrs. Field was connected with the Poetry Society of America in New York City. Her husband, Ben F. Field, is an officer in the League of Western Writers, Verse Writers' Club of Southern California, Gamut Club and other literary and art organizations. Besides her husband, Mrs. Field leaves a son, Edward Lee Blincoe Field, and a brother, G. W. Ackley.

Court Bars Free Exhibit of 'Talkies'

W. M. Arms, proprietor of the W. M. Arms Broadcasting Company at 2014 South San Pedro street, yesterday was temporarily enjoined from broadcasting for advertising purposes sound records from popular "talkie" films after a hearing before Superior Judge Gates.

Arms was sued by the Vitaphone Corporation, which asserted that the defendant operated an advertising truck which, after parking along the highways, displayed talking pictures to the assembled crowd and followed that exhibition with advertising matter cast on the screen.

The plaintiff corporation contends that it licensed its synchronized talking records and films for purposes of exhibiting for admission prices only, and asserts free exhibitions violate the contract. Judge Gates agreed with this version of the case, but required the plaintiff to post a $15,000 bond to protect the defendant, if subsequent decisions of courts should hold that the temporary injunction was illegal.

Linder Returns From Chamber Post in Hawaii

Max G. Linder came back to his old home in Los Angeles on the Lasso liner Calawali yesterday after four years as representative in Hawaii of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

MAX G. LINDER

He resigned to join the Califasia Limited of Los Angeles, the largest importers of oriental rattan furniture, which is distributed in many countries from factories at Hongkong.

Since Linder went to Hawaii trade with that territory and Los Angeles has more than doubled. His chamber post is being filled by David Larson, former executive vice-president of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, who will sail for Honolulu on the Calawali at noon today.

For those of you who want to learn a trade, here's a suggestion! The Liberty Candy Co., will teach you either for home or commercial purposes, candy-making, chocolate dipping and cake ornamenting. Supplies may be bought from them also. The address is 4th floor Grant Bldg., 355 S. Broadway, TUcker 4156.

You should order now shirts made to order for your husband's Xmas gift. Arthur M. Werner, the Custom Shirt Maker of 122 S. Spring (MUtual 1589) does excellent work and at modest prices. He also does altering and repairing of shirts.

Economy Cake: Cream one-half cupful butter substitute, add one cupful of sugar gradually and beat till it is smooth and creamy; then add three tablespoonfuls cocoa, one teaspoonful vanilla and one-fourth teaspoonful salt. Add to a cup of sour milk one teaspoonful soda and combine it with the first mixture alternately with two cupfuls of sifted flour. Bake in buttered layer cake pans, then put together and cover with white or butter icing.

Yes, you may have your brush replaced in your silver toilet set, by the Peerless Platers, the expert silver and gold smiths of 239½ S. Spring st. (upstairs.) They replate your silver knives and forks and tablespoons for $3.50 a dozen; $2.50 for teaspoons. Now you know their prices are small!

An excellent way to keep lemons fresh is to pack them immediately in sawdust or moist sand.

Grease the beanpot with butter or the rind of the pork before cooking beans and it will wash much easier.

If you all are not as enthusiastic as I am over the recipe I am giving you today I shall be horribly disappointed for I can vouch for its deliciousness and can recommend it as making the best fruit cake I have tasted in many a day, therefore, let me beg you to copy it carefully, and use it without fail!

GUASTI FRUIT CAKE

½ lb. of butter
½ lb. of brown sugar
½ lb. of flour.
1½ teaspoonfuls baking powder
½ cupful molasses
½ cupful GUASTI SWEET SHERRY FLAVORING
4 eggs (well beaten)
½ teaspoonful of soda (in little hot water)
2 lb. seeded raisins.
1 lb. currants
½ lb. citron
1 lb. walnuts or almonds
½ lb. candied cherries
(All cut fine and dredged in extra flour)
rinds of 1½ lemons grated juice of 2 lemons
1 teaspoonful of salt

Cream butter, add sugar, eggs, flour, molasses, soda, flour and baking powder sifted together, seasoning and fruit.

This makes about 7 pounds very dark, rich cake. Line layer loaf pans with heavy oiled paper, bake 3 or more hours in slow oven and allow to cool in pans and keep 3 weeks before serving. Baste with more Guasti Sweet Sherry Flavoring every 4 days and keep wrapped in cloths.

Did you have an awful time carving that last turkey for want of a proper knife? Don't let it occur again at Christmas. Go into Steiner's Cutlery Shop, 210 W. Third st., and select a carving set which by the way, will make a most acceptable gift.

"Thrift is not meanness, but management"

Surely you have some old carpets which you could put to very good use by having Fluff rugs made out of them. Have the Hoffman Rug Works, 2814 W Jefferson st. (EMpire 2048) do this work for you, because they are most reliable, and because their prices are reasonable.

Golden dressing (for fruit or nut salad)—Heat 1-4 cupful each of lemon juice, orange juice and pineapple juice and two tablespoonfuls sugar; add two beaten eggs and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly till thick; set aside to cool. When ready to serve, add ½ cup whipped cream, and sugar if necessary. In place of cream, the egg whites may be beaten separately and folded in.

Unusually delicious "hand" made bread and rolls and pies, which you get at De Mange's White Kitchen, W. 6th st., (DUnkirk 0[illegible])

Have your down pillows cleaned and renovated as a Christmas present to yourself. Isn't that a good idea? And I'll tell you to whom to go. The Wearever Up and Down Works, 1200 Washington st. (WEstmore 0[illegible]) do perfectly splendid work, very reasonably. Better phone them today.

How to judge mushrooms: Sprinkle a little salt on the gills of mushrooms to judge them before you eat; give the salt enough time to act. If the gills turn black they are fit to eat; if they turn red they are poisonous.

For cleaning frying pans, save the cocoa tins and cocoa boxes, etc. Fold over one edge flat for a handle and scrape with the sharp edge.

For scraping cooked food from cooking utensils, keep a cow's horn hanging near the kitchen sink.

Get rid of the clothes you no longer desire to wear; rid your home of articles you have grown tired of; such items will be most welcomed by the Children's Hospital Auxiliary Department of 712 Maple ave., a noble charity you should contribute to, so get up a bundle for them and if you can't TUcker 1[illegible] for phone number.

When washing glassware, add a little washing blue and a teaspoonful of ammonia to a basin of water, soapsuds to make it suds, wash and dry it with soft cheesecloth and polish with tissue paper or a soft brush.

To clean rust and stains from knives: Rub them well with the cut surface of a raw potato which has been dipped in fine cleaning powder.

Wonderfully fine olive oil, as well as the best imported Italian and French groceries may be had at Fazzi & Co., 219 S. Spring st. (MUtual 7612.

To pare pineapple quickly, cut into rings and peel each slice separately. For pitting cherries, a hairpen stuck point first in the stem end is excellent.

To clean a glass bottle, cut an egg shell in small pieces and drop them into the bottle; then fill it half full of water and shake well.

ANGELENOS PAY HIGH GAS PRICE

some, but the price is now steady at six gallons for $1, and a quart of oil free.

COLUMBUS RECORD

Although Columbus (O.) prices are the highest they have ever been including the World War period, the retail figure at 19 cents is 1 1-2 cents a gallon lower than local prices. Canton pays 19 cents for high-test gas and special blends and 15 cents for other grades. A State tax of 4 cents is included in the quotations.

Des Moines motorists obtain high grade gas for 15.5 cents, with many independents selling 3 to 4 cents below that price. The retail prices dropped to the present level about two months ago, and are remaining steady without "wars." The State tax is 3 cents a gallon.

Prevailing gasoline prices at Greater Boston stations are 16½ cents for ordinary gasoline, and from 18½ to 19 3-5 for higher tests and special blends.

COURTESY CARDS

At Austin, Tex., gasoline is selling for the uniform price of 15 cents a gallon, including 4 cents tax. This is a drop of 2 cents under a few months ago. All major companies issue courtesy cards to customers which entitle them to a 2-cent per gallon discount on all purchases and the practice has become so general in Austin that it is regarded as a price cut. Austin prices prevail in many Texas centers, including Waco, San Antonio and other larger cities.

Gasoline has been selling in Salt Lake City for the last year at 20 cents per gallon, including a 3-cent tax. At Albuquerque prices are affected by a "war" and range between 15 and 18 cents. New Mexico has a 5-cent State tax.

NORTHWEST PRICES

In the Northwest, Seattle prices have receded 1½ to 3½ cents in the last two weeks. Twenty cents per gallon is regarded normal during the winter, but some stations are selling at 18 cents.

The market at Portland appears fally well established at 20 cents, some selling at 18 cents. Following a bitter war last summer prices popped up to 22½ cents, but were brought back to a steady 20, including a 4-cent State tax.

BAILIFF AND WIFE GIVEN WEDDING FETE

William P. Walsh, veteran bailiff of the United States District Court here, and Mrs. Walsh yesterday celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary, a number of friends giving them a surprise. Mr. Walsh was formerly in the government secret service, having been personal bodyguard for Presidents Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt.

State's Wards Lament Silent Films' Dearth

Dearth of silent motion-picture films threatens to rob State wards of their chief amusement, according to Earl E. Jensen, director of institutions.

In a report to Gov. Young, Director Jensen said that motion pictures are shown in all State institutions, except the Blind Home and the State Narcotic Hospital, and that they are essential to the success of the amusement programs.

"We have been informed by the film board of trade," Jensen said, "that silent picture are getting hard to furnish because of the development of sound films. In a short time they will be unable to furnish us with pictures for our present equipment."

Director Jensen recommended that the question of installing some type of inexpensive sound equipment in the near future should be given serious consideration.

Los Angeles Dog Show Set to Open Today

Aristocrats in the canine world will compete for ribbons and cash premiums totaling $6000 at the Los Angeles National Winter Dog Show, opening in the Ambassador Auditorium at 10 a.m. today.

Andrew J. Albright, Jr., of New York, sportsman and judge, will open the show by inviting toy dogs into the ring. Next will come sporting dogs, including setters, pointers and whippets.

Judging will continue this afternoon and evening and all day Sunday, the best dog being named Sunday night as the final event.

Deputy Sheriffs Seeking Suspect After Stabbing of Boarder in Home

Accused of having fatally stabbed Nicolas Vargas, 33 years of age, boarder in his home, Louis Guerrero, 35, of 105 East Main street, Gabriel, is being sought by sheriff's office investigators.

Guerrero had been working in Santa Maria and returned home unexpectedly Thursday night, according to Deputy Sheriffs Mercer and Sepulveda. He was met at the door by Vargas and immediately began an attack on the latter which ended with him fatally wounded on a bed in which Mrs. Maria Guerrero, wife of the man, was lying. Vargas died a short while later at the Alhambra Receiving Center Emergency Hospital from a stab wound in the chest.

Guerrero is believed to have become enraged following arguments regarding the relationship between his wife and Vargas, who had lived in the household for about a year. Four small children present in the couple were in an adjoining room during the attack. Guerrero disappeared.

Plane Deaths Suits Filed by Administrator

Suits for $25,000 damages were filed against the Maddux Air Transport, Inc., for the deaths of Benjamin McLain Miller, and his wife, Minerva W. Miller, killed in the airplane accident near San Clemente, January 19, last. The complaints, filed by J. M. Today's Bible Text

If we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin.—I John 1:7.

RELATIVITY

Einstein only fears publicity about his projected visit to America because that makes it difficult for the good frau to save him from his friends.

THIS DOOR ALWAYS OPEN

If Mr. Coolidge objects to banquets as much as his daily comment indicates he should remember that the Western Union and Postal still are in business and that the regret telegram always gets a big hand.

PLOT FOR OPPENHEIM?

Consternation reigned in the Chamber of Deputies when it was learned that the portfolio of the Minister of Finance, containing important papers, was missing. But half of them thought Mr. Hearst had sneaked in the back door.

PHILOPROGENITIVENESS

With the great number of people recently contesting in the courts for the care and custody of children, sometimes of children who had been adopted, it would seem that the bump which phrenologists refer to as "philoprogenitiveness" is still prominent and not receding on man's head.

THE GOLD STANDARD

Although Sir Thomas Lipton's boats have never been able to win the silver cup in competition with American racing yachts, his fine, generous sportsmanlike qualities have won him a cup of gold from his admiring American friends throughout the land. This cup will be presented to him on December 4.

THE JOBLESS

The United States, with a population of 122,696,100, has 4,000,000 in round numbers out of work; Great Britain, with a population of 44,173,704, has 2,000,000 jobless; Germany, with 62,348,-793 people, has 3,184,000 unemployed. While our country appears to have the largest aggregate idle, yet Germany has more than any other nation compared with its population. Great Britain comes next and the United States is third. France has the fewest, 1000.

NEW CROP OF HERETICS

Gilbert Chesterton should write a new book of "Heretics," as an addendum to the unique volume with which he stirred up the animals twenty-five years ago. A large and luxuriant crop of them has come up since that time, particularly in the last few years, and it awaits the Chestertonian sickle.

Over in England they have Dean Inge, who shocked the conservative churchmen not long ago by his tolerant view of birth control and his more recent proposal that there should be two kinds of marriage, one a permanent and the other a limited contract, subject to cancellation—something like Ben Lindsey's "companionate" idea.

With what red-hot language would Mr. Chesterton scorch good white paper were he treating of the various heretical utterances of Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes of Smith College among them "there is no such thing as sin scientifically considered and hence it disappears into the limbo of forgotten superstitions?"

What would the good Gilbert say of that dean of women of a large university who sanctions the idea of free love, or of that California university professor who said recently, "There are more sacred relations outside of matrimony than within it"? What, if anything, would he say of St. John Erskine and his amazingly frank "Sincerity"? In what category would he put Bertrand Russell and his strong-smelling philosophy? How would he characterize Theodore Dreiser and his "American Tragedy" or Sinclair Lewis and his "Elmer Gantry"? With what instruments of torture would he harrow up the soul of Harry Emerson Fosdick, "the complete modernist"? How would he handle Julian Huxley's plan for a "scientific religion"?

All these certainly would be game for Chesterton, who has grown more and more conservative with the years. His quarter-century-old volume treats of few subjects quite so amenable to his peculiar form of satire as those just mentioned.

MacDONALD HOLDS ON

Ramsay MacDonald's government of the United Kingdom again exhibited its remarkable tenacity of life in the House of Commons Thursday, when that body voted down, 299 to 234, a vote of censure on the failure of the recent Imperial Conference to adopt even a tentative tariff agreement. How much this was due to agreement with the government policies and how much to the reluctance of all parties to precipitate a general election at this time cannot be judged from the data furnished by the dispatches, which do not even state to what extent the Conservatives supported the motion of censure offered by their leader, Stanley Baldwin. But the figures indicate that MacDonald mustered the full strength of his own party plus all, or nearly all, of the Liberals.

The support of the Liberals for MacDonald on a tariff issue would be expected; and in fairness to the Laborites it can be said that the lack of agreement in the Imperial Conference was due as much to the attitude of the Dominions as to that of the United Kingdom. Only South Africa appeared there as a whole-hearted supporter of anything resembling either "Imperial preference" or "Empire Free Trade," the rival protective tariff plans. And since these plans must be presented to the people of England, Scotland, Wales and North Ireland in the guise of food taxation it may be that even the Conservatives believe they are not first-class electioneering material.

Meanwhile the commercial depression hangs like a millstone about the necks of all parties. It started under the Conservative regime; it has continued with no visible improvement under Labor; the Liberals have presented no plans for ending it, which are essentially different from the schemes of Lloyd George which the electorate declined at the last election. Theoretically, the Liberals ought to be in the best position to take advantage of the situation, but their strength in Parliament is so small that nothing short of a landslide could increase it to government-forming size.

MacDonald's lease of life probably is indefinite so long as only the tariff question is involved, since that is one on which Labor and Liberals stand together. If—or rather, when—the MacDonald government falls, it will be on some other question. This, of course, will not preclude tariff agitation in the election and the Conservatives (if they themselves can choose between the rival schemes) undoubtedly will seek to make the tariff the principal issue. Indeed, they have not much of any other. Baldwin being apparently unwilling to grasp the nettle of the dole firmly, and having himself bungled the naval-limitations situation which MacDonald helped to straighten out with considerable brilliancy.

Unemployment is, so far as can be judged at this distance, the Achilles heel of the MacDonald regime. Though the Labor government went into office pledged to end it, it has done nothing save to continue the devices of its Conservative predecessor which it in turn inherited from the Liberal government just after the war. While doing nothing in masterly fashion is at times the highest statesmanship, this particular situation seems to demand action.

THE ARMS DISPUTE

The question of Versailles Treaty revision will not down; Germany apparently intends to agitate it at every possible opportunity and the outburst of Count von Bernstorff at Geneva was a part of this program. He demanded "parity of security," which would have meant either that the late Allies would have had to reduce themselves to the German level of relative impotence (force possible, but not in being, not considered) or permit Germany to raise her armament above the Versailles Treaty level. The latter alternative will not be accepted by France under any circumstances at present conceivable, and the arms parley accordingly adopted the French and British formula, which requires, in effect, that Germany remain disarmed no matter what other powers do.

This, of course, upholds one section of the Versailles Treaty at the expense of another, since the obligation to disarm, assumed by the late Allies, is plainly stated in the treaty. Upon the abstract merits of the matter Germany is correct beyond question. It is merely another case where human affairs are not governed by logic. One of the reasons why they are not in this case is Adolph Hitler and the strength of other reactionary movements in Germany.

So the arms parley struggles on, accomplishing a little, perhaps, where so much is needed. Meanwhile the Norwegian Parliament awards to Frank B. Kellogg the Nobel peace prize for 1929, a tangible recognition of the success of the Kellogg-Briand pact. The prize goes to Judge Kellogg (he is now a member of the World Court) because while Briand first proposed the plan, it was Kellogg who thought of making it multilateral and who carried through the negotiations which resulted in its signature by more than fifty nations. This pact, even more than the Versailles Treaty, is the moving force behind the negotiations at Geneva, since it furnishes a powerful argument for actual disarmament.

Nations that renounce war have no need of arms—that is, baldly stated, the contention the Geneva diplomats have to struggle with; it is in the background of all discussion. Having signed the Kellogg-Briand pact, the nations cannot refuse to carry out its logical consequences without loss of face. That is the Kellogg contribution and a great one. The Nobel prize seems to have been well awarded.

HOME PERILS

We esteem home as the safety zone of society. We hurry home to escape hazards. We hide away at home to avoid accident.

And yet this seemingly most innocent institution is one of the most perilous spots in the nation. It has stairs to trip us up and tumble us down into the grave. It has stepladders lurking in closets waiting to come out and have their fling at old people. It nurtures shaky chairs that bring the inhabitants down like a pestilence. It harbors deadly gas that produces greater havoc in the long run than that released on battlefields. It kindles wicked fires that lick their red chops with tongues of flame before devouring our kiddies.

We have made it unprofitable for industry to maim and kill. We set the police on morons who run us down on the highway. But we throw few safeguards around the home. We seldom rid it of its nest of viper accidents in wait to kill.

We slay 23,000 annually in the home by rickety furniture, leaky pipes and superannuated stoves, declare statistics. And most of these are women and children. A stunt flyer in the East had weathered all sorts of perils in the sky; but a stairway in his own home got him in the end.

CENTURY OF THE CHILD

Ellen Key's prophecy of thirty years ago in "The Century of the Child" is being fulfilled today in a national Child Welfare Conference, sponsored by the President and attended by notables from every walk of life.

BACK TO NATURE
By James J. Montague

I'd like to have a hilltop farm
Where sheep and cows could graze—
A place that had the pleasant charm
Of old Colonial days,
With barns that burst with hay and grain,
Which I could view with pride,
And verdant slopes of sky and plain
That stretched on every side,
And I could sit beside the gate
Where flowering vines ran riot,
And purple lilacs bloomed, and wait
Till some one came to buy it.

An old-time house I'd like to own
With columns tall and white
And walls of gray and mossy stone—
A grand imposing sight.
I'd like to stand upon the porch,
In cool white garments dressed
And watch the sun, a ruddy torch,
Sink slowly in the west.
I'd make the place a lovely spot,
I'd furnish and restore it,
And then I'd wait until I got
A decent offer for it.

I've always longed for an estate
With curving roads that wound
Beyond a massive iron gate,
Tall stately trees around.
When through the countryside I roam
Upon an autumn day,
I covet every splendid home
I see beside the way.
For old and noble piles that stand
Where fields are bright and sunny,
Although they're sold at second-hand
Will bring a lot of money.

NOW that all of us would like to know a sure way to tell when rain is coming, our friend, L. J. Garnsey, old-timer and descendant of pioneers, comes to our rescue.

"The gophers, living underground where heavy rains might drown them out," he writes, "naturally are gifted with an instinct of self-preservation which warns them when they should move from low ground to high ground. I have been observing gophers for the last fifty years and have noticed that whenever heavy rain is coming the dirt thrown out of a fresh gopher hole is thrown out on the left side. Find a fresh gopher hole and if the dirt is thrown out on the right side you may safely go ahead and plan your picnic, no matter what the weather indications are. But if it is thrown out on the left side, stay home, though bright and fair be all the skies above you."

That seems so simple any child should be able to do it. But, by the way, which is the left side of a round hole?

Will Col. Hersey Take a Bow?

With due respect to friend Garnsey, who undoubtedly knows more things than we ever hope to learn, we think our other friend, Col. H. B. Hersey, the official weather forecaster for Los Angeles, hits the bull's-eye more dependably than does any other weather prophet we ever saw.

Both fruit ranchers and week-end tourists in Southern California have learned to have great respect for Col. Hersey, and well they should. For the colonel is a thorough scientist. It was Col. Hersey's knowledge of air currents, when he was just Lieut. Hersey, which enabled America to win the first international balloon race it ever won, and he was one of the two men who sailed that balloon to victory. He has learned a great deal since then and still is learning. We doubt that any weather bureau anywhere is under the direction of a more thoroughly qualified man.

The Live-Stock Show

Do you realize that the Christmas Live Stock Show which opens at the Los Angeles Stockyards today will be the greatest live-stock show ever held west of the Missouri River? The finest beef cattle, swine and sheep shown in the American Royal in Kansas City last week are here for this show, and many famous stockmen who never before thought of shipping their prize stock to the Pacific Coast are here and have brought their best, realizing that the competition will be keen and the honor of winning in this Los Angeles show will rank with the honor of winning in Kansas City and Chicago.

They Come, They See, They Are Conquered

Those who saw the show last year will remember the pens of polished and aristocratic hogs exhibited by Cleat Brooks of Florida. Hung on lines above the pens fluttered the premium ribbons Brooks's hogs had won, and there were hundreds of them. Every important show in this country and in Canada had contributed to that collection of emblems of victory, and many a stock lover who paused there envied Florida the possession of such a traveling advertisement.

Well, Brooks and his champion hogs will be here again, but this time they will not be registered from Florida. They will be registered from Baldwin Park, Cal. When Brooks first came here in 1928 it seemed to him that Southern California had a stupendous future for raisers of pure-bred stock. When he came again last year the conviction grew on him. So now he is one of ours, and wherever he takes his splendid droves he advertises Southern California.

That's just one result of our stock show. It is resulting in the development of finer herds, droves and flocks on thousands of ranches, which means vast additions to Southern California's wealth and prosperity. For stock men are upbuilders of the country. They are men who stay put and build up famous farms.

Partly Explaining the Mystery

To old stockmen, it is astonishing that the Los Angeles show has grown so great though only five years old. And once more we have to thank our climate. Following the American Royal there is a great show in Chicago, but many a stockman has found that his stock in transit to or from that show may be caught by subzero weather and Southern California looks good to them.

The climate is not the main reason, of course, for stockmen are more influenced by friendship and personal admiration than by anything else. If they like you and your intentions they accept your invitation. They like J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Union Stockyards, and they have faith in his intentions. They like Los Angeles and are interested in the progress of Southern California along the lines they believe make for stability. But the climate also helps a lot.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

THE HAITIAN ELECTION
(Detroit Free Press)

There is little reason to be surprised because the Haitians have elected as President of their country a man who is an opponent of the American occupation. Any nation that attempts to help another nation is extremely foolish if it expects thanks or gratitude as a reward. It may get both. Such things have happened. But neither ever should be looked for.

So far as President Stenio Vincent is concerned, it does not follow that because he has opposed American occupation he has a feeling of real hostility toward the United States or even is deeply dissatisfied with the supervision of the affairs of his country that has been maintained by Washington. If he has the sense his public career up to this time suggests, he must know that his election would have been impossible but for that supervision, and that his future prospects and perhaps his life depend considerably on some sort of continuance of American oversight.

HE KNOWS WHEN TO QUIT
(New York Evening Post)

We are sorry to see Bobby Jones go. Quite casually, the news columns speak of him as "the greatest golfer the world has ever known." That so great a figure should pass from the sport stage must be an occasion for regret. But there would be even deeper sorrow if we were to see him go on beyond the full flower of his powers and fall to the level of the "Old Master," struggling vainly against the assaults of lesser but youthful players. To Bobby Jones, today, therefore, must go a new respect and admiration. He lives up to the sound head which he had always carried. He has learned one of the hardest lessons of human life, a lesson that even Napoleon never learned; he has learned when to quit. As both man and golfer his countrymen must honor him.

CHRISTMAS CLUBS
[Providence Journal]

It is pleasant to read that Rhode Island is one of the States in which this year's Christmas clubs show a gain over those of last year. The amount which it is estimated will shortly be paid over to club depositors in this State is $4,308,000. Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut are among the other commonwealths that report an increase.

While the name "Chrismas" is applied to these clubs, the money that is paid to depositors just previous to the holiday season is used for all sorts of purposes, no doubt. Some of it is left on deposit, some is employed for the purchase of Christmas gifts, and some is reinvested in stocks and bonds. The usefulness of the system as an aid to thrift is well established.

WHAT CANADA LACKS
[Detroit Free Press]

The Brooklyn Eagle is surprised to read that there are wolves in Canada which are a menace to life. We are not at all sure that there really are any such wolves across the line. Weird stories that won't stand up sometimes are concocted at the expense of remote places in the Dominion. But if there are such wolves, they at least are not the human sort, such as abound here.

Christmas and the President

EAGLE ROCK, Nov. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Christmas is close at hand. Our worthy President, Herbert Hoover, is performing a mighty work for the benefit of the people of the United States, and the rest of humanity, under a stupendous political opposition to his every move. Under this undeserved opposition and criticism he must feel the sting of being unappreciated for his honest and humane efforts.

To lessen this feeling in some degree, suppose we who appreciate his work, unite in sending him a cheering Christmas card expressing our appreciation of his efforts in office.

I am writing you and a number of other worthy newspapers asking that you take this matter up and call upon the people to respond to this and send the cards assuring him that he has our hearty support in his efforts for the good of the nation.

I really believe that a deluge of cheery greetings would pour in upon him from thousands who would willingly do more if they could. President Hoover loves the children and I am sure they will be glad to help.

If this could be accomplished it would surely bring a tingle of joy to his brave heart and make his pathway a little brighter through the realisation that the people see the light as he sees it.

Charles H. Markham

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Giver of All Good yesterday summoned from his home at Altadena to eternal rest one of the outstanding figures of the railroad world—Charles H. Markham, chairman of the board of the Illinois Central Railroad, with headquarters in Chicago.

He was, as Henry Watterson said of John Jacob Astor, "one of God Almighty's gentlemen." He loved his associates and his co-workers and always referred to them as "his boys."

When complimented for the part he played in the business world he would only remark, "I feel I have led a useful life." He was truly the dean of the railroad men of the world.

Peace to his memory. He left the impress of a great character on the business world. He brought the railroads closer to the people and was a great harmonizer—a splendid Christian gentleman has gone.

Try the Whipping Post

INGLEWOOD, Nov. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In a recent issue of your paper somebody took a judge to task for "slapping a criminal on the wrist" and saying, "Naughty! Naughty!" That was wrong. Don't blame the courts because most of our criminals go unwhipped of justice. Rather blame our maudlin legislatures. If every man who belongs in jail were to be so treated we would probably need at least twenty jails for every one. We now have law-abiding, industrious citizens who have neither the ability nor the desire to stand any such expense, and they shouldn't. A liberal use of the lash for yeggs, auto strippers, etc., is the only solution. The first duty of society is to protect law-abiding people to the limit at the minimum expense. If society doesn't owe that to a decent man or woman, then no decent person owes very much to society.

A whipping post may seem barbarous, but it would very rarely be used. Certain people would change their ways very quickly or emigrate to other States, where sob sisters, both in trousers and petticoats, could weep over "poor lost lambs," "some mother's son," etc., ad nauseam, but our State would be a much better place to live in in many ways. Let's try it, at least. GEORGE M. VEILE.

For All-Round Help

LONG BEACH, Nov. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your editorial in Sunday's paper with reference to the suffering of the Chinese nation ought to meet with the approval of all—Christian people in this country. All the fault that I find with it is it does not go far enough. While helping suffering China we could relieve our unemployed here by getting a lot of the left-over vessels from the war into action again—then getting the railroads busy hauling our surplus grain to the Pacific Ocean.

MOVIE MILLIONS

The "talkies" have firmly established themselves in the favor of the public, according to figures released from Will Hays's office of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors. Since 1922 the average weekly attendance in the United States at picture houses has almost tripled, increasing from 40,000,000 to 115,000,000. The figures for 1929 were 95,000,000 with rapid gain shown since sound films have been generally established. It is estimated that $500,000,000 has been invested in sound equipment and the industry has become fourth largest in the United States with an investment that runs into the billions. Evidently the American public regards movies as one of the necessities, not the luxuries, of modern life. F. H. H.

CLUB COMBINATIONS

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

Twice within recent weeks it has been my good fortune to attend noon luncheons whereat several of our so-called service clubs were combined in joint session for big purposes. The results proved so pronouncedly good that it makes me wonder why the idea had not been worked out before, and why more of such meetings in the future would not be fine for all concerned—most of all, for Los Angeles itself, in the large.

These service clubs, such as Rotary, the Lions, Kiwanis and so on—and I'd include the Advertising Club, the City Club and even the Chamber of Commerce in the same category—are after all quasi-civic institutions. They may be, as are the first-named groups, limited in membership to one each of a business classification; or be wide open, as are the others, but in essentials they operate on a common basis of inter-related good to their members and toward the community as such. Some may have definitely set ideals toward which they are working; others may have particular objectives and fields; still others broaden their activities into very wide scope. Yet in essence they are all striving for the same basic ends, and the successes they may attain in their varied ways all come down to the same foundation—the advancement of their own personnel, and inevitably the betterment of the city as such, thereby.

Why not, then, a more unified correlation of procedure among them, that their work in the broader view may be more certain of achievement and take on even a greater power?

These several clubs occupy quite individualized fields, of course, and should not in any way lose their identity nor limit their activities therein. Still and all, there are times when the greater good of the city demands the united backing of all its loyal citizens—and how can such a need be more vividly brought before its best manhood and womanhood than through a general appeal to its service club membership and a co-operative action in unison of these forces? The pronounced success of the two joint meetings I attended suggests the advisability, even the necessity, of providing for some such effort on call, and the devising of ways and means by which it could be obtained when desired.

Might it not be possible, then, to organize a kind of super-council of the heads of these various bodies—say, their presidents and secretaries—to constitute a sort of general committee of the whole, to be brought together whenever necessary? This body could then take up and consider the matter at issue and, having discussed it fully, either order a joint assembly of all clubs' membership, or ask for special committees from each, that unified action might be had. Possibly not many such occasions would arise; the fewer such meetings, the more outstanding they would be, and the more emphatic their pronouncements. But, did the necessity become plain, there would at least then be some means of action, some head that could function, and whatever emergency might exist, it could be met promptly, emphatically and in good order.

This would not in any way depreciate the standing, the individuality, of any of these clubs as such, nor infringe upon the authority of the national or international status of their affiliations, which many of them have and treasure. It would not in the least interfere with their obligations to their own members or to their similarly associated bodies. It would have no status elsewhere or otherwise; it would be merely a loosely knit local staff, to be utilised when needed and only then would it act. It would possess no jurisdictional nor coercive powers; it would be entirely voluntary, without dues or corporate entity—just a means to an end, but toward an end of what good result no one would dare set a limit.

Most service clubs are quite jealous of their status and are not likely to do anything to permit an infringement thereupon. Nothing hinting at that could be tolerated. But in view of what has so recently proved possible twice, so effectively resultant, might not a method to attain that end in future be devised that would serve when again the need arose, without the travail that (I happen to know) was required to bring about those two recent joint gatherings? And would it not conduce to a better feeling, a closer approach, between all these clubs, for the common weal?

A cross section of service club memberships in any town will reveal not mere congeries of Babbitts, back patters, jollers—not at all. Their rosters are made up largely of the best elements of the business life of their vicinities—the men who do things today. If these now somewhat scattered powers could be called into unified action for the general good at times of crises or need, what might not a community profit through their common wisdom and determined activities? By some such plan as here suggested—admittedly nebulous, but at least the embryo of an idea, I hope—might not Los Angeles benefit mightily, now and then? Would it not broaden acquaintance, widen viewpoints, enlarge vision and wholly make for solidarity among our sturdy business men and women, the while it created a mighty weapon in the warfare for the general good?

That is, education pays everybody except the educator.

Short history of the last few years: Show off; show down, show up.

All things are relative, and being an important citizen is merely a matter of finding a town small enough.

For an example of perfect philosophy, note the grown conviction that a man looks better in old clothes.

Sport: A $1,000,000,000 business built up by free advertising in the newspapers.

In a city where all are strangers, you don't know your neighbor has gone into bankruptcy until you see the family in a swell new car.

Never poke fun at ancient. Look how the world suffers when they hibernate.

But why hope to convert the heathen in one generation when it took a million years to get the white race ready?

Still, you must expect a man to be unemployed in the daytime if he drives a truck at night.

Think how much lost motion could be eliminated if the rich man would collect our pay, settle our grocery bills and then keep the rest.

You fear the world is going to the dogs, and t' en you see some male creature with rouge on and don't give a darn if it does.

Maybe the old-fashioned girl wasn't smart, but she didn't break a leg to show her calfness when a horn tooted out in front.

If nature never tried to give man motive power with a horn attached, how do you account for the wild jackass?

And the whole history of civilization is revealed by the words: "Wish I had a better car."

Correct this sentence: "I have seen forty acquaintances today," said the sick man, "and only thirty-seven offered me advice."

There's one thing a man who knows it all doesn't know, and that's how unpopular he is.

It is not necessary to borrow trouble. Any of your relatives will gladly give you all you want.

Another way to lessen useless noises would be to show stupid people some other way to attract attention.

RIPPLING RHYMES

GANG WARFARE

When the vengeful gangland killer wants to execute a foe, he would hide behind a pillar so he lets the bullets go; he would have his form protected when the bullets are ejected; bravery is not expected from this sort of bloodstained bo. Seldom is the victim given any chance to save his suit; to his side a car is driven and the guns begin to shoot; or a gunman steps behind him and the lead begins to grind him, and at dawn the peelers find him deader than a cast-off boot. There are murderers a-plenty when a killing must be done; sometimes six or eight or twenty will unite in murder one; that one, by his gods forsaken, unaware is overtaken, and his system being shaken with the contents of gun. You have heard of codes of honor that the gangsters entertain, but that theory is a goner as you read about the slaying from an ambush they are trying, and the courage of a chicken animates the hands that quicken business in Morticians' Lane. The poor gangster's life is rapid, growing swifter every year; and his joys are few and vapid, for he lives in deadly fear; and the comrades' methods bore him, for they never stand before him when with bullets they would score him, they are always in the rear. He is walking, idly dreaming, of some maiden he would wed; he is planning, he is scheming, for some days ahead; but some code-of-honor killers, hidden by adjacent pillars, furnish plots for red-hot thrillers, and the dreamer's lying dead.

JURY'S VERDICT ACQUITS GIRNAU

Publisher Found Not Guilty in Election-Attack Action

Smith, Candidate for Mayor, and Detective Accusers

Case Concluded Following Four Hours' Deliberation

Paul Girnau, publisher of a political weekly, was found not guilty of libeling Carlin G. Smith, former candidate for Mayor, and Charles A. Burke, private detective, by a jury in Municipal Judge Bogue's court late yesterday. The jury deliberated about four hours.

Girnau was accused of libel following publication of an article concerning a "baby milk fund" managed by Carlin G. Smith Community and Recreation Corporation. In it Girnau characterized the fund as a "racket" and maintained that only a small portion of the money collected had been spent for milk.

In his address to the jury, Paul Shanley, defense attorney, declared he had established that records of the corporation regarding the collection of money from the milk cans which Smith said were confused about the city are "very sketchy and incomplete," while Deputy City Prosecutor Lindley declared the milk fund is a legitimate enterprise.

SUIT ASKED FOR DAMAGES

For injuries received when a freight elevator crashed to the basement of the King Edward Hotel, 760 S. Main and Los Angeles streets, September 30, George P. Webster, salesman, has sued John Parkinson and Mrs. Thomas Dodge for $5000. Webster, through his attorney, Joseph L. Palmer, asserts the faulty elevator equipment caused the accident.

REPLETE CITY TURNS TO BOOKS

Public Library's Busiest Day Recorded

Corridor Scenes

Glimpses here and there in busy Los Angeles Library as sketched by Times Staff Artist Garbutt.

IT WAS Turnaway Day yesterday at the Los Angeles Public Library, when a new record was established for a single day's patronage.

Eight thousand books were returned between opening time and 4 p.m., and in most instances the borrower departed with another volume. Assuming that every tenth visitor was a "first timer," library officials estimated that approximately 18,000 books were cleared by the institution.

It was observed, also, that most of the visitors in the reading rooms were men, and a casual survey revealed that the majority favored scientific subjects. Feminine readers seemed to prefer light fiction with a romantic twist. When the reading rooms were filled to capacity late comers found sitting room on the floor, even in the corridors.

Page boys were simply swamped trying to keep up the dizzy pace and the same applied to the clerical staff.

Chilly weather always means big business at the library, but yesterday's record was established when the readers might easily have been strolling through the parks or playing golfette without discomfort.

ORCHESTRA PLANS CONCERT

Manual Arts High School's orchestra, under direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Ruppeck Peterson, will give its second annual concert next Friday evening in the school auditorium, 4131 South Vermont avenue. The program will include solos by Georgia Mae Young and Earl Jones. Officers of the orchestra, which comprises sixty members, are Wendell Buttery, president; Esther Lawrence, vice-president; Florence Lamberg and Ethel Carter, secretaries; Ed Solomon treasurer; Jacob Guyer, librarian, and Raymond Hack and Earl Heverly, managers.

POETRY COURSE OFFERED

Ten lessons in the writing of Christmas jingles, limericks, and more serious poems, will be given at the Sentous School, 1205 West Pico street, beginning Monday. The class will meet Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 7-8 p.m. There will also be advice on how to sell light verse and poems.

COL. HADLEY WINS SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Veterans' Home Governor Says Wife Broke Dishes During Tantrums

Col. John A. Hadley, governor of the National Home for Disabled Veterans, yesterday won a divorce from Mrs. Mabelle K. Hadley in Superior Judge Hazlett's court, on grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Hadley had filed a suit for separate maintenance, but did not press it to trial. Col. Hadley winning on a default on his cross-complaint.

Judge Hazlett approved a property settlement agreement in which Col. Hadley agrees to pay Mrs. Hadley $4000 to relinquish all claim for community property, as well as guaranteeing her $100 a month as long as she lives without remarrying. He also agrees to maintain and educate their children during their minority, and to pay the wife's counsel fees.

The Hadleys married at Rumford, Me., August 1, 1906, and separated April 3, last. Col. Hadley testified that his wife had tantrums during which she tore window shades and broke dishes.

Judge Hazlett did not make any order regarding custody of the minor children, George 18, and Beatrice, 15. Attorney H. W. Taft represented Mrs. Hadley and Attorney Edward Penprase appeared for Col. Hadley.

BOMBING-PLOT QUINTET HELD

Pocket Knife of Union Chief Important Clew

All Suspects to Face Trial in Superior Court

Accused of Planning Outrage at Local Theater

A pearl-handled pocket knife which Thomas W. Armentrout, union official, according to the asserted confession of his brother-in-law used in preparing a stench bomb to be exploded in a downtown theater, proved sufficient evidence to warrant holding him with four codefendants for Superior Court trial on charges of conspiracy in connection with the bombing, Municipal Judge Baird decided yesterday.

Judge Baird held Armentrout under $2000 bail, but reduced that of his codefendants, Charles E. Rogers, his brother-in-law; Charles Gray and Frank S. Higgins, to $1000 each and that of Mrs. Cora Lane, also a defendant, to $250. In ordering Armentrout held Judge Baird denied a motion by Thomas P. White, defense counsel, to dismiss the charges against him.

NONPOISONOUS GAS

Ray H. Pincker, police chemist, was the chief witness called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Sullivan yesterday. He declared that particles found on the blade of Armentrout's knife, taken from him after his arrest, were similar under the microscope to particles of the sodium bicarbonate tablets used in making the stench bomb. The combination of chemicals used, he testified, would be explosive in nature and would produce "copious quantities of carbon dioxide. This is a nonpoisonous gas with a fetid, rancid-like, disgusting stench."

UNION OFFICIAL

Mrs. Nellie Todd, a friend of Rogers, testified that Armentrout came to the hotel where all of the defendants except him resided on the night of the 14th inst., the night before the second attempted bombing of the theater, to see Rogers and remained two hours. The theater first was bombed on the 8th inst., other witnesses declared. After the first arrests had been made, Armentrout told her, "For God's sake, don't bring my name into it," she testified.

Detective Lieutenant Hynes, chief of the police intelligence division, testified that Armentrout is assistant manager of the motion-picture projectionists' union. There had been trouble between the union and the proprietor of the theater, he said, the union demanding that he employ five operators in place of the two found sufficient.

COURT PONDERS SON'S PETITION

Kirk Guardianship Case Awaits Decision

Superior Judge Haslett yesterday took under submission Norman T. Kirk's petition for appointment of a guardianship for his mother, Mrs. Laura Jane Kirk, 79-year-old widow of John E. Kirk, harvester inventor. The son asserts that Mrs. Kirk is incompetent to handle her estate which, he adds, shrank from the $250,000 left by her husband, to $65,000. The hearings consumed sixteen weeks.

Argument by Mrs. Kirk's attorneys, John C. Stick and W. C. Snyder, and concluding pleas by Attorney Earl C. Wakeman for the son preceded giving the case to the judge. Kirk's lawyers asserted that she had proved herself of sound mind, and that the son had resorted to guardianship proceedings after receiving from his mother $30,000 which she intended for loaning out and which he regards as a gift. The son's lawyer contended that Mrs. Kirk had betrayed mental uncertainty in her examination on business dealings.

The Kirk family dissensions were held to public notice in the summer of 1929 when the son advertised for information as to his mother's whereabouts. She had left his home in San Marino, and was located five days later in a rented room, where she refused to return to her son's home. Last January she broke her hip, necessitating using a wheel chair. She did not attend the guardianship hearings, but Judge Haslett held two court sessions at the home where she resides in South Pasadena.

WIDOW PAYS TO LEARN MEANING OF WORD 'FREE'

Fifty cents an hour to learn the significance of the word "free" was the charge paid by one Californian, according to Director Will J. French of the State Department of Industrial Relations. French related the incident in a report to Gov. Young on the activities and experiences of his department workers.

"One of the State employment agencies received a call from a widow for a man to chop wood," he said. "The order was promptly filled. Noting the energy displayed by the worker, the woman warned him that he could take all the time he wanted.

"When told that if that course were followed it would cost her extra money at the rate of 50 cents an hour, she was surprised," said Director French. "She expressed herself with some vigor concerning a State free employment agency that permits men to charge for their services."

Husband Granted Divorce on Tale Wife Made Him Sleep in Henhouse

"Nobody here but us chickens," John F. Whitney was entitled to cackle from the hen house, where he was compelled to sleep, he testified yesterday. Whitney was telling Superior Judge Rankin how his wife, Mrs. Cora Belle Whitney, henpecked him in an original manner, egging him on to divorce.

"My wife owns a maternity hospital, but she refused to let me stay in the house," asserted Whitney. "Instead, she put a cot in the chicken house and told me to use that for a living-room."

Judge Rankin cut-cut-cut the matrimonial bonds.

TRIO HELD FOR TRIAL AS BANDITS

Police Charge Three With Douglas Fairbanks Hold-up and Other Robberies

Ronald Brian, 20 years of age; Kenneth Golden, 22, and Ted Griffin, 23, asserted by police to have committed many robberies in the bay district, including the hold-up of Douglas Fairbanks, film star, are being held under $25,000 bail each to await Superior Court trial on robbery charges following their preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Turney yesterday.

Detective Captain Watson and Motorcycle Officer Rober of the Santa Monica police department said the trio was arrested at 239-J Pacific avenue, Santa Monica. Griffin fled, but was captured after being shot in the shoulder by Rober. Later a spectacular effort to escape by Brian was foiled when he sprained an ankle leaping from the second-story window of the Los Angeles City Jail.

Detective Lieutenant Eddins of the West Los Angeles division said that Golden admits taking part with the other two youths in the robbery of Halloween guests at the homes of Clyde Patterson, 623 Beverly Glen Boulevard, and Vierrie Goodwin, 173 North Anita street. Brian and Griffin also are held on a charge of robbing Dr. Lawrence Harrell, 1556 North Beverly Glen, of $10 after forcing him and Mrs. Harrell to drive their automobile to a secluded spot.

Tax Payments Set Mark for Current Year

Compilation of tax collections at noon yesterday showed that during the eight preceding business hours a total of $1,816,509.67 was collected by the office of Tax Collector Welch.

The payments comprise first installments of levies for the fiscal year 1930-1931, and were collected between noon and 5 p.m. Wednesday and from 9 a.m. until noon yesterday, the office being closed Thanksgiving Day. The total is the largest amount collected for any one day this year, and brings the total collections to date this year to $16,351,166.48, which is approximately 13 per cent of the tax to be collected. The office this year is scheduled to collect $126,131,533.60.

First installments of taxes become delinquent if unpaid by 5 p.m. next Friday. Instead of closing at noon today as customary, the office will remain open until 5 p.m., Welch said.

Diamond Gift Wins Divorce

When his wife flashed another man's diamond in his eyes she taunted him, it was asserted yesterday by Stephen A. Wilson, employee of a Culver City motion-picture studio, in getting a divorce from Mrs. Emily Wilson.

"My wife ran away with this other man," Wilson testified. "Then she came back to show me her diamond ring and expensive clothing. She said to me: 'Look what Bill gave me.' And then she left me again."

Superior Judge Guerin granted Wilson a decree on grounds of desertion. Attorney S. S. Hahn appeared for the husband.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HEADS TO MEET HERE

The executive committee of the California Christian Endeavor Union will hold its quarterly meeting today and tomorrow at its headquarters in the Columbia Building, 313 West Third street. The sessions are to begin today at 1:30 p.m. and tomorrow at 8:45 a.m. The quarterly banquet will be at 6 p.m. today in the cafeteria at 542 South Broadway. Among the officials scheduled to attend are Dr. L. B. Hillis, student pastor at the University of California; Will Volt, secretary of the State union; Louie Mathewson of San Francisco, State Vice-President; Howard Brown, general secretary; Paul Brown, Pacific Coast secretary, and Ralph Rambo, State president. The latter is to preside.

LASKY TO FILM TALE OF YOUTH

First National Signs Robert Allen on Long Contract; Harold Lloyd's Next Will Be Western Travesty; R.-K.-O. Director Comes Home From Europe

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Catching its heroines younger and younger is what Paramount seems to be doing these days. First there was "Romance of a Co-ed," or some such title; then there was "Diary of a High School Girl," and now the company is announcing "School Girl."

MITZI GREEN

Just who wrote "School Girl" isn't related, but it is known that the picture is to have an all-star cast.

There is a likelihood that Mitzi Green will play the name role, having revealed herself as possessing unusual talent, not only for comedy, but for drama as well.

FIRST NATIONAL TO SIGN COLLEGE BOY

There is an extremely lucky young man from Dartmouth College who is being signed by First National to play featured roles.

His name is Robert Allen, and he has just been graduated from Dartmouth. He is coming West with the Dartmouth team, which plays Stanford today, and expects to come down to Hollywood tomorrow, and to sign his contract Monday.

Allen has never had any acting experience with the exception of stage work with the college dramatic club. Jack Warner met him in New York recently, decided that he was an excellent picture type, and at once made him a picture offer.

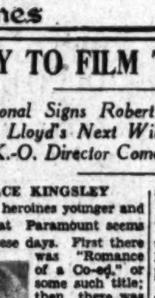
Harold Lloyd is abandoning his idea of starring in a college story with a football angle, we learned yesterday.



HAROLD LLOYD

Instead, the story which he is most keenly enthusiastic about just now is a comedy kidding the westerns. Of course it will be a talker, although he will continue his clever method of using no more dialogue than is absolutely necessary. He has other ideas in mind also, but unless he changes his intentions, the western will be made as his next effort. He and Clyde Bruckman, who will direct the next Lloyd picture, are at work now on the story.

Lloyd plans to start his comedy about January 1, but in the meantime in the intervals of story writing, is playing golf.

It is likely that Lloyd will have to choose a new leading lady for his coming comedy, since Barbara Kent is under contract to Universal, which has a lot of important things in mind for her. Other companies, too, are clamoring to borrow the young actress for starring rolls, and the comedian doesn't feel he is justified in dimming her glory by having her play a necessarily very recondary role, in case some big opportunity comes.

Jesse Lasky, Jr., Works

Like father, like son, says the old saw, and Jesse Lasky, Jr., is proving it by his love of work and of theatrical activity.

Young Lasky has just left for New York, where he is to produce a Spanish picture, although the name of the production is being kept quiet. The young man recently graduated from college, and at once interested himself in picture affairs.

Pauline Garon With Lasky

While the date for making "It Pays to Advertise" is not definite, we learn that Pauline Garon has been engaged by Paramount to play one of the leading feminine roles, that of the French girl, in the comedy which is to star Buddy Rogers.

Edwin Knopf is to direct the picture, which is an adaptation of the old stage comedy which served George M. Cohan in days gone by.

William Janney in It

William Janney, we learn, has just been signed by Fox for a featured role. There is a possibility that Janney may receive a long-term contract, but in the meantime he is to play an important part in "Waiting at the Church," in which John Wayne and Maureen O'Sullivan will play leading roles.

The young actor entered pictures three years ago as the brother of Mary Pickford in "Coquette." He had played feature roles in several New York stage plays, including "Merton of the Movies" and "Tommy."

Paul Sloane Returns

Paul Sloane and Lillian B. Sloane, his singer-wife, return from Europe today, having spent four months abroad in rest and observation of motion-picture and musical conditions in Europe.

PAUL SLOANE

Sloane, who was given a leave of absence and an extension of his R.-K.-O. contract, was invited by a noted foreign group to study progress made in London, Paris, Berlin and Rome movies. He and Mrs. Sloane also traveled through Austria and Hungary. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Marmont in England and of other friends formerly of the Hollywood colony, who feted them in London and Paris.

The director is to start work immediately on a dramatic vehicle for Radio.

Olive Tell With Paramount

Olive Tell, stage and screen player, yesterday joined the all-star cast of Paramount's "Ladies' Man," in which William Powell carries the title role of a Broadway Don Juan. The actress joins a cast which also includes Kay Francis, Carol Lombard, Paul Lukas, Regis Toomey and Martin Burton.

World Experts in Mathematics Assemble Here

Noted mathematicians from both the new and the old world assembled at the University on Southern California yesterday when the American Mathematics Society held its regular meeting. Prof. E. R. Hedrick, instructor in mathematics at the university and president of the society, acted as chairman and thirty scientific papers were read by professors from Berkeley, California Institute of Technology, Stanford, Arizona and U. C. L. A.

At the morning session Prof. H. F. Blichseldt of Stanford spoke on "The Method of Geometry in Numbers." He is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and is regarded as one of America's foremost mathematical authorities.

Harold Bohr, member of the faculty of the University of Copenhagen, discussed "The Theory of Elrichlet." He is visiting professor at Stanford University and is a brother of Niels Bohr, discoverer of the Bohr theory of structure of atoms.

On Monday Prof. Bohr will lecture at the university on "The Geneva Theorem of Ingerol Functions." This talk will be given under the auspices of the university administration.

SELF-ACCUSED MAN WANTED BY IDAHO

Word was received by the Sheriff's office yesterday that Robert Martin, alias Robert Cartwright, 29 years of age, who voluntarily surrendered himself to Acting Captain Ostraff last Thursday with the statement that he had embezzled between $500 and $600 while employed as a washing machine salesman in Wallace, Idaho, will be returned to face the charge.

PLAZA BOOTBLACKS WILL DINE TOMORROW

Bootblacks of the Plaza will have a belated Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow at 421 East Fifth street. The affair is an annual event sponsored by the Open Air Evangelistic Association. Rev. William Mullen, who conducts an open air Sunday-school for the boys in the Plaza, will preside.

ACTRESS ASSIGNED

Zolla Conan stepped from behind the footlights of "Young Sinners" to the lead in "Her Bridal Knight," written and being directed by Sydney Lazurus.

CITY PORT WARDEN MISSING

Investigators Unable to Find Wadleigh to Query Him in Grand Jury's Municipal Inquiry

Frank T. Wadleigh, municipal port warden at Los Angeles Harbor, was reported as "missing" late yesterday as investigators from the District Attorney's office sought to locate him as part of the grand jury's investigation of municipal affairs. ✦determine if new harbor equipment had been sold to junk men and then repurchased by the city at exorbitant prices.

While Wadleigh's unexplained absence caused some alarm it also was stated by harbor officials that some days ago he had expressed a desire to take a few days' vacation, and it was thought that he might have taken the Thanksgiving period for this purpose. It was denied, however, that official permission to be absent from his duties had been given the port warden.

Wadleigh, who is 55 years of age, was formerly a camp foreman and grocer at St. Francis Dam before that structure collapsed, and was appointed to the job of port warden over many other applicants by Mayor Porter in August, 1929. He was placed under the direct supervision of Traffic Manager Starr. Wadleigh, when he took the position of port warden, displaced C. B. Terry, who charged that he was the victim of "political plum-picking."

Outside of the stir caused by the disappearance of Wadleigh, there were few developments yesterday in the grand jury investigation. The jury was not in session yesterday and will not officially convene again until next Monday.

REALITY RULES GANGLAND FILM

"Doorway to Hell" Shows at Two Warner Theaters

Bitterness of Racket Warfare Strongly Depicted

Lew Ayres Featured; Cagney and Elliott Prominent

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Desperate men . . . desperate deeds . . . gang warfare . . . !

There is nothing very pretty about the "Doorway to Hell," which had a dual first showing yesterday at Warner Brothers' Hollywood and Downtown theaters.

Featuring Lew Ayres, and directed by Archie Mayo, this is a ruthless and realistic etching of a lawlessness that is all too prevalent. There are no compromises in the telling of the story; it is not the conventional movie melodrama of the underworld, but a vindictive and accurate depiction of how racketeers war against one another in a world unbelievably apart from legal enforcements.

The picture has a strange cruel actuality, in which the dramatic climaxes nearly all concern somebody being "on the spot," destined to be riddled by gunfire. Even the central figure in the whole plot is finally disposed of in the tragic climax. Leader once, his power has waned, and the sharp staccato of machine-gun fire at the end of the picture announces the execution of the one-time ruler—a mere youth.

PLOT ENGROSSES

"Doorway to Hell" will engross the mind, as does some well-written news story of racketeering battles. It contains no flub-dub or hokum. It is a sincere and unornamented presenting of its subject.

Whether it is entertainment in the fullest sense, at the same time, is an entirely different question. The audiences that attend it, and there seemed evidence that they will be large, will find the ultimate reaction to the picture one of peculiar hopelessness and futility. So definitely has the creed of gangland been adopted by the members thereof that nought but the entire wiping out of the ranks would appear to bring the cessation of the guerilla conflicts. The psychologic seed is so definitely planted in the minds of the advocates of this type of living—and dying.

I think that "Doorway to Hell" is pretty close to the actual psychology of the situation, and that is why it tends to exhibit what is really a forbidding aspect. You will be fascinated by the picture, though you may not really enjoy it.

ABLE DIRECTION

Plenty of credit for efficient direction goes to Mayo. The picture is never obvious, and the maintenance of suspense is so strong at all times that you have scant chance to take account of any theatrical tricks that may be involved. Indeed, it would almost appear that there is none.

Lew Ayres enacts Louie Ricardo, with a Napoleon complex, who succeeds in welding the racketeering forces together so that warfare is brought to a stop. The character is well sustained by Ayres through the various transitions of his marriage and departure from gangland, and his forced return because his little brother is killed during an attempt made to kidnap the youngster. Ayres is capable of giving a great deal of sensitiveness and humanness to a type that is scarcely sympathetic. His youth makes the impression of his death pitiful and even—let us say—a bit unpleasant.

SUPPORT EFFECTIVE

Robert Elliott and James Cagney, the former as the police captain, the other as the aide of Ricardo, furnish admirable portrayals. Elliott is remembered as the detective in the stage production of "Broadway," and therefore is cast in a rather familiar role in "Doorway to Hell." Cagney exhibits splendid ability in characterizing a role.

Dorothy Mathews, who is scarcely the familiar leading woman type, has no reason to be that, because she is a somewhat double-crossing underworld lady. She is excellent in the portrayal.

The racketeer characters otherwise are a great assortment, and add much to the picture. Among those in the roles are Noel Madison and Jerry Mandy. The youngster brother of Ricardo is played by Leon Janney, and Kenneth Thomson appears in one of the few "straight" roles in the picture.

"Doorway to Hell" was adapted from a story by Roland Brown, the dialogue having been written by George Rosener. It is a dramatic and interesting picture — even though a slightly depressing one.

"Horseshoes" is an amusing short comedy, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norworth are responsible for some lively humor in another short film.

Garden Cafes of Paris Seen in Garbo Film

Paris' famous sylvan garden cafes, where trysting nooks are hidden high in the branches of trees, are reproduced in Greta Garbo's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "Inspiration."

Clarence Brown, the director, visited the romantic old forest cafes last year and was so impressed by the charm and delightful atmosphere that he utilized the background for one of the love scenes in the new Garbo film.

For the sequence, Brown used the Busch Gardens in Pasadena, long known as a beautiful California retreat. According to the director, their scenic grandeur is almost identical with the outdoor cafe locales.

ALICE MILLER WRITES

Alice D. G. Miller, now attached to Hunt Stromberg's unit at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, is working on a new vehicle for Ramon Novarro, a story laid in India.

ACTRESS ASSIGNED

Joan Bennett, who is now co-starring with Lew Ayres in "Many a Slip" at Universal, has been signed by Fox to co-star with Warner Baxter in "Doctor's Wives," which Frank Borzage will direct.

Film Cast Numbers Favorites

Constance Bennett and Kenneth MacKenna Enact leading roles on the Orpheum Theater screen today in "Sin Takes a Holiday," a Pathe production. Basil Rathbone is also featured.

SOUTH SEA DRAMA TO CLOSE RUN

Dorothy Burgess Gives Final Performance at Belasco Tonight

The final two performances of the vivid star, Dorothy Burgess, in the drama of the South Seas, "The Bird of Flame," will be given at the Belasco Theater today.

DOROTHY BURGESS

On Monday seats will go on sale at the Belasco for the engagement of "Up Pops the Devil," which opens at the popular playhouse Christmas night. The seats for the two performances on New Year's Eve will also be available.

"Up Pops the Devil" is said to be the outstanding current comedy of New York, and is to be presented at the Belasco by a notable cast, including Raymond Hackett.

Husband-Wife Collaborate on "Min and Bill"

A successful husband and wife team is largely responsible for the success of "Min and Bill," the current attraction at the Carthay Circle Theater, which stars Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery. They are George Hill, director, and Frances Marion, scenarist. It was this talented duo which also created "The Big House."

"Min and Bill" was suggested by "Dark Star," the novel by the late Lorna Moon. Miss Moon was a close friend of both George Hill and Frances Marion. Consequently, the screen translation was handled with the greatest of sympathy and understanding.

Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery appear in the name roles of the picture, and their characterizations are said to be the highlights of their careers. Others in the cast include Marjorie Rambeau, Dorothy Jordan, Russell Hopton and Frank McGlynn.

Writing Found Pleasant but Unprofitable

Olive Meehan, New York actress enacting the lead in "The Infinite Shoeblack," current production of the Bowl Theater Association at the Music Box, is another player who would rather write plays than act in them.

Alan Mowbray, star of the recently departed "Apple Cart," was the first Music Box headliner with that desire, it is said. Olive Meehan goes him one better, two better in fact, having written three plays.

"Remember Napoleon" is one of Miss Meehan's efforts that she is still trying to forget. It went on tour in the East but, apparently, nobody could remember Napoleon.

German Actress Will Take Bow at Grauman's

Marlene Dietrich will make her only personal appearance of the year at the Chinese Theater at tonight's midnight showing of "Morocco."

The new German star leaves for Europe Tuesday, to visit with family and friends for the holidays. She is not expected to return to Hollywood until early next year.

The Chinese reports an unusual seat sale for "Morocco" since its opening. In its first four days, it shattered all house records.

Tonight's special performance will present, in addition to Miss Dietrich's appearance, the film "Morocco" and Fanchon and Marco's atmospheric prologue, "Moorish Melodic Panorama."

Russian Film Starts Run on Local Screen

BY ELENA BOLAND

The rise of class against class into a riot of rebellion is the spirit which moves "China Express," the Russian propaganda now at the Filmarte.

A melodrama of meaning and motion is this blatant cry from the Amkino studios. Defense of the peasant, the Chinese coolie, is its mission.

Less obscure in its symbolism than many Russian films, this perhaps sacrifices to clarity some of the grandeur felt in, say, Eisenstein's productions. But in a number of other ways this is toned to Eisenstein's style; for the director, the young Illya Trauberg, was one of his proteges.

"China Express" is practically superficial in its idea association, which is no doubt an asset to an American audience; but it is also confused in its continuity. Nevertheless, once the idea and types are established, movement mounts and suspense grows until the audience is literally sitting on edge.

Abstract as most Russian ideas are, the general scheme of "China Express" is excellent. Represented by individuals, the entire forces of Asiatic government and society are seen to board a train. On its ill-fated and endless journey these powers of an empire clash and therein expose the whole history of revolution. China fighting for expression and freedom races on through the night closing with its destiny still undecided.

Characters in a Russian film mean little or nothing in themselves; they are but the symbols of universal emotions. They are like figures in a portrait and as such are presented. Strange, wonderfully expressive and admirably chosen are the persons in this. Most of them are Mongolian, a few Caucasian; they are race pitted against race. The photography is practically done in close-ups; hands, heads, eyes. It produces a curious stylistic effect, imaginative yet unreal.

One would say, from the American standpoint, that the value of such works as "China Express" lies in photographic quality and idea essentiality, more than in actual motion-picture technique.

The Filmarte, given over to natural rambles of late, presents this week an excursion into "The Bird Islands of Peru." This was organized and is explained by Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy.

A Mack Sennett comedy, "Divorced Sweethearts," is also included.

Biltmore Trio Added Feature for Late Show

Earl Burtnett's Biltmore Hotel Trio, assisted by Jess Kirkpatrick, will be seen and heard on the Loew's State Theater stage tonight as a special added attraction to the regular midnight show. The trio will offer some numbers which have been featured over the radio and in recordings.

The current Fanchon and Marco idea, staged by Le Roy Prinz, will be given, and the feature is "Scotland Yard," Fox picture, with Edmund Lowe and Joan Bennett.

Meglin Kiddies on Matinee Bill

In addition to the current week's stage show at Pantages Hollywood Theater, "Society Circus," the Meglin Kiddies will be an added feature at today's matinee.

The Meglin Kiddies will appear in a child revue, including chorus and ensemble numbers, as well as specialty features. A revival of the old Florodora Sextette with a group of 4-year-olds holds promise of humor. Dorothy Fleeman will be the premiere danseuse, and Henry Hannah will be the featured singer.

EDMUND LOWE RESTS

Edmund Lowe has completed his latest picture for Fox studio and is enjoying a brief rest in San Francisco before starting his next.

WARNER GET ROLE

H. B. Warner, for many years one of the outstanding actors on stage and screen, has been engaged to play opposite Betty Compson in an untitled Radio Picture.

FOX PICTURE STARS LATIN OPERA STAR

Mojica Makes Film Debut in "El Precio de Un Beso" at International

BY SALVADOR BAGUEZ

Marking the debut in Spanish talkies of Jose Mojica, one of the leading tenors of the Chicago Opera Company, "El Precio de un Beso," Fox's initial effort in this new form of entertainment, opened yesterday at the California International Theater. Mojica is the star of the production.

It is a sort of belated showing—for it was made some months ago—but the film nevertheless proves a distinct novelty to Spanish-speaking audiences, who have been anxiously waiting the arrival of a pioneering Spanish singing production.

Although Mojica as the swashbuckling troubadour is always the dominant figure in the picture, his acting may be termed as being a bit stagy and inexperienced. This, however, is completely offset by the lyric beauty of his singing voice, his emission and phrasing being particularly effective in the recording. His pronunciation is devoid of any trace of accent whatsoever.

One would wish to be able to say as much for Antonio Moreno's villainous interpretation. It is exaggerated in the extreme sense of the word and his speech is marred by a decidedly marked accent. It is a bit unjust to judge Moreno's work from this his first attempt in Spanish pictures for he has subsequently appeared in a number of recent productions in that language, in which he has scored in noble fashion, notably in "The Bad Man."

Of the remaining members of the cast who acquit themselves commendably, Mona Maris as the troubadour's inamorata deserves all praise, with Tom Patricola sharing honors for his contribution of some bits of very amusing comedy. The adaptation was done by F. More de la Torre, with James Tinling and Marcel Silver directing.

A very interesting number on the program is Roberto Turnbull's film made in Mexico City, showing the advancement in the art of painting by Mexican Indian boys. It also affords picturegoers an opportunity to view some of Mexico's natural landscape beauty. A cartoon and newsreel complete the bill.

Film Players Meet on Stage at El Capitan

Although Wilfred Noy and Phillis Coghlan both played important parts in Ronald Colman's next feature, tentatively titled "The Prodigal," they were not aware of the fact until they met backstage at El Capitan Theater, where they are both playing in support of Dale Winter and Henry Duffy in "Michael and Mary."

Miss Coghlan and Noy are well known on the stage and screen in England, and both are now established in filmdom and behind the footlights here.

As "The Prodigal" has not yet been previewed and as the two played in no scenes together, they were both unaware that they appeared in the film together until it came up in a casual conversation.

Others in support of Miss Winter and Henry Duffy are David Scott, Stephanye Clare, Frank Dawson, Florence Roberts, Arthur Clayton, Joseph De Stefani and Donald Campbell.

Talented Cast Will Support Star in Play

A competent supporting cast will surround Leo Carrillo on the stage of the Hollywood Playhouse tomorrow in "The Bad Man," Gay Seabrook in the ingenue role of Angela Hardy heads the list.

CHARLOTTE TREADWAY

Playing the role of Lucia Pell will be Charlotte Treadway, who created the role in the original company with the late Holbrook Blinn, Gale Gordon, who was with Carillo when the comedy was presented at the President Theater, plays his same role as the young engineer.

Philip Morris will be the cowboy, while Lloyd Neal will be seen as the wheel-chair invalid. George Leffingwell, Lottie Williams, Frank Perry, Pedro Galvez and Wong Ling complete the cast.

Young Actors to Meet Fans at Paramount

Two of the youthful players in "Tom Sawyer," now screening at the Paramount Theater, will appear in person tonight at both performances. They are Dick Winslow, seen as Joe Harper, and Jackie Searl, who plays the part of Sidney Sawyer.

"Oh, Baby, Follies" is the title of the eastern stage show now showing at the Paramount. The "Plymouth Rock" overture by the Paramount orchestra is providing additional entertainment.

Cantor Picture Stays at Tower

Eddie Cantor's screen musical comedy, "Whoopee," is based on "The Nervous Wreck." It is now playing at the Tower Theater in its second week.

It is the first United Artists picture in Technicolor and is said to represent the most advanced use of the color screen. Ethel Shutta and Paul Gregory are also in the cast, and George Olsen and his band set the rhythmic undertone to the piece.

GIRL FILES SUIT OVER OPERATION

Federal Court Petition Asks $150,000 Damages

County and State Officials, Including Judge, Named

California Sterilization Law Attacked in Action

In a suit filed yesterday in United States District Court, Concepcion Ruiz, 16 - year - old schoolgirl through a guardian, seeks damages of $150,000 from eleven Los Angeles County and State officials because she was subjected to an operation which deprives her of the ability to bear children. The operation, it is stated, was performed at Sonoma State Home by order of the local Superior Court and under the provisions of the California sterilization law.

The defendants in the action are Superior Judge Scott, in charge of Juvenile Court; W. H. Holland, county superintendent of charities and chief probation officer; Viva Mae Carr and Ethel M. Cummings, juvenile probation officers; F. O. Butler, medical superintendent of the Sonoma home; Earl E. Jensen, State Director of Institutions; John Doe Hamlet, John Doe Fredericks, Jane Doe Topp and Richard Roe and Mary Roe.

It is set out in the complaint that the young woman was arrested February 21 for delinquency, that during the court proceedings Judge Scott failed and neglected to inform the plaintiff of the cause of her arrest or of any complaint or require her to plead, failed to inform the plaintiff she was entitled to a jury trial and an attorney and failed to inform her that she did not have to testify against herself and that she was entitled to be confronted by witnesses against her and to call witnesses on her behalf.

It was stated that the court issued a "pretended" order calling for an operation upon the plaintiff for asexualization and sterilization." This operation, it is stated, was performed on June 15, last, at Sonoma home against her wishes and in spite of protests. It is charged that the operation was in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution in that it is said to have deprived the plaintiff of "due process of law." The suit was filed by Attorneys E. D. Martindale and L. H. Phillips.

THREE HELD ON NARCOTIC ACCUSATION

Additional Charges Face Trio in Group Arrested as "Public Enemies"

Three of the group of twelve men arraigned in Municipal Court on vagrancy charges as "public enemies" were held for Superior Court trial on additional charges of possession of narcotics by Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday.

Detective Lieutenant Halsall testified that the three, Tony Long, Jack McNeil and George Patterson, had morphine and hypodermic needles in their possession when police raided a residence at 536 North Juanita avenue. Charges against Ray Sealock, also accused, were dismissed by Judge Ballard when it was shown that he entered the house after the narcotics had been seized by police.

Patterson, Sealock, McNeil and Harold Stansbury also appeared before Municipal Judge Curtis for trial on the vagrancy charges, but were granted delays, McNeil and Stansbury to December 2, next, and Patterson and Sealock to December 23.

Inspection of Grapefruit to Begin Monday

Strict inspection of all grapefruit in Los Angeles county will begin next Monday, it was announced yesterday from the office of Agricultural Commissioner Ryan. This becomes possible for the first time since last October when the Appellate Court held the grapefruit section of the California Fruit, Nut and Vegetable Standardization Act unconstitutional, according to Deputy Agricultural Commissioner Wilson.

The move to again inspect grapefruit in accordance with the standardization provision followed the receipt of word yesterday by Ryan from S. S. Rogers, chief of the Bureau of Standardization of the State Department of Agriculture at Sacramento. In his communication to Ryan, the State official said the State Supreme Court has granted a hearing on the Mefferd-Waldman grapefruit case in which the Appellate Court reversed a lower court decision and held the act as it applied to grapefruit unconstitutional. Granting of the hearing automatically vacates the Appellate Court decision.

Beginning next Monday, Wilson said all grapefruit which does not meet the requirements of the grapefruit section in the Standardization Act will be rejected. This will apply pending the hearing in the Supreme Court, he said. The fruit is inspected as to maturity, markings and deception in packing.

SANTA ANA REALTY BOARD WILL ELECT

SANTA ANA, Nov. 28.—The Realty Board here is preparing to elect officers December 5. They will take office December 18 at an inaugural banquet at the Santa Ana Country Club. Herbert Alleman, president of the board, has appointed Asa Hoffman, W. A. Proctor, Carl Mock and Robert Van Drimlen to arrange details of the inaugural.

HOSTESS OFFICIALLY NOTIFIED

Miss Hamilton Warmly Congratulated

Style Expert and Supervisor Graves

SURROUNDED by women prominent in the social life of the city, Miss Peggy Hamilton yesterday was notified officially of her appointment by the Board of Supervisors as official hostess of Los Angeles county.

Miss Hamilton's appointment, the first of its kind in the United States, was made last Wednesday when the board members unanimously adopted a resolution creating the post without pay. The action of the board was taken primarily for the entertainment of visitors who will come to Los Angeles county next year for the 150th anniversary celebrating the founding of Los Angeles and those who will attend the Olympic Games in 1932. Between these events she will be busy representing Los Angeles county in receiving officially any celebrities who happen to visit here.

The notification of appointment was handed to Miss Hamilton by Supervisor Graves, chairman of the board. Following the ceremony she was congratulated by Supervisor Shaw, only other member of the board who was present at the Hall of Records yesterday afternoon.

The official certificate of appointment, carrying the great seal of the county, signed by the members of the board, is now being prepared and will be given to her later. This will be her credentials when traveling throughout the country and abroad.

Many photographs were taken of the new hostess in the Supervisors' room and on the lawn of the old Courthouse.

Among the women who witnessed the ceremony were Mmes. Oliver Converse Bryant, William Henderson Anderson, Sloan Orcutt, Samuel G. Puterbaugh, Guy Busch, Bertram Eugene Greene, Chester Wallace Brown, Rufus Von KleinSmid, E. P. Clarke, Charles S. Crail, Robert Ladd Guilford, J. E. Argus, Leland Atherton Irish, L. E. Behymer, and Arthur Wright and the Misses Ada Dryden and Hazel Hayes.

That the Supervisors' action in selecting Miss Hamilton as county hostess is meeting general approval is evidenced by the flood of letters and telegrams received at the Hall of Records following the announcement of her appointment. Miss Hamilton also is receiving messages by the score congratulating her upon her appointment.

BOULEVARD WIDENING SUIT FILED

Rosemead Avenue Land Needed to Complete New North-South Artery

Suit against several hundred property owners along Rosemead avenue, to condemn land for the widening of the street to 100 feet from Foothill Boulevard to Valley Boulevard, was filed in Superior Court by County Counsel Mattoon and Deputy County Counsel Kennedy yesterday.

The estimated cost of acquiring the property for the widening of the street is $228,000, according to John Rockhold, County Surveyor.

Widening of Rosemead avenue will result in a 100-foot boulevard, nine miles long, forming an important north-south traffic artery three miles east of San Gabriel Boulevard.

Venice District Reinstated by Chest Directors

Institutional members of the Los Angeles Community Chest have been advised by General Manager MacWatters that the Venice district has been reinstated as a part of the Community Chest area, and all agencies are requested to render service as usual in that district.

This action was occasioned by the receipt of definite assurance from the Venice Chamber of Commerce and the Lions' Club that all organizations and citizens in the Venice district now indorse the Community Chest and the agencies in membership, and have agreed to conduct a campaign for Chest funds and raise $4360 for the Chest. The campaign is to be conducted during the first two weeks of December and will be under the direction of Edward C. Morgan, principal of Venice High School.

PROHIBITION WILL BE SUBJECT OF DEBATE

Prohibition is to be discussed Sunday night at Good Templars' Hall, 1225 West Jefferson street. The subject will be "The Liquor Traffic and American Liberty." It will be in the form of a debate. Dr. Edward Adams Cantrell will endeavor to show that the Eighteenth Amendment curtails the people's liberties. Frithjof Warenskjold will defend the cause of prohibition. He will outline what has been accomplished during the past ten years. The public is invited and the affair is free. Robert Whitaker, author, will conclude with an independent criticism of the subject.

WOMAN IDENTIFIES ATTACK-CASE YOUTH

Disposition of the case against John Wall, 17 years of age, 3982 Ramboz Drive, City Terrace, accused of attempting to attack a middle-aged woman in Belvedere Thursday morning, now rests with juvenile authorities. Wall, according to Deputy Sheriff Penprase, was identified by Mrs. Harriett C. Jedlistchka, 46, of 1624 Steele avenue, City Terrace, as the youth, who sought to attack her while she waited for a trolley car at the Eastern-avenue station. Wall was captured a few hours later by deputies. He was booked in the County Jail.

HARRY BRAND GAINS FOLLOWING OPERATION

Harry Brand, director of publicity at the United Artists studio, was reported resting easily yesterday at the Methodist Hospital following an emergency operation for appendicitis performed Thursday night. Brand had complained of not feeling well for the past several weeks. On Thursday night he suffered a severe attack and his doctor ordered him to the hospital. He is a member of Gov. Young's special committee investigating boxing conditions in California.

PROMOTER JOHNSON TESTIFIES

Accused Oil Man Tells of Merging Several Concerns and Drilling in Texas

Taking the stand in his own defense yesterday, in United States District Judge Cosgrave's court, Gilbert S. Johnson, wealthy California and Texas oil promoter, recited in detail the manner in which various oil companies in which he was interested were merged into the Johnson Oil Company. Johnson is on trial on a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with the promotion of oil companies.

Johnson testified the Lewis Oil and Gas Company, the Texas Trojan Company, and the Stevens Oil Company were merged with the Johnson Oil Company under a declaration of trust in order to "permit greater flexibility in operation." He said 99.35 per cent of the stockholders of the three companies sent in their stock for exchange for Johnson oil stock. He said the Johnson Oil Company brought in two wells in the Breckenridge field, one of which produced heavily for a week and then gradually went down. He stated he invested most of his fortune in the various companies and that the companies drilled thirty wells.

The case will be resumed today. It probably will be completed by Tuesday.

SUSPECT RETURNED FOR KANSAS MURDER

In custody of Prosecuting Attorney Gage and Sheriff Doching of Riley county, Kansas, George Casey, 30 years of age, yesterday was taken from the County Jail to be returned to Manhattan, Kan., where he is scheduled to face a seven-year-old murder accusation. Casey, according to deputy sheriffs, who arrested him last Sunday, declared he is a former bodyguard of Al Capone of Chicago.

NEW CARGO LINE PACT OPERATIVE

Pacific-Straits Conference Deal Gets Sanction

Klaveness, Dollar, Kerr and Java Fleets Members

Agreement Viewed as Peace Omen in Trade Area

BY WALDO DRAKE

The new Pacific-Straits Conference, to deal with freight traffic from Pacific Coast ports to the Straits Settlements, yesterday gained the approval of the United States Shipping Board as a co-operative body for collection and maintenance of equitable tariffs in that particular field. Members include the Dollar Steamship Line, the fleets of the Java-Pacific Line and the Kerr Steamship Company, Inc., to merge next January 1, and the Norwegian fleet of the Klaveness Line.

BOARD APPROVES

The Shipping Board's approval was the final step in formation of the new conference, an outgrowth of the differences arising several months ago within the Pacific Westbound Conference, as a result of which the above-named four lines withdrew. Harmony in the trade is expected to result, since the only other lines operating to the Straits Settlements from California ports are the Barber Line, a member of the New York-Far East Conference, and the Oceanic and Oriental Line, sole member in the trade of the Pacific Westbound Conference.

Plans of Pacific-Straits Conference member lines to center efforts on the case-oil trade is noted in one paragraph of the new regulations, viz: "Payment of brokerage in excess of 1-4 per cent, unless otherwise authorized at a regular meeting of the conference, is prohibited except on petroleum and petroleum products."

TERMS OF PACT

"The parties undertake to collect all freight and other charges for transportation of cargo strictly in accordance with tariff of rates and charges agreed to by the parties," says the announcement, "and acceptance of cargo at less than actual gross weight or measurement is prohibited. Unjust discrimination against or payment of rebates of freight or compensation to shippers, brokers, or receivers of cargo is prohibited."

The Shipping Board also announced approval of seven rate agreements between the Quaker Line and as many trans-Atlantic lines for through shipment of cargoes from the Pacific Coast ports of call of the Quaker Line to Europe, with trans-shipment at New York.

GIANNINIS ON LIST OF LINER PENNSYLVANIA

A. P. Giannini, San Francisco banker, Mrs. Giannini and their son, Virgil, will be among the passengers sailing from Los Angeles December 1 on the Panama Pacific liner Pennsylvania. They will disembark at Havana and proceed to Florida.

Others include Charles Van Rensselaer of Santa Barbara and bride, formerly Mrs. Mary N. Norton, who have taken a house at Havana for the winter; James P. McHugh, writer on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer staff, and Sidney S. Conklin, treasurer of the Long Beach Press-Telegram, who will motor from New York to Florida.

Easterners departing will include Edmund Machold, banker and former Republican party leader in New York. More than 300 travelers will make the voyage.

A twenty-inch rain the 19th inst. in Hawaii was reported by Capt. A. A. Sawyer, on his return here yesterday with the Lasso liner Calawaii. The rain was so heavy he couldn't see his own life boats, he declared. Fifteen trains were marooned outside Honolulu and the Calawaii had to return with only a part of her cargo. The liner disembarked 109 passengers, including Bruce B. Awery, prohibition agent, who has just completed Hawaii's biggest clean-up campaign, and Miss Carrick Buck, attorney at Honolulu. The Calawaii will make a quick turn-around, sailing back at noon today with 110 passengers and cargo of autos and building materials. Passengers include John William Short, deputy customs collector at Honolulu.

Thirty-six commercial vessels entered Los Angeles Harbor yesterday, the number being exceeded only once, more than a year ago, when thirty-eight ships arrived.

Capt. De Witt C. Webb, public works officer of the Eleventh Naval District, with headquarters at San Diego, was at the port yesterday for a survey of battle fleet shore facilities at San Pedro.

He also held a conference with Port Manager Burt Edwards and Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson regarding maintenance of docks and other Harbor Department facilities used by the navy here. Capt. Webb indicated after his inspection that he would recommend expenditure of approximately $4000 for improvement of present landings.

The Panama Mail intercoastal liner, with Capt. Henry Stephenson back on the bridge after a shoreside vacation for one round voyage, sailed for New York, via Central American ports, last night with eighty cabin passengers and 3000 tons of California freight. Among her passengers is Genaro Garcia, president of the Banco Occidental, at Mazatlan, returning home, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Natalia.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28. (Special)—W. Chapman, vice-president and general manager of the Dixon Steamship Company, is due here next month from the New York headquarters, local shipmen learned today.

Chapman has been named as a committee leader in a movement to establish intercoastal conference. The Dixon line has been invited to join the conference and assemble all operators which consent to this scheduled visit.

Roy V. Crowder, passenger traffic manager of Luckenbach Steamship Company, president of the Inner Yale will set a new passenger record of the company when she sails from here for Panama and Los Angeles. Most of the passengers will be bound for Los Angeles for the Panama-Pacific exposition, and the University of Southern California.

SEATTLE, Nov. 28.—The assessment of damage to the Shipowners' Intercoastal, reports of rust damage to the Argentine crew and the scarcity of trans-Pacific cargoes are marine topics here as responsible for tightening of steamer rates today in Europe.

From 17 shillings six pence ten days ago, went to 20 shillings generally to North Pacific ports and several ports from British Columbia were worked at 19 shillings 3 pence.

Providing a sailing every ten days to Southeastern Alaska, the weekly service of the vessels scheduled by the Alaska Steamship Company once into effect November 15 with the departure of the Alameda for Seward and way points.

PORTLAND, Nov. 28.—General routine in the hull of the steamer Chehalis has been completed, Captain Frank Riddell and John E. Wynn, United States steamboat inspectors. The Chehalis is in dock here.

The vessel is said to have started a strain on her last voyage from San Francisco to Grays Harbor.

Representatives of the Steamboat Inspection Service were sent to Eureka today to report on the findings of a diver who had been engaged to survey the hull of the steamer Edwin Christensen, which grounded and sheared her propeller one night while entering the Columbia River. She floated unassisted early the next day.

TACOMA, Nov. 28.—Due to heavy fog in British Columbia, the Golden Gate Bridge, the Oregonian and Shasta Limited train service will not arrive here until Sunday with a cargo of bulk merchandise and mail. Travel from the West Coast resumed is scheduled to pick up lumber at ten mills for Australia.

The British Mary of the K.K.K. line arrived today and loaded 300 cases of wheat. The vessel will take 60,000 bushels of grain and sail for Dunkirk.

Another arrival was the Norwegian motorship Hoevanger. The vessel will accept passenger space for Europe, and call at Havre and Northern European ports.

FOOTBALL WILL HOLD DIAL AGAIN

Top Contests Listed for Broadcast Today

Fish to Be Heard Over Don Lee Station

Grand Array of Offerings Billed for Week-end

The Times Forum. World-wide news. 1:30, 8 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

There are some radio fans who look at the dial today because football still holds sway. For others it may be said there is one Saturday remaining for them to roll about on the green-sward while battling for the elusive pigskin.

The gridiron schedule follows:

KHJ—Notre Dame vs. Army, Polo Grounds, New York, 1:45 p.m.

KFI—Stanford vs. Dartmouth, 1:45 p.m.

KFWB—U.C.L.A. vs. Idaho, Los Angeles, 2 p.m.

KNX—U.C.L.A. vs. Idaho, Los Angeles, 2 p.m.

KGFJ—U.C.L.A. vs. Idaho at Los Angeles, 2 p.m.

And if you're afraid you'll be lost in the third quarter from Notre Dame-Army game to the Stanford-Dartmouth struggle, don't worry—because you won't be.

Illustrative Fish—KHJ at 6:30 tonight—will speak on "Commercial Fish."

Vincent Daurosch and his symphonic orchestra—KFI at 6 p.m.—a feature of the Bacchanale "Samson et Dalila"—Blind Tom is taunted and mocked by the Philistines of Dagon—Floyd Gibbons at 10.

"The Rapids of Flowers"—a suite by Gino Severi's Strings and Orchestra—KFWB—7:30 tonight.

Famous old-time Negro voices—KNX at 8:30—The audience response to this type of symphony is magnificent"—Tuesday night—Dixie Vocal Symphony.

Lucrezia Bori's "Jenny Lind" is the feature of KHJ at 8 tonight—Regiment of Jenny will be there. Songs—and plenty of what-have-you.

"Samson et Dalila" isn't a grand opera fantasy. The "et" means "and"—so, well, it was an old Latin custom.

Don't actually pull your chair up to the table—KNX at 6 until 7 to-night—for a dinner concert from the Biltmore—and from Bill Hatch's piano.

The vessel is said to have started a strain on her last voyage from San Francisco to Grays Harbor.

Representatives of the Steamboat Inspection Service were sent to Eureka today to report on the findings of a diver who had been engaged to survey the hull of the steamer Edwin Christensen, which grounded and sheared her propeller one night while entering the Columbia River. Celebrities To Be Guests at Biltmore Affair

Wm. (Tommy) Tomlinson, Jesse James, Fred W. Kelley, Wm. H. Parker, Felix Preeg, La Verne Nelson, George K. Rice, "Eddie" Rickenbacker and other aviation celebrities will be among the pilots who will speed up business with air mail at a foreign luncheon at the Biltmore next Thursday. The event will mark the end of the intensive campaign sponsored by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce and will be open to those in the public who are interested in aviation.

Special to the pilots who are expected to attend there will be a talk by F. P. O'Brien, postmaster of Los Angeles.

"Nobody has had more to do with the development of air mail in Southern California than any other man, and will tell how the present service was built up and the part air mail is particularly playing in southern California.

Christmasland Outdoor Circus Opens Tonight

Santa Claus will make his official bow to Los Angeles this evening with the formal opening of the annual Yuletide outdoor circus at Christmasland, Wilshire Boulevard and Catalina street. At 7 p.m. Mitzi Green, child film actress featured this week in "Tom Sawyer" at the Paramount Theater, will step upon a platform and awaken from his slumbers a giant, animated Santa Claus, who will talk to youngsters and grownups through a loud speaker, wink his eyes and write the names of all good little girls and boys in his big book.

After tonight Christmasland will remain open through the coming holidays. Nursery rhymes will be evident in the pageantry this year, with famous story-book characters performing hi-jinks daily for the visiting crowds. On the grounds will be a huge mail box in which children may deposit their letters to Santa.

CORONER REVEALS CAUSE OF FORTY-ONE SUICIDES

Why do people kill themselves? An answer is offered in a tabulation released by the Coroner yesterday, along with the announcement of two additional suicides here in the last twenty-four hours.

The tabulation shows forty-one self-imposed deaths in Los Angeles in the current month. Of these, one killed himself because of a toothache. Unrequited financial troubles, mental disorder and weariness of living lead the list of causes.

Finally, only one suicide among the forty-one is attributed to love. Poverty caused three to end their lives; temporary mental lapses, two; grief over the loss of wife, one; grief over the loss of husband, one; and the frenzy following commission of murder, four.

Of the two additional suicides reported yesterday J. Patrick Bornnan, 58 years of age, ended his life by gas. He lay down on the floor of the bedroom of his home, 1311 North Broadway, covered himself with a rug, and asphyxiated himself with a tube leading to the gas jet. He is said to have been despondent over the recent death of his wife.

Mrs. Lottie Bennett, 47, the second suicide, shot herself at her home, 1919 Tamarind street, Hollywood. Her husband and 16-year-old daughter were at breakfast and heard two shots. Investigating they found Mrs. Bennett fatally wounded on the floor of her bedroom. Constant headaches are believed to have caused her to seek death which soon followed at Georgia-street Hospital.

RESERVOIR FISH SHIFT EXPLAINED

Chatsworth Draining Due and County Moves Bass to Save Them, Says Turner

Criticism of the county fish and game department relative to the removal of fish from the Chatsworth Reservoir to that of Puddingstone was answered yesterday by Spenae D. Turner, chief fish and game warden of Los Angeles county. Turner denied he was "taking fish from the mouths of the poor" as charged by some individuals and explained the action of his department.

"The Chatsworth Reservoir, a part of the Los Angeles city water system, is to be drained," the warden declared. "This reservoir was planted with sun fish and black bass by the State Fish and Game Commission and they are the property of the State.

"Our department, acting as agent for the State, is now transferring the fish from the Chatsworth Reservoir to the one at Puddingstone. This is being done to save State property. The purpose of the planting of the fish is to purify water and provide fish for sportsmen of the State who partially pay for the propagating of the game fish through fishing license fees. Approximately 8000 fish have already been moved safely and the work is still going on."

The fishing season closes Monday, the warden said. He further declared that any one attempting to fish in the reservoirs between that date and May 1, next, when the season opens again, will be prosecuted.

Rescue at Sea Among Events on News Reel

The recent rescue at sea of the crew of the steamer Ovidia is among the interesting news events depicted in the current issue of the Times-Universal Newsreel, now on view in Southern California theaters. Graham McNamee, talking reporter, gives a vivid description from the screen as the Mauretania is shown coming alongside the stricken vessel and taking off her twenty-nine seamen.

Other scenes included are of the coronation of Ras Tafari as King of Kings (at Addis Ababa, Abyssinia; Notre Dame winning from Northwestern on the gridiron, Coast Guards making a $1,000,000 rum seizure and a disastrous landslide at Lyons, France.

The schedule may be obtained by phoning Newsreel Book at REpublic 3171 and inquiring about Newsreel No. 95.

Board Tied on Bus-Train Issue

With one commissioner absent the other four members of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation yesterday deadlocked in a tie vote on the petition of Aero Coaches, Inc., to use Los Angeles streets for a bus service between San Diego and Portland with light trucks and semitrailers.

Commissioners Cummings and Bergeson voted for granting the permit and Commissioners Hargrave and Sutton were opposed, following a hearing in which the company presented testimony as to the safety of light busses with semitrailers in handling passengers, particularly on mountain curves. Written testimony of passengers was introduced.

Youth Charged as Gem Robber

A complaint charging George Bevan, 30 years of age, with two counts of robbery, one of burglary and one of attempted extortion was issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay yesterday as the result of the defendant's capture by police a week ago.

The complaint charges Bevan entered the apartment of Miss Caroline Looney, actress, at 722 South Alvarado street, and robbed her of diamonds valued at $1500 and her escort, Hugo Rock, of $31 in cash. Bevan was apprehended while attempting to sell the jewelry back to Miss Looney for $100, according to police.

ART LECTURE TOMORROW

The final lecture in the series being given at the Southwest Museum by Charles Amsden, executive secretary, on arts and crafts of the old Southwest, will be held tomorrow at 3 pm. The subject will be "Pueblo Potters."

RIVER HERE PUT TO NOVEL USE

Negro Went Steamboating on It, Wife Tells Court He Informed Her

Steamboating on the Los Angeles River was Clarence Miller's story, and he was going to stick to it, Mrs. Sunshine Miller yesterday testified when she got a divorce in Superior Judge Wilson's court. The wife said that when she taxed him about where he had been when he stayed out late at night, he replied:

"I was riding up and down the Los Angeles River on a steamboat."

Also, said Mrs. Miller, her husband spent hours making love to girl-friends over the home telephone, and that he observed last Memorial Day by deserting her. The Millers are colored.

MRS. McPHERSON'S RADIO TALK GIVES TEMPLE HOPE

Possibilities of future radio talks and a personal appearance of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson on the platform of Angelus Temple within a few days loomed yesterday following a visit of the evangelist's physician, Dr. Edward Huntington Williams, to her home at Park avenue and Lemoyne street, where the Four Square Gospel founder is convalescing following her return from New York last Sunday.

No ill effects followed Mrs. McPherson's radio effort on Thanksgiving, it was learned following the visit of the physician, who said that his patient is showing steady improvement and is able to sit up part of the time.

"I am not afraid of their old guards; if I wanted to I would go over there and push past them," said Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, yesterday with whom Mrs. McPherson had an asserted fistic difference last August previous to the evangelist's breakdown.

"If I did, May Waldron and Emma Shaffer would pull a scream act. I think the act is about washed up anyway. When Aimee wants me she will send for me. I am going away for a rest soon, and believe me I need it."

F. C. Winters, business manager of the temple, made it plain that he is not saying when Mrs. McPherson will appear or when she will be again likely to speak over the radio.

"She is anxious to get over with it and if she continues to improve it is not improbable that she may make an appearance soon," he said. He refuses to say that the appearance will be made Sunday. Although guards still are on duty about the temple there is an air of quietude about the place.

'I MARRIED WRONG MAN,' SAYS WIFE

Annulment-Seeker Tells of Being Drunk Two Days and Making Mistake

Intoxicated for two days, she awoke to find she had married the wrong man, was Mrs. Creola A. Milner's amazing story yesterday when she asked Superior Judge Hahn to annul her marriage to Frank T. Milner, wealthy traveling salesman of Oakland. The asserted "gin wedding" was on May 7, 1927, in Seattle, Wash., testified Mrs. Milner, who is a stenographer. She said she was engaged to a young man whom she loved, and that she became intoxicated at a celebration two days before the intended marriage.

"When I came to my senses, after being intoxicated two days, I discovered I had married the wrong man," she related. "While I was under the influence of liquor, Milner, an elderly man, induced me to marry him. I never had consented to marry him previously and did not know what I was doing when the ceremony was performed. I was continuously intoxicated for two days after the ceremony, but I left Milner as soon as I came to my senses and discovered what had occurred."

Her mother, Mrs. Rosa Walker, testified that she asked Milner why he had done what her daughter related.

"He said that he was crazy about my daughter, and that he decided that was the only way to get her," asserted the mother.

Judge Hahn continued the case until Mrs. Milner can produce in court a certified copy of the marriage license, certificate and names of witnesses.

Joint Committee on Street Laws to Meet Monday

The final meeting of the State Joint Legislative Committee on Street Improvement Laws will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. in the session room of the Board of Public Works, City Hall, it was announced yesterday by Assemblyman Woolwine, chairman.

At this time the committee members will report upon suggested revisions to the improvement acts.

All improvement associations and individuals interested in the committee's work are requested to be present, as the meeting will be open to the public.

KELSO WILL LECTURE

C. C. Kelso, director of the naturalization bureau of the Board of Education, will lecture on "Citizenship" Monday at 8:30 p.m. before the Jewish Art Institute of America in the studio at 631 North Soto street. A musical program has been arranged.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

TEACHING HONESTY DEMANDS SAME VIRTUE IN PARENTS

No matter what the particular parental failings, all parents have similar ideals for their children. They want, in fact they demand, that their children be good, honest, truthful and unselfish, a nice mixture of all the desirable virtues and ethics. The recurring maternal question is, "How can I make my child thus and so?" Chiefly, we answer, by being thus and so. Such a policy of conduct is much harder than to merely set a standard for the child that is entirely different from the family traditions and practices.

IMAGINING AND LYING

Suppose we choose just the virtue of truthfulness. Obviously it isn't a virtue with which children are endowed at birth. Children have to learn the virtue adults call truth-telling by observation, by experience and practice, and by imitation. Usually from the child's standpoint this isn't particularly agreeable. Truth-telling means to him that he cannot do as he pleases and then say, "I didn't do it." It means that he has to be extremely critical of all his story telling, for at times he is applauded for his imaginative flights, and at others his mother says sternly, "Now you know that isn't true. Why do you tell mother a lie?" At first he finds it extremely difficult to keep the two situations straight. It is so easy for a child to believe that what he reads, what he dreams, and what he hears talked about have really happened to him.

Likewise he has confusing standards presented to him by those adults who by virtue of being his parents are naturally without spot or blemish. As Christmas approaches Sally builds up a different idea when her mother says, "Now don't open mother's dresser drawer because it's broken and if you open it, the drawer will fall out and pinch your fingers." With her attention focused on the exciting possibilities of the drawer falling apart, Sally can hardly wait to be alone before testing it. The drawer opens as usual, however, and right on top under a filmy, tissue paper is the dream doll of her life. Does she tell her mother that there is nothing wrong with the drawer and that she opened it with ease? Not Sally. She sneaks away to less dangerous territory and forms her own opinion of her mother's truthfulness.

PARENTS MUST SET EXAMPLE

We must use better methods of managing children than by making untruthful threats and then exploding in the next breath with, "now tell me the truth, young lady, or I'll know the reason why!" The reason, in practically all cases, lies no farther away than the child's own family.

A respect for truth-telling cannot be impressed upon the child by merely preaching to him of its advantages. (We offer a leaflet, "Helping the Child to Tell the Truth," which may be obtained by enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and sending it to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.) Then we must keep in mind that small children need experience to recognize the truth. They need intelligent handling so that they will not lie to escape unjust punishments. They need, most of all, the example of truth-telling parents.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fun Way to Health"

THE CHANGE IN VIEWPOINT

People are largely getting over their reverence for mysterious remedies. Many a doctor has given a patient some ill-smelling drug with injunctions to take half a teaspoonful after meals, and then told the patient to go to bed early and not to worry, knowing all the time that the rest and confidence would do the patient more good than all the drugs he could concoct. But he gave the drug because he knew that the patient wanted to take something, and would not think the doctor was a good doctor unless he did something for the patient which the patient could not do for himself.

This viewpoint is changing. People know it is quite common for a lawyer to charge a large fee for giving advice even without taking a case into court. An architect charges for giving advice and making plans. It is just as reasonable that a doctor should charge for giving advice which may save a patient's life, or a large hospital fee even if he does not perform an operation or give a lengthy prescription. He need no longer be ashamed to advise simple, harmless remedies, such as enemas, hot and cold applications, exercise, sun baths, correct diet, massage, relaxation and psychology—remedies which in over 90 per cent of the cases are far more effective than more extreme measures.

Sometimes I have been accused of advising "grandmother" remedies. Be that as it may, the fact remains that they are effective in nine out of ten times. I firmly believe that many orthodox specialists would do a lot more good in the world if they would adopt a few more of these same "grandmother" remedies, themselves. They might not be able to collect such large fees, but I am sure that the satisfaction that they were adding to human happiness would make up for the deficit. They would have to do more work, but the added exercise would improve their circulations and make them feel better and think more clearly.

The other day I was called in consultation on a case in a hospital. Three surgeons had said that an operation was imperative to save the patient's life because of a bowel obstruction. I examined her and said that I thought it a good plan to keep the patient under observation a few days and to give her two colon irrigations each day. The result was that the patient felt so much better in a week that she went home and has been improving ever since. Do you think that the surgeons thanked me for showing them that the simple method worked out better? Well, anyhow, I made friends with the patient and her family, and that is what really counts.

I am glad to know that most doctors sincerely try to look out for the patient's interests, and that the money-grabbers are the exception rather than the rule. In every city you can find doctors who use diet, water applications, electrical treatments and simple measures. Surgery is useful and often necessary, but it should not be used when it is not needed. Some day I am sure that all successful doctors will be of this opinion, and not recommend an operation until all other methods have first been tried.

CURIOUS COCKPIT COUNTRY

The "cockpit" country is known only to those who have taken a West Indies cruise and not all of those. It means a trip to Jamaica and a journey when there to Balaclava and the glades of the Black River. Jamaica's longest navigable stream, famous for its dye woods and alligators. Between Appleton and Breadnut Valley you will see a number of lovely waterfalls and at Ipswich, about ninety miles from Kingston, the Cockpit Country begins, a land of conical limestone hills, banana-laden glades. It is a region never fully explored and the Maroons had their fastnesses here in the days of runaway Negro adventures.

SLIDE'S CAUSES BLAMED ON CITY

Point Fermin Landowners Ask $40,000 Damages

Leaky Sewage and Water Pipes Cited in Suit

City Attorney Will Appraise Property Affected

Leaky sewage and water pipes, not an "act of God," were responsible for the landslide at Point Fermin, according to a suit for $40,000 filed yesterday by Jesse E. and Cecil D. Simpson, owners of a lot which began sliding toward the ocean about a year ago.

The suit asserts that, "due to continuous escape of water and sewage" from pipes maintained by the city, traffic in public streets serving their property has been prohibited and market values of the property has been reduced to "speculative figures."

FIRST LEGAL ACTION

The suit filed yesterday by Attorney Ernest C. Griffith is the first legal action taken to collect from the city for damages asserted to have been caused by the movement of land down the face of the cliff. A gradual settlement of the land from a level nine or ten feet higher has broken sewage and water connections, caused a suspension of street railway and vehicular traffic, and forced several families to leave their homes.

Property owners have sought relief from the City Council, and a number of them have asked the city to purchase the affected area, covering about four blocks, and maintain it as a city park.

"ACT OF GOD"

The Council, however, has taken the position that the landslide is an "act of God," and they do not see why members have stated property which is slipping toward the sea should be permanently improved as a park, which might become dangerous to persons using it, and so render the city liable to damages.

The City Attorney, however, has been instructed to make an appraisal of the property affected by the slide.

STREET DECORATIONS TO BE READY SOON

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 28.—Street decorations for the Christmas season on a more extensive plan than ever before attempted, will be completed early next week, the Merchants' Better Business Bureau having decided upon Friday night, December 5, as being the grand opening night, when the lighting system, extending more than a mile, including Pacific Boulevard and Florence avenue, will be turned on. The street decorations this year will include special designs at all the street intersections; the tops of the lighting standards will be arranged in variously colored electric lights, and streamers interwoven with numerous lighting bulbs will be suspended across the streets from the tops of each of the more than 100 standards. Ralph Bloom of the Huntington Park Union High School music department is in charge of the musical part of the program and he is planning special features which will cover "Santa Claus Lane" from one end to the other.

PATRIARCH OF RED MEN HERE

Visiting Chief Asserts He's Near 109

Big White Horse Eagle Says Ho-ko-la!

FULL of years and wisdom is Chief Big White Horse Eagle, who boasts many distinctions, first of which is birth in the neighborhood of Lookout Mountain, Colo., in January, 1822, which "makes me 109 years come January, ten minutes past midnight." The chief, who greeted Los Angeles with "Ho-ko-la!" yesterday as he and his white wife Wathena stepped from the Los Angeles Limited, also asserts he has smoked the pipe of peace with every President since Abraham Lincoln, although he exhibits eighty-seven scalps of departed Indians and white men, acquired in his earlier and palmier days.

The chief, incidentally, boasts ten stalwart Indian sons and eight daughters all by his first wife, an Osage Indian who awaits him in the Happy Hunting Ground.

"Ho-ko-la!"—greetings—said the chief and responded glibly to a question on longevity. In his opinion, if one would live to be more than 100, the following advice should be followed:

"Eat raw foods, vegetables and if meat, eat raw, chopped up real fine first.

"Don't sleep more than four hours a night.

"Don't worry the mind."

Mrs. Chief Big White Horse Eagle said the chief never goes to bed until 2 o'clock in the morning and is up "before the chickens."

"I know Buffalo Bill very well," the chief continued. "He great friend of the Indian. I learn great white man to shoot and ride when young."

The chief and his wife have been on a three-year tour of the world, two of which were spent in Europe. He has come to Los Angeles for the opening of the Old Frontier Days Trading Post at Ramona Indian Village in the 5600 block on West Washington Boulevard.

"Ho-ko-la!" concluded the chief, which, it was learned, is the Osage Indian equivalent for "greetings, salutations, and felicitations" or "How goes the battle?"

AUTO CRASH COSTS LIFE OF WOMAN

Walnut Park Matron Dies in Baldwin Park Mishap; Two Others Badly Hurt

Mrs. Clara Smith, 45 years of age, 407 Big Dalton avenue, Walnut Park, was killed almost instantly shortly after dark last night when she was struck by an automobile driven by Den Haworth, 145 Gates avenue, Baldwin Park, as she was crossing Pacific Boulevard at Vineland avenue in Baldwin Park.

Haworth was held for questioning by Sheriff's deputies of the San Dimas substation. He said he did not see the woman until the crash. Mrs. Smith was rushed to the Covina Hospital but physicians there found her lifeless.

Former Judge Henry M. Cake of Portland, Or., recently making his home at 863 South Berendo street, Los Angeles, suffered a crushed chest and other injuries that may result in his death when he was struck by an automobile as he sought to walk across North Vermont avenue at Ninth street, last night. He was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The car that struck him was driven by Franklin Russell of 715 West Sixth street.

Seriously injured yesterday morning in a traffic accident at Ditman and Winter streets, Nathan Diamond, 48, 219 South Breed street, last night was in the General Hospital.

Diamond, according to a Sheriff's report, walked into the side of an automobile driven by Joe Miller, 5846 Lexington avenue. He was pronounced to be suffering from a possible fractured skull and possible internal injuries.

FUNERAL OF PIONEER PLANNED FOR TODAY

Funeral services for Wilfred R. Lasham, pioneer Southern California resident, who died Wednesday at his home, 1803 Taft avenue, will be conducted at 11 a.m. today at the William Strother funeral parlors, 6240 Hollywood Boulevard. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery. Mr. Lasham leaves his widow, Mrs. Nettie Lasham; two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Mueller of Los Angeles and Mrs. Helen Gerlach of Oakland; a brother, John E. Lasham; a niece, Miss Ruth P. Lasham, and a nephew, Wilfred Lasham, all of Los Angeles.

An English woman is reported to have won $300,000 at the gaming tables at Le Touquet, France, in two nights, recently, breaking the bank on one occasion.

CHILDREN BENEFITED IN FIGHT

Ex-Wife Eases Up on Director Reed

Figures in Film Colony Marital Row

Jocelyn Lee, who seeks divorce from Luther Reed, and their children, Dana, 2 years of age, and Celesta, 3. Naomi Childers, Reed's former wife, withdraws contempt motion for time being.

CELESTA and Dana Reed, young children of Luther Reed and Jocelyn Lee, screen actress, who is suing Reed, a director, for divorce, benefited yesterday by the action of Naomi Childers, Reed's first wife, who asserts he owes her $10000 in back alimony.

Miss Childers's attorney, Roger Marchetti, in moving to take his motion for contempt asserting nonpayment of alimony off calender, stated his client had no idea of adding to her ex-husband's troubles by hounding him for alimony while he is financially embarrassed.

"Miss Childers has great respect for Mr. Reed," said Attorney Marchetti. "She realizes he is involved in troublesome domestic litigation, and until it is settled she is resolved not to press her claim."

Superior Judge Smith put the motion off calendar.

Miss Lee's alimony hearing was continued on motion of Reed's attorney, R. D. Knickerbocker, until a place on the calendar can be found for it. Reed has signed an affidavit, according to his attorney, stating that he has no work and has only $100 he can divide between his two former wives.

BLUEBEARD, LIFER, SUED FOR $25,000

Story of Buried Treasure False, Hopeful Litigant Says, So He Asks Damages

Wycliffe A. Hill, whose assertions in a $25,000 damage suit filed yesterday, entitle him to recognition as one of the world's most hopeful litigants, sets forth in the suit which cost him a $7 filing fee, what he heard when he listened to J. P. (Bluebeard) Watson, California's most famous wife-killer, in the visitors' room at San Quentin prison.

Watson, serving a life sentence for killing women after he married them for their money, told the eager Mr. Hill, according to the complaint, that he had buried $87,000 of his ill-gotten gains underneath a mountain near El Centro.

So Mr. Hill made the "expensive, painful and tiresome trip" to San Quentin, "several times," each time lending to the bluebearded one a credulous ear. After toilsome digging in the mountain, no treasure was found, and now that he seems convinced that none is there, the plaintiff wants $25,000 in damages from Watson, who, it is asserted, promised to give the assiduous seeker 25 per cent of the concealed coin.

The complaint was prepared for filing in the office of Miss Peggy Halloran, attorney. She, however, does not appear as attorney of record, but only as notary to identify the plaintiff, who appears before the court "in propria persona."

DINNER FOR PUBLISHERS ANNOUNCED

World Conclave Group Leaders Will Be Hosts at Mission Inn Gathering

Publishers of Southern California newspapers are to be special guests of Frank Miller, master of the Mission Inn, Riverside, and Dr. R. H. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, at a dinner on Wednesday evening, December 10, next, a midweek event of the seventh session of the Institute of International Relations, which meets December 7-12 at Riverside. Dr. Von KleinSmid is chancellor of the annual conclave of world affairs and Mr. Miller, known for his personal efforts to promote world peace and further universal harmony, is a member of the advisory board of the international institute.

Immediately following the dinner on December 10, Dr. Henry F. Grady, dean of the college of commerce of the University of California and director of the 1930 institute program, will speak on "International Implications of the New Tariff," and Dr. Charles E. Martin, professor of political science at the University of Washington and chairman of the executive committee of the institute, will deliver an address on "The United States of Europe."

Council Drops Plans to Make Bureau Survey

The City Council yesterday dropped its proposal to make numerous investigations of the Department of Water and Power, that department's commission having taken steps to make the survey itself.

Councilman Williams sought to have an investigation of charges both by Mayor Porter and by E. A. Scofield, that politics is rampant in the department.

Several days ago, at a conference of Councilmen and Water and Power Commissioners, it was decided to conduct a thorough survey of the capital structure and rate bases of the department.

Officer on Way East as Witness

Leslie T. White, investigator for the District Attorney, left for Chicago last night where he is scheduled to appear as a witness at the trial of Frankie Foster, accused of being an accessory to the murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Chicago newspaperman.

White was one of a group of officers who arrested Foster in Los Angeles last summer and returned him east. He will be asked to testify concerning certain statements asserted to have been made by Foster at the time of his arrest.

Foster is accused of having supplied the gun used by Lingle's murderer.

In three years the number of employees in the rubber industry of Latvia has nearly doubled.

CONVICT NEEDS CATS' LIVES

Diamond Bandit Romer Convicted of Nine Robberies Faces as Many Lifetimes in Prison

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 28.—Lawrence Romer, diamond bandit, convicted in Superior Court tonight of nine robberies and seven burglaries, would have to serve nine life terms in addition to his present span of existence, and sixty-three years more, to meet the full penalties automatically imposed on him by the jury's verdict after ten hours of deliberation.

Romer had four previous convictions of major crimes against him and further conviction of any robbery charge would have sufficed to win him life imprisonment as an habitual criminal.

Convicted with him after a trial that lasted five weeks was Romer's confederate in the sixteen robberies and burglaries, Charles Barnett, 35 years of age, who has a record of only two previous convictions and, therefore, escapes being declared an habitual criminal.

Superior Judge Desmond will pronounce sentence next Wednesday. In Romer's case life sentence will be obligatory. Less severe punishment can be meted out to Barnett.

When the verdict was returned it became known that extra guards had been stationed about the court to prevent a rumored attempt by mobsmen to liberate the two diamond bandits.

Romer, greatly agitated, pointed dramatically at the jury, cried "May God forgive you" and collapsed.

Prominent Long Beach residents and visitors to Southern California were victims in the diamond robberies which had been committed over a period of a year and a half before the two men were captured. The gang of which Romer and Barnett were the leaders also operated in Los Angeles.

...Aboard Giant Seaplane Conquer Blaze Set by Short-Circuit Spark

...rd-Luck Craft Commander ...ys Mishap Only to Delay Transocean Flight

LISBON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The ... seaplane DO-X, largest of the ... boats, lay a battered, ... wreck in the harbor here ... night.

The skeleton of one wing tilted ... toward the sky, and the ... of the other pulled the ship ... into the water. But she was ... better shape than she might ... been, for a sudden fire which ... stroyed the left wing today was ... dished just before it reached her ... two fuel tanks.

ONLY DELAYS HOP

"It's hard luck," said her commander, Friedrich Christiansen, as he looked over the ruined ship, "but our ocean trip will not be called off; it's only delayed."

Crowds were admiring the handsome plane from the shore when there was an explosion and a tower of flames burst from the wing, and it looked as though the whole ship was going to be destroyed. A short circuit in an electric connection had set that a spark against the inflammable wing lining.

SIX BATTLE FLAMES

Motor craft scurried over as soon as they dared toward the smoking heat, and fire brigades ordered by volunteers from the Portuguese Naval Air Station, put out in small boats.

But six men, left aboard the plane when the officers and the rest of the crew went ashore, turned fire extinguishers on the blaze and stood by to protect the gas tanks.

It was a brave thing they did, for in less than an hour before hundreds of gallons of fuel had been poured into those tanks and one spark could have touched off a terrific explosion.

But five minutes they fought their ... battle. Then the fire was out, almost as quickly as it had started. ... the rest of the ship was saved.

MEN BARRED AT ASTOR PARTY

English Women of Renown Will Talk Things Over Tuesday Night

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The feminists of England are going to have their night on Tuesday when Lady Astor throws a "manless" party for thirty-six of the country's most distinguished women.

"I think women have had a simply wonderful year," Lady Astor said today, "and it has not been half recognized. Nearly everything valuable has been done by women." There will be no speeches, she said, but conversation, of course, will be permitted.

AMERICAN'S WIFE VICTIM OF CHINESE

Cancer Sufferer and Nurse Stripped by Bandits May Die of Exposure

(Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.)

PEIPING, Nov. 29. (Exclusive)—The British-born wife of an American, S. D. Hayward, and Miss E. Gomersale, a British-trained nurse, both of the China Inland Mission, were captured by bandits while on a raft in the Yellow River some twenty miles west of Paotow, the terminus of the Peiping-Suiyuan Railway. The women were stripped of their clothing and were suffering severely owing to the early onset of winter. Mrs. Hayward is afflicted with cancer and Miss Gomersale was attempting to bring her to Peiping for an operation.

Apprehension is felt that neither will survive the exposure. They have appealed to the town of Saratsi for help, but owing to the fact that the bandits control the river, Norwegian missionaries are unable to assist and have urged the legations to send a rescue party. The victims had been traveling by raft for some days from Lanchow, where the mission is located.

EAGLE TRAIL FOR MAILS

Transocean Air Bids Asked

New York-to-Europe Service Proposed by Postoffice From June 1, Next

Ten-Year Contract Offered for Weekly Round Trip to London and Paris

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Regular air mail from New York to Europe in only a few more hours than it took Lindbergh to fly the Atlantic was predicted by postoffice officials today in announcing that bids for trans-Atlantic air-mail service will be opened December 29.

Eugene R. White, Director of International Postal Service, said the average mail service of a fast liner is five days and the air-mail service will beat that by two and one-half days or more. Lindbergh's time across the ocean was thirty-three and one-half hours.

TEN YEARS TO RUN

The contract is to run for ten years, beginning June 1, 1931. Unextend only as far as Bermuda. After that, however, Europe and return is to be the destination of each plane that leaves New York and the round trip is to be made at least weekly.

The bids, to be opened at noon in the office of Assistant Postmaster-General Glover, call for an air-mail route from New York by Norfolk, Va., or Charleston, S. C., then across to Hamilton in the British-owned Bermudas, on to the Azores and to London, Paris, or perhaps Berlin. Leeway is given contractors who think they can vary the route slightly and do better.

Three hundred pounds of mail is the specified load for each plane. The maximum rate allowed is $2 a mile for the 300 pounds and $1 per pound for each 1000 miles is charged for excess weight. Just what the government will charge for postage has not been decided.

LINES SOUTH SUCCESS

Seven air-mail lines are now operating to every Central and South American country and they have done so well the department accelerated plans for the trans-Atlantic

EINSTEIN'S DAUGHTER WED

Scientist Allots Thirty Minutes of His Overcrowded Schedule to Witness Ceremony

BERLIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein, allotted just one-half hour of his time this morning to see his daughter Margot married at the municipal marriage bureau.

The scientist, who has been working until the early morning hours daily clearing up some matters of mathematics before he sails on his American trip, calculated with mathematical precision he could spare just thirty minutes to give the bride away to Dr. Dimitri Marianoff, young Russian writer on scientific and artistic subjects. He failed to carry out his program and because a witness was late he lost a half-hour in getting back to his own quarters to work.

Ten minutes before the ceremony, which was set for 10:30 a.m., a few blocks away, he, his daughter, and Dr. Marianoff emerged from the Einstein home and seemed greatly surprised to see several cameramen outside. "No, no, don't photograph," he exclaimed, greatly distressed, but he was finally persuaded to tarry a moment.

While customarily in Germany a bride's father sports a topper for such an occasion and wears a cutaway to the marriage clerk's office and formal dress to the church, in case there is a chuch wedding afterward, nothing in Herr Einstein's appearance indicated the solemnity of the occasion.

He seemed just to have emerged from the sound-proof studio which he has in his home. His disheveled curly hair cropped out from beneath an old slouch hat and a shop-worn raincoat covered an ordinary business suit and celluloid collar. He was in strong contrast with his son-in-law, who was carefully groomed in a brand-new ulster and looked anything but proletarian.

Fraulein Margot was dressed simply in a green velvet costume adorned with grayish fur.

CHRISTMAS CLUB FUNDS IN MILLIONS

Final Disbursements of Total of $632,000,000 to Be Made This Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—The last of some $632,000,000 in Christmas club funds will be distributed to approximately 11,000,000 club members by more than 8000 banking institutions throughout the country next week.

Contrary to the usual customs some checks already have reached depositors, having been mailed this week by some banks on the suggestion of Christmas Club, a division of National Bancservice Corporation which urged earlier disbursements because of business depression. The bulk of the money, however, will be released next week in amounts varying from $25 to $1000.

A survey indicates 38 per cent of the total, or $240,000,000, will be spent during the holidays for Christmas purchases. Thirty per cent, or $190,000,000, will go into permanent savings and investment; 13 per cent, or $80,000,000, will be used for year-end commitments; 6 per cent, or $38,000,000, for insurance premiums; 5 1-2 per cent, or $35,000,000, for mortgage and mortgage interest; 4 1-2 per cent, or $29,000,000, for taxes, and 3 per cent, or $20,000,000, for education, travel and charity.

Children Die When Airplane Topples Casks

EDMONTON (Alta.) Nov. 29. (AP)—Four children were killed, three seriously injured and another suffered minor injuries at Fort Chipewyan, Alta., when an airplane, piloted by Capt. W. N. Sherlock of the Commercial Airways, crashed into a pile of gasoline drums behind which they were hiding at play. Sherlock and his passengers were unhurt.

Reports which reached here today said two of the children killed and two hurt, were of the family of Thomas Woodman, post manager of the Northern Trading Company at Fort Chipewyan.

The dead were Tommy Woodman, 6; Danny Woodman, 9; Freddie McDonald, 8; Willie Bird, 11.

Steamer Aids Ship Aground

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Advices to Lloyd's today stated the salvage steamer Viking had left Piraeus to aid the steamer American Exhibitor, which ran aground at Mytilene, Greece.

Late tonight no word had been received from either vessel but shipping circles believe the American Exhibitor is in no danger, assuming that the Viking either is standing by until daylight or already has pulled the distressed craft off and is proceeding back to port.

BRIDGE OF CONTINENTS DISCOVERED

Long-Sought Isthmus From America to Asia Established by Fossils

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The long-suspected bridge of land that once connected North America and Asia has been located by scientists of the Carnegie Institution.

The institution announced today that through co-operation of the Smithsonian Institution and the Coast Guard cutter Northland fossil specimens have been brought from St. Lawrence Island, near Behring Strait, definitely indicating that the bridge once existed.

The island is located south of Behring Strait about forty miles from Asia and a little more than 100 miles from the Seward Peninsula. Dr. Ralph W. Chaney of the Carnegie Institution has been seeking evidence for years to support the belief that millions of years ago plants and animals crossed between America and Asia over a land connection in that region.

Slabs of heavy gray shale brought to the island are thickly covered with impressions of leafy twigs of sequoia or redwood.

Dr. Chaney had searched for and found redwood fossils in both Alaska and China, indicating, he said, that the redwood forests once were continuous from North America to Asia.

American Shot Across Border

EL PASO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Clarence Mortensen, 43 years of age, an American, was seriously wounded in a gun fight with four robbers in Juarez today.

Mortensen, a dairy farmer, went with his wife to a corral in the rear of their home to milk cows. Suddenly from out of the pig pen rose four unidentified men. One grappled with Mrs. Mortensen. Mortensen opened fire and the fight ensued. After emptying their guns, the men fled as Mortensen fell with a bullet in his abdomen.

Bruening May Jam Through His Fiscal Program

BERLIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—Chancellor Bruening's program for economic reform, which probably will be blocked in the Reichstag which assembles on December 3, next, is likely to be arbitrarily approved by the Chancellor himself under the extraordinary powers granted him by the constitution.

Bruening, it appears, determined upon such a course today after having exhausted all possibilities of organizing enough support to jam the measure through the Reichstag.

Train Collision Inquiry Begins

OAKLAND, Nov. 29. (AP)—Federal, State, county and Western Pacific Railroad officials today opened four separate investigations of the train collision at Sunol tunnel last night in which four men were killed.

Out of one of the investigations authorities said they expect evidence on which to place the blame for the deaths of R. M. Middleton, engineer, Oakland; William Rickenbacker, fireman; R. C. Jones and J. J. Goslin, brakemen, Stockton. A Western Pacific freight train crashed into the rear of a merchandise express. The engine of the rear train smashed the lead train caboose, and derailed several cars before it was ditched.

Hit-Run Driver Causes Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Dr. Lincoln Kallen, San Francisco X-ray specialist, was killed when a hit-run driver knocked his machine from the Bay Shore Highway today. Dr. Kallen was pinned beneath the wreckage.

Mrs. George Douglas, San Mateo, companion of Dr. Kallen, was cut and bruised and possibly internally injured.

Carol to Wed, Says Report

VIENNA, Nov. 29. (AP)—The Reuters News Agency today had reports from Bucharest that King Carol II intends to marry again.

The reports added that the King has not yet selected a wife, but she will be a woman of royal rank. It was also said his divorced wife, Queen Helen, intends to live abroad permanently and will return to Rumania only occasionally to visit her son, Crown Prince Michael.

FRIGID LASH LAID ANEW

Midwest Facing Heavy Snow

Sleet, Rain, Fog and Slush Come as Forerunners to Another Blizzard

Zero Siege Takes Life Toll and Halts Traffic Via Air as Well as Land

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (Exclusive)—With a slackening of the four-day siege of the coldest early winter weather Chicago and the Middle West has experienced in years, there came today an interlude of sleet, rain, fog and slush—the precursor of another blizzardly visitation due to lash the region within the next twenty-four hours. The temperatures made an upward effort at 2 p.m., but during most of the day was hugging the freezing point with a pea-soup fog spreading gloom everywhere.

J. R. Lloyd, government forecaster, predicted colder weather with snow for today. December is expected to be ushered in with a heavy fall of snow that will at least eliminate the existing traffic hazards. There is likely to be a repetition of the cold wave that hit the Middle West on Thanksgiving Eve.

Scores of persons were injured by falls on the icy pavements. Fires were accompanied by unusual hardships as occupants fled to safety in the icy and windswept streets.

DEATH AND INJURY

Of the deaths here today the first to be reported was that of John Geary, 50 years of age, who was found dead on the roof of a building housing a bake oven at 729 Maxwell street. He apparently had climbed up there to sleep near the warmth of the chimney. He died of exposure.

Joseph Hugel, 4436 Sheridan Road, was killed while walking near the curb in front of 4343 Sheridan Road. He lost his footing and slipped into the path of a motor bus.

Patrick Vaughan, 26 years of age, 3550 Emerald avenue, walked against the side of an automobile and was hurled to the pavement, receiving a fractured skull.

Fifteen children were carried to safety by firemen and sixteen families were forced to the street in a fire that attacked a four-story building at 4100 Cottage Grove avenue. The fire was going in two places before it finally was under control.

MAIL PLANES HELD UP

Only one plane, carrying the New York mail, arrived at the municipal field. All outgoing planes were held in their hangars because of rain and sleet. Several planes carrying mail and passengers from the South and Southwest were reported forced down.

County highway police reported traffic 50 per cent lower because of the slippery pavement. Milk and provision trucks, which generally reach the city by sunup, did not arrive until well along in the forenoon.

Conditions in Chicago were similar to those throughout Illinois and adjoining States.

MERCURY RISES IN OHIO

Ohio today received a measure of relief from the cold wave which struck it Thanksgiving Day when the mercury rose throughout the State during the day from 15 to 25 deg., according to official reports.

In the extreme northwestern part of the State, from Chadron to Cleveland, one of the heaviest snowfalls on record crippled the section. Farmers were forced to ride more than twenty miles on horseback when their automobiles were stalled in the huge drifts. Snowdrifts of more than six feet covered the roads. The general fall was twenty-six inches. Thirty-two persons were marooned in one farmhouse near Chadron.

In the central portions of the State the mercury went from below zero to 34 deg. for a high for the day.

HOPE FADES FOR FLYER

Mrs. Keith-Miller Long Missing

Havana Air Officials Think Plucky Australian Woman Perished in Gulf Stream

Aviation Friends Continuing Search for Holder of Feminine Records

MIAMI, (Fla.) Nov. 29. (AP)—Hope waned today for the safety of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, the woman who dared a stormy flight from Havana to Miami.

Mrs. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, has been missing since she left Havana yesterday to fly across the wind-chopped waves of the Gulf Stream toward Miami and Pittsburgh. She faced a thirty-mile wind from the east, without facilities for blind flying. She carried no radio set, or bank and turn dials.

Flyers familiar with the semi-tropic aerial conditions here continued their search for her and her reconditioned plane, The Bullet.

ABSENT FORTY HOURS

As her absence extended past forty hours, they admitted fears that she and her tiny low-winged monoplane plunged into the gulf when a nine hours' supply of gasoline gave out as she battled the wind.

In Havana she is believed lost. Laura Ingalls, another prominent woman flyer, and Capt. W. H. Lancaster, member of the British Royal Flying Corps and a former flying partner of Mrs. Keith-Miller, continued to express confidence in her safety.

Capt. Lancaster left Pittsburgh by airplane to assist in the search. He was accompanied by John Liggett III, Pittsburgh, one of the backers of the flyer's recent Pittsburgh-Havana flight.

HAWKS'S AID SOUGHT

Friends of Capt. Lancaster said he attempted to communicate with Capt. Hawks, famed speed flyer, to gain his aid in the hunt.

Miss Ingalls asserted her belief the Australian woman climbed above the east winds to ride a tail wind far into the Florida mainland.

"It would be a grievous mistake to give up the hunt for her," Miss Ingalls said. "It is possible she was forced to land on some isolated key or spot on the mainland with no communication facilities."

No reports of the red monoplane were received from ships to which an hourly broadcast was sent by radio from Key West naval station, and from Tropical Radio station here.

WOMAN AVIATOR HAUNTED BY PREMONITION

(Copyright, 1930, All rights reserved by the Associated Press.)

HAVANA, Nov. 29. (AP) — A premonition of death which she thrust aside through fear of being thought a coward haunted Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, plucky Australian aviator, who, air officials here believe, perished in an attempt to fly from Havana to Miami yesterday.

Virtually all hope has been abandoned for her safety, searching parties in six airplanes from here and Miami having flown for hours over the stretch of Gulf and Florida keys without a trace of her or the plane in which she set out at 9:12 a.m. yesterday. She was due in Miami before noon.

FRIENDS ACCUSE SELVES

Friends of Mrs. Keith-Miller made here since her arrival last week from Pittsburgh accused themselves today for not having prevented her, forcibly if necessary, from making the flight against which were all the odds of a poorly conditioned plane, extremely rough weather and the mental hazard arising from fright when she was flying over water.

"I don't know why it is, but something tells me I'm going down," she said just before she took off. "I've had the feeling ever since I crossed on the way over from Florida and somehow or other I can't shake it off."

She called her plane an "unairworthy crate, one which anybody

MINE BLAST KILLS THIRTEEN

Second Major Oklahoma Disaster in Five Weeks Occurs at Diggings Near Lutie

LUTIE (Okla.) Nov. 29. (AP)—Explosion of gas in the No. 5 Lutie mine of the Hailey-Ola Coal Company mine here today killed thirteen men and burned four other miners, one seriously. It was the second major Oklahoma mine disaster in less than five weeks. Thirty-eight miners working in other parts of the mine emerged unassisted.

Thirty men were killed October 27 in an explosion at the No. 4 Wheatley mine of the Samples Coal Company on the State penitentiary grounds at McAlester.

The fact that the Hailey-Ola mine was heavily rock dusted, as a precaution against gas, was credited with saving the lives of the forty-two miners who escaped. The deadly afterdamp following the explosion spread slowly and the miners not disabled by the explosion itself were able to make their way out the main shaft.

Burl Boyd, the most seriously hurt of the four survivors in the wrecked entry, was taken to a McAlester hospital. The other three, all injured, were taken to Hartshorne, west of here.

A father and son, Tommy Busalatto and Pete Busalatto, were among those killed. Roy Pate, who was killed, and Louie Pate, who was hurt, are brothers.

Like most mines in Southeastern Oklahoma, the No. 5 Lutie was a slope digging, its shaft slanting back into the ground.

Lutie is only a few miles from Wilburton, where ninety-one miners were killed in January, 1926, by an explosion in the Degnan-McConnelly mine.

Those killed in today's blast were August Maur, John Wilburn, Mike McCasky, Gee Peeden, Cal Evans, Roy Pate, Tommy Busalatto (father,) Pete Busalatto (son,) Louie Zoia, A. L. Snow, Raymond Spittmiller, Joe Matta, Jim McMahan.

The injured: Burl Boyd, critically, Louie Pate (brother of dead man,) Lon Swindle and Louis McMahan.
